

Answer.—The troops shall march out of the fort with the honours of war, and shall lay down their arms at the entrance of the town, to proceed forthwith to Italy.

In this Article shall be included the French or allied officers who may be in the fort sick, as also the persons employed in the civil departments, who, for want of means of removal, have not been able to follow their Chiefs, and remain in the fort.

The officers will be allowed to keep their swords.

Art. III. Conveyances will be furnished, as well for the field pieces and their caissons, as for the equipages of the officers, and the baggage of the men.

Answer.—Conveyances will be furnished for the equipages of the officers.

Art. IV. On their route provisions shall be supplied to the troops, by His Majesty the Emperor of Austria, until their arrival at the advanced posts of the army of Italy.

Answer.—Granted, on condition that they shall be paid for.

Art. V. With regard to the delivering up the magazines of stores and provisions, Commissaries shall be named on each side, to take inventories of them.

Answer.—Commissaries shall be named immediately, and the inventories of the provisions and magazines shall be made on the 31st of October, 1813.

Art. VI. The sick who are now in the hospitals, shall be treated in the same manner as the Austrians in the same situation, and, when able to perform the journey, shall be sent towards Italy.

Answer.—Granted, as well as a free passage for the sick and wounded in the fort.

Art. VII. The inhabitants shall not be examined or molested, on account of their opinions, or their attachment to the French government, under the laws of which they found themselves.

Answer.—Refused, as not being within the competency of the Commandant of the fort.

Art. VIII. The cases and casks, containing the papers of the different civil departments, which have not been removed for want of means of conveyance, and which are in the fort, shall be deposited at a Commissary's, to be sent to such place as the French government shall desire, and at its own expence.

Answer.—Granted, on condition that these cases shall not contain effects belonging to the government.

THE following Addresses have been presented to His Royal Highness the Prince Regent; which Addresses His Royal Highness was pleased to receive very graciously:

To His Royal Highness George Prince of Wales, REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, His Majesty's most dutiful and affectionate subjects, the Mayor, Aldermen, and Assistants of the Borough of Leeds, in Common-Hall assembled, beg leave to offer to your Royal Highness our congratulations upon the splendid, solid, and eventful victories with which it has pleased Providence to bless the arms of His Majesty and His Allies, and the signal success which has accompanied your Royal Highness's efforts for the welfare of Great Britain and the deliverance of Europe.

Whilst, as Britons, we exult in the national glory, and rejoice in the downfall of tyranny, whilst our hearts glow with gratitude to the Dispenser of all Good for the plenty which he hath poured upon us, we acknowledge that, to the firmness of your Royal Highness, and the wisdom of your Royal Highness's councils, we owe much of those great results which claim our admiration.

In the midst of our regrets, for the continued indisposition of our revered Sovereign, we have observed, with peculiar satisfaction, the great qualities which have distinguished Your Royal Highness's government, the firmness which sustained our country, against a powerful combination of foreign foes; the promptitude to assist the nations of the Continent, in their struggles for the recovery of their liberties, which has bound them to us in firm alliance, and exalted the national character to an unequalled pitch of greatness; that moderation, which, in the moment of victory, looked only to the legitimate end of war, a secure peace; above all, that strict adherence to those Protestant principles which placed Your Royal Highness's Illustrious Family on the Throne, which still preserve to us, unimpaired, our glorious Constitution.

Accept, Sir, our assurance of attachment to Your Royal Highness's person and august Family, and of support to those great measures, to which
