

Nation have sustained, by the death of His Royal Highness Frederick Duke of York and Albany.

The high station among the nations of the world, to which, by the blessing of Providence, Great Britain has, under your Majesty's Government, so decidedly attained, may in a great measure be attributed to the perfection to which the British army has been brought under the system introduced by the late Commander-in-Chief. The loss of His Royal Highness is, therefore, the more deeply felt, and his memory will be cherished and revered by all who have the welfare and the glory of their country at heart.

Permit us, Sire, while we humbly offer this tribute of condolence to your Majesty, to assure your Majesty of our continued loyalty, and of our unalterable attachment to your Majesty's sacred Person and illustrious Family.

Signed in our name, in our presence, and by our appointment, at Leith, the 26th day of January 1827 years, by, may it please your Majesty, your Majesty's most devoted and faithful subject and servant,

James Duncan,
Master of the Trinity House, Prêses.

[Transmitted by Mr. Evan Liddell, Secretary to the Trinity-House, Leith.]

Unto His Majesty the KING.

May it please your Majesty,

WE, the Magistrates and Town Council of the City of Brechin, in Scotland, desire to assure your Majesty that we, in common with your Majesty's other subjects, are deeply affected by the death of your Majesty's illustrious Brother, His Royal Highness Frederick Duke of York, the father of the army, and the friend of the people. We pray that your Majesty may, in this time of sorrow, receive support from Him who is alone able to give comfort in the day of affliction, and we earnestly supplicate that your Majesty may be blessed with length of days to reign over the empire put under your Majesty's parental sway.

Signed in name, presence, and by appointment of the other Members of Council, at Brechin, the 26th January 1827, by James Speid, Provost.

[Transmitted by the Provost.]

To His Most Excellent Majesty George the Fourth, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, KING, Defender of the Faith.

The humble Address of the Incorporation of Maltmen of Leith.

May it please your Majesty,

WE, your Majesty's faithful and loyal subjects, the Members of the Incorporation of Maltmen of Leith, with sentiments of the deepest veneration and love, would beg leave to lay at the foot of the Throne the sincere expressions of our sympathy and condolence for the loss which your Majesty and the whole Nation have to deplore in the death of that illustrious Prince, Frederick Duke of York and Albany, Brother to your Most Gracious Majesty.

When we consider the many high and important claims which the illustrious departed Prince had upon the gratitude of the empire, especially manifested in those rules of discipline and provision in the army, so fraught with prudence, wisdom and benevolence as to have finally trained the British soldier to be the politest gentleman, the most obedient to law, and the bravest warrior: and further, by that firm and undaunted support of the British Constitution and of the Protestant religion, which must ever shed around His Royal name and memory, the blessings of all your Majesty's loyal and Protestant subjects, we cannot but reflect with sorrow and the deepest regret on the irreparable loss the United Kingdom has sustained by his death.

That Almighty God may support and console your Majesty, and the Royal Family, under this afflictive dispensation of Divine Providence; that the Royal House of Brunswick, under whose mild and gracious Government the country has enjoyed so many blessings, may continue to reign over it while sun and moon endure; and in particular, that your Gracious Majesty, the Father of your people, may reign long and happy, a blessing to your people, and a glorious example to the Emperors and Kings of this earth, is the most anxious wish and earnest prayer of, may it please your Majesty, the whole Members of the Incorporation of Maltmen of the Town of Leith.

Signed in our name, and in our presence, and by our appointment, by our Master, and the seal of our Incorporation hereto affixed, at our Convening-House, the 25th day of January 1827.

Robert Philip, jun. Master of Maltmen.
[Transmitted by Robert Philip, Esq. Master of Maltmen.]

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

The humble Address of the Mayor, Deputy Recorder, Town Clerk, Sheriffs, Common Council, Peers, Burgesses and Inhabitants of the County of the Borough of Carmarthen, in Common Hall assembled.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE, your Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, the Mayor, Deputy Recorder, Town Clerk, Sheriffs, Common Council, Peers, Burgesses and Inhabitants of the County of the Borough of Carmarthen, in Common Hall assembled, most humbly beg to address your Majesty, and to express how deeply and sincerely we feel the great and painful affliction which your Majesty and your august Family must experience, by the death of that most excellent and ever-to-be-lamented Prince, His Royal Highness the Duke of York and Albany, your Majesty's truly affectionate and beloved brother.

We are also incited by the acutest emotions of grief to express the sorrow we feel in being deprived of an illustrious Prince, who acquired the esteem and gratitude of the public, by the able and judicious discharge of the important duties entrusted to him by your Most Gracious Majesty, and by his steadfast support of the Constitution established in Church and State. May the all-gracious Divine Providence, which has conferred on this favoured land such signal blessings, under the mild and auspicious sway of the House of Brunswick, and rendered the period of your Majesty's government and reign so conspicuous an era of England's glory, be your constant support, and long preserve your Majesty to the empire which you rule in justice and mercy, and to the
