Whitehall; September 2, 1820.

WHEREAS it hath been humbly represented unto His Majesty, that, between the hours of twelve and one o'clock on the morning of Sunday, the 27th ultimo, some person knocked at the door of the house of Mr. Thomas Wakley, Surgeon, No. 5, Argyle-street, Oxford-street, and having obtained admission, under the pretence of the said Thomas Wakley's professional assistance being required in the City, did knock down, and, with some other person or persons, unknown, most inhumanly stab and otherwise illtreat the said Thomas Wakley, and afterwards wilfully, maliciously, and feloniously did set fire to the said house, which the same, together with the property therein, were entirely destroyed;

His Majesty, for the better apprehending and bringing to justice the persons concerned in the said felonies, is hereby pleased to promise His Majesty's most gracious pardon to any one of them (except the person or persons who actually attacked the said Dr. Wakley, or set fire to the said house), who shall discover his, her, or their accomplice or accomplices therein, so that he, she, or they may be apprehended and convicted thereof.

SIDMOUTH.
