

And, as a further encouragement, a reward of ONE HUNDRED GUINEAS is hereby offered by the inhabitants of the hamlet of Brandon to any person (except as aforesaid) who shall discover the said offender or offenders, so that he, she, or they may be apprehended and convicted of the said offence.

Whitehall, February 18, 1831.

WHEREAS a reward of five hundred pounds was offered in the London Gazette of the 8th, 11th, and 15th days of February instant, to be paid by Robert Harrison, Esq. banker, of Hull, to any person giving such information as should cause the apprehension, and conviction of the person or persons who, on the night of Sunday the 23d day of January last, set fire to two corn stacks standing in the village of Benningholme, near Hull; and whereas no information hath been obtained tending to the discovery of the said offender or offenders; notice is hereby given, that unless information, tending to the apprehension and conviction of the said offender or offenders, be given on or before the 1st day of March next, the reward aforesaid will not be paid; and the said Robert Harrison doth hereby withdraw the said offer of reward after the said 1st day of March next.

Whitehall, February 22, 1831.

WHEREAS it hath been humbly represented unto the King, that, about half past six o'clock in the evening of Thursday the 10th day of February instant a stack of straw in the rick-yard of Mr. Moses Filder, of the Meads Farm, Eastbourne, in the county of Sussex, was feloniously and maliciously set on fire by some evil-disposed person or persons unknown, whereby one wheat-stack, one oat stack, six hay-stacks, two straw-stacks, a barn containing sixteen quarters of wheat in sacks and about thirty quarters of unthrashed barley, a fatting-lodge with a granary above containing five quarters of barley, one quarter of malt, &c. and an out-house containing about one thousand bushels of potatoes, were destroyed;

His Majesty, for the better apprehending and bringing to justice the persons concerned in the felony before mentioned, is hereby pleased to promise His most gracious pardon to any one of them (except the person who actually set fire to the said straw-stack) who shall discover his accomplice or accomplices therein, so that he, she, or they may be apprehended and convicted thereof.

MELBOURNE.

And, as a further encouragement, a reward of FIFTY POUNDS is hereby offered by Mr. Filder, and FIFTY POUNDS by the Eastbourne Association for the Prosecution of Felons, to any person (except as aforesaid) who shall discover the said offender or offenders, so that he, she, or they may be apprehended and convicted of the said offence.

Whitehall, February 22, 1831.

WHEREAS it hath been humbly represented unto the King, that, between the hours of six and seven in the evening of Saturday the 12th day of February instant, the premises occupied by Mr. William Henry Halcomb, at Stanham-green, in the parish of Hungerford, in the county of Berks, were feloniously and maliciously set on fire by some evil-disposed person or persons unknown, whereby a cottage, barn, stable, granary, and wheat-rick, together with a considerable quantity of thrashed and unthrashed corn, were destroyed;

His Majesty, for the better apprehending and bringing to justice the persons concerned in the felony before mentioned, is hereby pleased to promise His most gracious pardon to any one of them (except the person who actually set fire to the said premises) who shall discover his accomplice or accomplices therein, so that he, she, or they may be apprehended and convicted thereof.

MELBOURNE.

And, as a further encouragement, a reward of ONE HUNDRED POUNDS is hereby offered by the landlord and tenant of the said premises to any person (except as aforesaid) who shall discover the said offender or offenders, so that he, she, or they may be apprehended and convicted of the said offence.
