

 Glamorganshire,	John Henry Vivian, of Marino, Esq.
 Breconshire,	Capel Hanbury Leigh, of Llanelly, Esq.
 Radnorshire,	Samuel Beavan, of Glascombe, Esq.

NORTH WALES.

 Anglesey,	Richard Bulkeley Williams Bulkeley, of Baronhill, Esq.
 Carnarvonshire,	William Glynn Griffith, of Bodegroes, Esq.
 Merionethshire,	Thomas Hartley, of Llywyn, Esq.
 Montgomeryshire,	John Jones, of Maesmawr, Esq.
 Denbighshire,	John Price, of Plascoch Llanychan, Esq.
 Flintshire,	Jones Panton, of Coleshill, Esq.

At the Court at St. James's, the 20th of November 1826,

PRESENT,

The KING's Most Excellent Majesty in Council.

WHEREAS the time limited by His Majesty's Order in Council, of the third of May last, for prohibiting the exportation of gun-powder or salt-petre, or any sort of arms or ammunition, to any port or place on the Coast of Africa (except to any ports or places within the Streights of Gibraltar), has expired; and whereas it is judged expedient that the said prohibition should be continued for some time longer, His Majesty, by and with the advice of His Privy Council, doth therefore hereby order, require, prohibit, and command, that no person or persons whatsoever (except the Master-General of the Ordnance for His Majesty's Service), do, at any time during the space of six months (to commence from the date of this Order), presume to transport any gun-powder or salt-petre, or any sort of arms or ammunition, to any port or place on the Coast of Africa (except to any ports or places within the Streights of Gibraltar) or ship or lade any gun-powder or salt-petre, or any sort of arms or ammunition, on board any ship or vessel, in order to transporting the same into any such ports or places on the Coast of Africa (except as above excepted), without leave or permission in that behalf, first obtained from His Majesty or His Privy Council, upon pain of incurring and suffering the respective forfeitures and penalties inflicted by an Act, passed in the twenty-ninth year of the reign of His Majesty King George the Second, intituled "An Act to empower His Majesty to prohibit the exportation of gun-powder, or any sort of arms or ammunition, and also to empower His Majesty to restrain the carrying coastwise of salt-petre, gun-powder, or any sort of arms or ammunition;" and also by an Act, passed in the thirty-third year of His late Majesty's reign, cap. 2, intituled "An Act to enable His Majesty to restrain the exportation of naval stores, and more effectually to prevent the exportation of salt-petre, arms, and ammunition, when prohibited by Proclamation or Order in Council."

And the Right Honourable the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury, the Commissioners for executing the office of Lord High Admiral of Great Britain, the Lord Warden of the Cinque Ports, the Master-General and the rest of the Principal Officers of the Ordnance, and His Majesty's Secretary at War, are to give the necessary directions herein as to them may respectively appertain. Jas. Buller.

THE following Addresses, having been transmitted to the Right Honourable Robert Peel, one of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, by the several persons whose names are respectively subjoined to each Address, were presented by him to His Majesty, who was pleased to receive the same very graciously:

To the KING's Most Gracious Majesty.

May it please your Majesty,

WE, your Majesty's faithful subjects, the Royal College and Incorporation of Surgeons of Edinburgh, most humbly beg leave to offer to your Majesty the tribute of our sincere condolence on the lamented death of His Royal Highness the Duke of York, by which your Majesty has been deprived of the affectionate support of an attached Brother and Friend, and the country of his invaluable services as Commander-in-Chief of the British army.

The unwearied energy, impartiality, and urbanity, with which His Royal Highness discharged the important duties of his office, and by which the moral and military discipline of the army have been so greatly improved, its efficiency increased, and its fame extended, with the frankness, sincerity, and benevolence of his character, had secured to His Royal Highness the unbounded respect and affection of all ranks in the British army, and the general confidence of the British people.

We humbly trust that, under this afflicting event, your Majesty will derive some consolation from the general sympathy manifested by your Majesty's subjects; and that by the support and blessing of Divine Providence your Majesty may be long spared to reign over a free and loyal people.

Signed by order of the Royal College and Incorporation of Surgeons of the City of Edinburgh, David MacLagan, M.D., President of the Royal College of Surgeons of Edinburgh.

[Transmitted by the Right Hon. the Lord Clerk Register of Scotland.]

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

The humble Address of the Nobility, Gentry, Clergy, and Freeholders of the Hundred of Maylor, in the County of Flint.

WE, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Nobility, Gentry, Clergy and Freeholders