Cariton-House July 12, 1814.

THIS day the Address of the University of Cambridge, congratulating the Prince Regent on the conclusion of peace, was secreted to His Royal Highness by the Reverend Doctor Chary, Vice Chancellor, attended by the following persons, Delegates from the University: the Earl of Hardwick, High Steward; the Caput, the Reverend-Doctor Douglas, Master of Benet College; the Reverend Doctor Edward Clarke, Professor of Mineralogy; Dr. Ingle, Fellow of Peterhouse; the Reverend Raiph Tetham, Public Orator; the Reverend Mr. Jefferson, Deputy Senior Proctor; the Reverend Mr. Palmer, Junior Proctor; Mr. Bro-derip, Deputy Senior Non-Regent; Mr. Haviland, Deputy Senior Regent; the Reverend Mr. Pember-Gunning, M. A. (Esquire Bedells).

There was a numerous attendance of the Members of the University; amongst whom we His Grace the Archbishop of Canterbury; the Marquess of Exeter; the Earl of Westmorland; Earl Nelson; Earl Percy; the Bishops of Salisbury and Exeter; Viscount Palmerston and J. Smith, Esq. (Members for the University); Viscount Normanly; Right Honourable Charles Manners Sutton; the Reverged Doctors Strong, Atkyns, and England; the Reverend J. W. Blomberg, M. A.; the Reverend James S. Clarke, D. C. L.; Mr. Professor Christian; Mr. Professor Tennant; J. Bowes Wright Red. of Seas College, &c. &c.

The Ris Reviet Rightles George Prince of Wales, REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, His Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Chancellor, Masters, and Scholars of the University of Cambridge, beg leave humbly to offer to your Royal Highness our grateful thanks-for the blessings of peace, which your wise and benevolent counsels have secured to us.

Within the period of the last twenty wars every country in Europe has felt the scourge of war, and almost every capital, except your own, he seen the condicts of hostile armies, and suffered the destructive ravages of the successful invader. We could not hope entirely to escape the evils of war nations endured miseries which cannot be described, and witnessed he role which the mind shudders to contemplate, we have fived the scenre enjoyment of our liberties and our homes. These inestimable blessings, under the guidance of a mexciful Providence, we owe to the wisdom of your Royal Highmess's counsels, and the mergy of your royal righness's counsels, and the mergy of your government.

When we consider your has been the object of our touties, when we remay on the conduct of the meany will whole the law been contenting, when the time who has been threatened and what has been defended, who a we perceive that, in a warfare which menaced with destruction all the establishments of circlized society, peace and tranquillity have been preserved at home, and the arms of Great Britain rendered victorious in every part of the globe, we cannot sufficiently admire that mencement of our struggle by His Missey's en-lightened Minister, who, to the sounder in Igement, united the strictest integrity and pures matriotism. In times of unexampled difficulty, and amid the doubts of Statesmen, and the apprehensions of all, doubts of Statesmen, and the apprehensions of all, we have seen with admiration the same system of policy maintained and pursued with unshaken firmness by your house Highness's Ministers, a system which, by the attack heed that inspired, has effected the safety of this country and the deliverance of Europe, and crowned your Royal Highness's wishes by a peace, founded on the solid hit has fequity and moderation.

Your Royal Highness will now contemplate with satisfaction the happiness which His Majesty's subjects will delive from the cultivation of the arts of peace, the your faithful and loyal University of Cambridge will look up with confidence to your Royal Highness for support and protection, whilst they exert their best endeavours to instill into the minus of the fourths, whose education is entrusted to them, the principles of sound religion, and inviolable attachment to the Constitution in Church and State.

violable attachment to the Gonstitution in Church and Stage.

Given their our common seal, this 8th day of June 1911.

To which Advess His Royal Highness was most gracio tely pleased to rether the following Answer:

The security which we have experienced at home, during a long and arduous war; the victories which have attended the arms of Great Britain abroad; the powerful influence of her example on the Contract! and the termination of the contest, by an honourable and advantageous peace, are, under the favour of, a gracious Providence, to be under the favour of a gracious Providence, to be chiefly ascribed to that system of policy which was peculiarly calculated to call forth the strenuous and unremitting exertions of a free, enlightened, and loyal people.

"It is my ardent prayer, that this country may permanently feel the beneficial effects of her unexampled fortitude and perseverance; and, I am confident, that, in the discharge of your several duties, you will constantly cherish and encourage that steady attachment to the Constitution, in Church and State, which must ever be regarded as the best security for a continuance of the blessings we enjoy.

Carlon-House, July 18, 1814.

This is Right Honourable Lord Grenville, Chancelor of the University of Oxford; the Reverend Dr. Landon, Provost of Worcester College, Pro-Vice Chancellor; the Bishop of Peterborough, Master of Balliol College; Rev. Dr. Marlow, President of St. John's; Rev. Dr. Lec, President of Trinity College; Rev. Dr. Vaughan, Warden of Merton College; Rev. Dr. Hodson, Principal of Brazen-Nose College; Dr. Wall, M. D. of New College; Dr. Price, M. D. of Wadham; Rev. Dr. Honey, L. L. D. Fellow of All Sonis College; Rev. Dr. Brooke, L. L. D. of Exeter College; Rev. Mr. system of policy, which was adopted at the com- Aldrich, M. A. Fellow of Magdalen College, Senior