PURSUANT to a Statute, made and passed in the eighth year of the reign of His late Majesty King George the Second, intituled "An Act for the amendment of the law relating to actions on the Statute of Hue and Cry," Maria Allen, wife of Robert Allen, of Birmingham, in the County of Warwick, Plater, do hereby give notice, that I, the said Maria Allen, was going down a certain lane leading from Russell's-Row, in the Parish of Birmingham, towards a certain reservoir belonging to the Company of Proprietors of the Birmingham Canal Navigation, in the said Parish, on Thursday the 10th day of July instant, between the hours of Ten and Eleven o'Clock in the Forenoon, when I was met by a man, whose name I do not know, who knocked me down, and robbed me of a basket containing one five pound promissory note, drawn by Messrs. Taylor and Lloyds, of Birmingham aforesaid, forty-four cash promissory notes for the payment of one pound each, drawn by the said Messrs. Taylor and Lloyds, one one pound cash promissory note of the Walsall Old Bank, twenty one pound cash promissory notes, drawn by Messrs. Galtens and James, Bankers, in Birmingham, and one red and white plaid pocket handkerchief, marked J.P. That the man who so robbed me was a labouring man, and was dressed in a dirty smock frock, and had on a hat torn in the front of the brim; that he was about five feet seven inches in height, and stout made, with a face marked with the small pox, and appeared to be between thirty and forty years of age.—Dated the 24th day of July 1828.

MARIA ALLEN.
