of Wales, a Princess eminently endowed with every virtue and accomplishment. We beg leave to assure your Serene Highness that the present occasion affords us not only matter of the justest exultation, but ardently calls upon us to unite in our most sanguine wishes, that you may have perfect health, and live to see with joy all the desirable effects of this happy union.

WE, the Nobility, Gentry, Clergy, Freeholders, and others of the County of Worcester, humbly request to be permitted to add our heartfelt congratulations, to those of the nation at large, on an union which unites all the virtues of private life to exaltation of rank. It would it become us to address the language of praise to an illustrious pair so justly distinguished for their personal merits, and to whom all are proud to pay the homage of respect and admiration; but we trust that we may be permitted to express our earnest hopes that the virtues which are universally acknowledged may, under the protection of Providence, meet with their full reward in the happiness of that illustrious pair, and in the prosperity of those realms, which derive increased security and lustre from an union founded upon the pure basis of private virtue and political wisdom.

In the name and on the behalf of the Nobility, Gentry, Clergy, Freeholders and others of the County of Worcester,
