

Merionethshire, Hugh Lloyd, of Cefnbodig, Esq.
Lewis Williams, of Fron-wnion, Esq.
Sir William Wynne, of Hendregwellian, Knt.

Montgomeryshire, Robert Maurice Bonnor, of Bodynfol, Esq.
John Palmer Bruce Chichester, of Gungrog, Esq.
Sir Charles Thomas Jones, of Broadway, Knt.

Denbighshire, Wilson Jones, of Gellignan, Esq.
Jones Panton, of Derwen-Hall, Esq.
John Townshend, of Trevalyn, Esq.

Flintshire, Sir Stephen Richard Glynne, of Hawarden-Castle, Bart.
Edward Lewis, of Bryn Edwin, Esq.
Edward Lloyd, of Cefn, Esq.

St. James's-Palace, November 10, 1830.

THIS day the following Addresses were presented to His Majesty at the Levee, by the several persons whose names are respectively subjoined to each Address, which Addresses His Majesty was pleased to receive very graciously:

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Mayor, Bailiffs, and Burgesses of the Town and County of the Town of Poole, in Common Council assembled, humbly beg leave to offer to your Majesty our sincere condolence on that dispensation of Almighty God, which hath bereft your Majesty of a Brother, and our country of its King.

While we feel and express the sorrow which afflicts us, at the loss of our late most gracious Sovereign, we can never cease to rejoice in the accomplishment of those great and glorious events which occurred in the course of his reign.

We cannot refrain from proudly congratulating your Majesty on ascending the Throne of these Realms, at a period of profound national peace and of domestic tranquillity, a tranquillity greatly to be attributed (under Providence) to the wisdom of those councils, which have removed discontent and dissention, by the repeal of unnecessary and inequitable laws.

We also feel the most entire confidence, that, in the exalted station to which Providence has called you, your Majesty will continue to evince the same ardent zeal for the glory and welfare of your country, for which your Majesty has ever been distinguished.

We, therefore, presume humbly to address your Majesty with these our sentiments of exultation and pride, well assured that it will ever be the earnest desire of your Majesty, and of your Royal Consort our gracious Queen Adelaide, to promote the happiness and prosperity of your Majesty's affectionate and loyal subjects.

Given under our common seal at the Guildhall, this 1st day of September 1830,

W. Jolliffe, Mayor.

[Presented by the Right Hon. John Calcraft, accompanied by Mr. Lester, M. P.]

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

Sire,

IT is with sentiments of the most respectful and affectionate loyalty, that we, the Inhabitants of Burton-upon-Trent, venture to approach your Majesty, and to express our condolence at the loss your Majesty and the Nation have recently sustained; together with our felicitations at your happy accession to the Throne of your Ancestors.

In reviewing the services of your Majesty's past life, we cannot fail to be impressed by an exhibition of those qualities which afford us the surest guarantee for an auspicious and constitutional reign. From the acts which have characterized your Majesty's assumption of power, we are impressed with the same gratifying assurance, that all religious differences will be forgotten, all civil rights respected, and the Sovereign united with his people by bonds of mutual and affectionate confidence.

It is further a subject of proud congratulation to us, that, in the relations of domestic life, your Majesty is enabled to present to your people a Partner in your Throne, who can furnish a pattern of moral excellence to the women of England. To the Queen and to yourself may this accession of dignity be productive of as many blessings as it will diffuse over the dominions now subjected to your sway; and may that Providence, which has so long watched over the best interests of Britain, continue that protection to your Majesty's life, which the prayers of an united empire are now raised to solicit.

By order and on behalf of the Inhabitants of the Borough of Burton-upon-Trent,

John D. Fowler, High Bailiff.

To His Most Gracious Majesty KING WILLIAM the FOURTH.

May it please your Majesty,

WE, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Mayor, Aldermen, and Burgesses of your ancient Borough of Bridgwater, most respectfully approach the Throne, and, being deeply sensible of the numerous blessings which we enjoyed under the reign of our late most gracious Sovereign, of illustrious memory, we humbly beg leave to express our unfeigned sorrow at the melancholy event which has deprived your Majesty of a beloved Brother, and the empire of a glorious and benignant Sovereign. But, whilst we thus pay a willing tribute of respect and gratitude to the memory of your Majesty's Royal Brother, we desire to present to your Majesty our warmest and most sincere congratulations on your Majesty's accession, to the Throne of these Realms, under a firm persuasion, that your faithful people will continue to receive the paternal regard and protection of a Sovereign, eminently qualified to insure and