TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 23, 1832.

Lord Chamberlain's-Office, February 23, 1832.

NOTICE is hereby given, that His Majesty will hold a Levee at St. James's-Palace, on Thursday the 8th of March, instead of the 7th, it being Ash Wednesday.

AT the Court at St. James's, the 22d day of February 1832,

PRESENT,

The KING's Most Excellent Majesty in Council.

WHEREAS His Majesty, by and with the advice of His Privy Council, did, on the eighth day of June one thousand eight hundred and thirty-one, deem it expedient that an Order in Council should be, and an Order accordingly was, issued, placing under quarantine all vessels coming from, or having touched at, any port or place in Russia, or any port or place in the Baltic, or in the Cattegat Sea, or any port or place on the Elbe, and bound to any port or place in the United Kingdom, or to the islands of Guernsey, Jersey, Alderney, Sark, or Man (having clean bills of health), as well as all vessels, boats, and persons having had communications with such vessels, should proceed to such of the under-mentioned ports as might be the nearest and most convenient to their port of destination, viz. Cromarty-bay, in the Murray Frith; to the anchorage in the Frith of Tay, near Dundee; in the Frith of Forth, between the North Queen's Ferry and Lord Elgin's Lime Kilns; White Booth Roads, between Hull and Grimsby; Standgate Creek; the Motherbank, at Portsmouth; Plymouth; Falmouth; Milford Haven; Brombro' Pool, in the River Mersey, near Liverpool; Holy Loch, in the Frith of Clyde; and all vessels arriving with foul bills of health, or coming (without bills of health) from any port or place where the cholera was known to prevail, should proceed either to Cromarty-bay, in the Murray Frith; to Standgate Creek; or to Milford Haven, and should there perform quarantine, and be subject, with their crews, pilots, and all persons having communication with such vessels, to all the rules and regulations established by His late Majesty's Order in Council, of the nineteenth of July one thousand eight hundred and twenty-five:

And whereas His Majesty, by and with the advice of His Privy Council, hath determined to revoke and annul the said Order in Council, of the eighth of

June one thousand eight hundred and thirty-one; His Majesty doth, therefore, by and with such advice, hereby revoke and annul the afore-mentioned Order, of the eighth of June last, and the same is hereby revoked and annulled to all intents and purposes whatever:

And the Right Honourable the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury, and the Commissioners of His Majesty's Customs, are to give the necessary directions herein accordingly.

C. C. Greville.

St. James's-Palace, February 22, 1832.

The Lord Mayor of the City of Dublin, with a deputation from that City, waited upon His Majesty to present to His Majesty the following Address, which His Majesty was graciously pleased to receive on the Throne:

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

May it please your Majesty,

WE, the Lord Mayor, Sheriffs, Commons and Citizens of your ancient and loyal city of Dublin, approach your Majesty with every sentiment of the most profound respect. We are threatened with injury and injustice, and we humbly beseech your Majesty's protection.

Our corporation has existed from time immemorial; numerous statutes and charters attest our steadfast loyalty, our constant attachment to British connection, and faithful allegiance to the Royal Crown and Government now vested in your Majesty's sacred Person. These statutes and charters have confirmed our original prescriptive rights, and granted us new privileges in consideration of the losses sustained and sufferings endured by our predecessors in support of the Crown and Constitution of these Realms.

When England would no longer submit to the spiritual supremacy of a foreign power, this corporation was foremost in promoting and upholding the protestant religion, and in consequence thereof, it was visited with the severe displeasure of King James the Second, who invaded our rights, dismissed our corporation, and transferred our estates to a Popish body, named by himself; but contemporaneously with the triumph of those principles which placed your Majesty's illustrious House upon the British Throne, these rights were restored, and we were remitted to our ancient privileges, of which we have since continued in the quiet and peaceable enjoyment.

