

July last, between the hours of one and two o'clock, Elizabeth Noyce, late of the parish of Fawley, in the county of Southampton, widow, deceased, was found in a field of Mr. Covey's, in the said parish, but a very short distance from her own house, lying upon her side in a state of total insensibility, with her face covered with dirt; and her nostrils filled, apparently for the purpose of producing suffocation: and whereas about ten minutes after nine o'clock in the evening of Sunday the previous day, she was seen to go from her own house up the roadway which bounds Mr. Covey's field, having stated that she was going to a house at the other end of the village: and whereas the said Elizabeth Noyce lingered until Friday the 15th day of the same month of July, and then died, having during that period some short intervals of understanding, in the course of which she three times declared to a Magistrate, that she was knocked down by a violent blow in the back part of the head, which stunned her instantly; that she did not see the person who struck her, but that she heard him distinctly come out of Mr. Covey's field, over the gate, and walk behind her: and whereas there is no doubt but the said Elizabeth Noyce was barbarously and cruelly murdered, by being knocked down in the road, and afterwards dragged through the gateway and thrown down in the corner of the field where she was found, a stake of uncommon size being found near the gate the next morning.

His Royal Highness, for the better apprehending and bringing to justice the actual perpetrator of this wicked murder, is hereby pleased, in the name and on the behalf of His Majesty, to promise His Majesty's most gracious pardon, to any person or persons concerned therein (except the person who actually committed the said murder), who shall discover his, her, or their accomplice or accomplices therein, so that he, she, or they may be apprehended and convicted thereof.

SIDMOUTH.

And, as a further encouragement, a reward of TWO HUNDRED and FIFTY POUNDS is hereby offered by the Churchwardens and Overseers of the Poor of the parish of Fawley to any person (except as is before excepted) who shall discover his, her, or their accomplice or accomplices therein, or to any person or persons who shall apprehend and convict the said offenders, or any of them, or cause them, or any of them, so to be apprehended and convicted thereof; such reward to be paid on application to the said Churchwardens and Overseers, or either of them.
