

sincere and heartfelt congratulations on your accession to the Throne of these Realms, and the commencement of your reign over a loyal, generous, and enlightened people, fully capable of estimating and enjoying their unalienable rights, the blessings of freedom and civilization.

But, Sire, while we approach the Throne in the language of congratulation, it is also our imperious duty, as Englishmen, not to withhold the language of sincerity and truth: we cannot, therefore, disguise from your Majesty our painful conviction that your reign has commenced at a momentous crisis, both as respects other nations and our own.

We feel assured that your Majesty is no stranger to the distress which now so generally prevails, and that in the administration of the government your Majesty will cause such reduction to be made in the establishments of the country, as the diminished incomes of your Majesty's subjects so imperiously require.

And, Sire, we owe to your Majesty our most grateful and heartfelt acknowledgments for the well-judged promptitude with which your Majesty has been pleased to recognize the great principles of freedom so gallantly established by the French, and for your ready acknowledgment of the Sovereign of that nation, raised to his Throne through the bravest efforts of the people.

That your Majesty and your illustrious Consort, our most gracious Queen Adelaide, may long enjoy the happiness of reigning over a prosperous nation, and that your Throne may be maintained in safety and in honour by the affections of a free people, is the fervent prayer of your Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects.

John Guillum Scott, Sheriff.

No. 10.

To His Most Gracious Majesty KING WILLIAM the FOURTH.

The humble and dutiful Address of the Members of the Derbyshire Loyal True Blue Club.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE, your Majesty's most true and loyal subjects, the Members of Derbyshire Loyal True Blue Club, assembled at Derby, beg leave to congratulate your Majesty upon your happy accession to the Throne of these Realms, and, at the same time, to condole with you on the loss of our late most gracious Sovereign, whose glorious reign was marked with final success over a most inveterate foe, and whose princely virtues must ever make his memory dear to a grateful people.

It is our peculiar happiness that your Majesty's heart is truly English, and that you have shewn the warmest attachment to our happy Constitution, so framed that, as it secures the prerogative of the Prince, so it is a mutual support of the power of the Crown and the rights of the subject.

Your Majesty is now in possession of the united hearts of your people at a time when the honour and credit of our nation has been raised by the unexampled efforts of your fleets and armies in our late struggle for the peace and welfare of Europe, to the highest extent. As your Majesty's reign has so happily commenced with the universal approbation and joy of the whole nation, permit us, most gracious Sovereign, to express the high sense we have of your Majesty's goodness by the strongest assurance of our unalterable zeal for your Majesty's sacred Person and Government, fully assured, as we are, that your Majesty has the true interest of your people at heart, and that your influence will ever be exerted in protecting the trade, rights and liberties of your subjects.

May your Majesty long reign in the hearts of your people, and may the Crown of this Kingdom ever be continued in your Majesty's most illustrious Family.

[Here follow the signatures.]

Whitehall, November 5, 1830.

THE following Addresses having been transmitted to the Right Honourable Sir Robert Peel, Bart. one of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, were by him presented to His Majesty, who was pleased to receive the same very graciously:

No. 11.

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

Sire,

WE, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Bishop, Dean, and Chapter of the Cathedral Church of Salisbury, beg leave humbly to approach your Majesty with the expression of our heartfelt condolence on the loss sustained by your Majesty and the whole Empire, by the death of our late most gracious Sovereign, King George the Fourth, under whose government and reign the British Nation, triumphant in arms, and reposing at length in security and peace, has been raised to an unexampled height of public and private wealth and power, prosperity and glory.

While we thus lament the removal of our late distinguished Sovereign, we desire, with all humility and loyalty, to offer to your Majesty our cordial and unfeigned congratulations on your Majesty's happy accession to the Throne of this United Kingdom. We rejoice that in your Majesty we possess a Sovereign whose long and intimate acquaintance with all that concerns the best interests of the Empire, and whose patriotic attachment to the principles of our happy Constitution, both in Church and State, form the earnest and the pledge of security, freedom and prosperity to all your Majesty's subjects.

That the Providence of God may vouchsafe still to bless your Majesty, together with Her most gracious Majesty the Queen, with his divine protection and favour, and long continue to preserve your Majesty in health and peace to reign over a great and united and loyal people, is the sincere and ardent prayer of, Sire, your Majesty's most dutiful and most devoted subjects and servants.

[Here follow the signatures.]

[Transmitted by the Lord Bishop of Salisbury.]