From the period of the Legislative Union between Great Britain and Ireland, we beheld our city deserted by the nobility and gentry of the country; our trade and local commerce decaying; the gradual removal of our public establishments, and those which remained filled with strangers; our poor increasing, and all our resources diminished; but we, nevertheless, submitted to every personal and local privation in order to preserve the integrity and advance the general welfare of the empire. During all these changes we have considered our elective franchise as freemen, and the right of transmitting it to our posterity the most valuable privilege we enjoyed; and we have lately learned with feelings of the greatest alarm, that it is the intention of your Majesty's Ministers to propose its entire abolition after the lives of the present resident freemen, while the same privilege is to remain in perpetuity to the freemen of Great Britain. We will not trespass on your Majesty by repeating our strong objections to the proposed Reform Bill generally,—which we have already urged in a petition to the Commons' House of Parliament,—or by stating reasons which satisfy us that if that measure be carried into effect in Ireland, it will tend to a dismemberment of the empire, and result in disorder, anarchy, and civil war. But we content ourselves, at present, with laying at the feet of your Majesty our most respectful but firm remonstrance against the particular Act above referred to, of gross partiality and great injustice towards a body which has ever been distinguished by an unshaken loyalty to their Sovereign, an undeviating support of the laws, and an ardent devotion to the constitution under which these countries have attained to unrivalled greatness. We likewise feel that we should be wanting in our duty to your Majesty did we not respectfully express our honest conviction that the motive which has induced this unjust treatment, is a deference to unreasonable clamour and intimidation, and a vain attempt to buy off the hostility of the professional agitators and habitual disturbers of the peace and tranquillity of this portion of your Majesty's dominions.

Impressed with a deep sense of our individual wrongs, and under much apprehension for the safety of all the settled institutions of the country, we appeal to your most gracious Majesty; we humbly tender the tribute of our devoted affection to your august Family; we repeat the assurance of our inviolable fidelity to your Majesty's Person, Crown and dignity, in defence of which we declare our readiness to spend our best energies, our fortunes, and our lives. We only implore justice for ourselves, a vigorous and impartial administration of the laws in our distracted country, and equal protection for all classes of your Majesty's subjects.

In testimony whereof the common seal of said city is hereunto affixed, this 20th day of January 1832.

To which Address His Majesty was pleased to return the following most gracious Answer:

"I have heard with deep regret the sentiments expressed in the Address which has now been presented to me.

"I shall always be ready to listen to representations of such grievances as may appear to any of my subjects to give them just cause of complaint; and to afford redress to the utmost of my power. In this wish I am firmly persuaded that I only share the benevolent feelings which prevail in my Parliament. On their wisdom and equity, and on the integrity of my constitutional advisers, I rely with a confidence which forbids me to suspect that they can ever be induced to expose any portion of my subjects to injury and injustice. Neither was it necessary to claim from me 'a vigorous and impartial administration of the laws, and equal protection for all classes of my subjects.' These have been, from the period of my accession to the Throne, and ever will be, the constant and unceasing object of my Government."

St. James's-Palace, February 22, 1832.

THE following Addresses—praying for Parliamentary Reform—expressing their feeling on the rejection of the Reform Bill—declaring their confidence in the King's Ministers—and praying His Majesty to exercise his prerogative of creating Peers—were this day presented to His Majesty at the Levee, and graciously received:

Ordinance Lands, Magazines, Barrack, capital Residence, Canal, Cottages, and Buildings, at North Hyde, near Hounslow.

STEVENS and BRENCHLEY respectfully inform the public, that they have received directions from the principal Officers of His Majesty's Ordnance, to submit to public auction, at the Auction Mart, on Friday, the 9th day of March, at Twelve o'Clock, in lots, the valuable property, consisting of His Majesty's Infantry Barrack and the Ordnance Establishment, Messuages and Lands, situate on the banks of the Grand Junction Canal, at North Hyde, in the Parish of Heston, near Hounslow, in the County of Middlesex, being only twelve miles distant from London. This property, comprising about 47 acre, all freehold, (with the exception of about 24 perches, which are copyhold), will be sold in the following lots:—

Lot 1. A valuable freehold estate, situate at North Hyde, in the Parish of Heston, near Hounslow, in the County of Middlesex, comprising about 37 acres and 4 perches of land, and having an entire frontage of about 2,500 feet to the Grand Junction Canal, with which the Ordnance Canal upon this land has a direct communication. The extensive and valuable magazines, mixing-houses, cooperage, boat-houses, watch-houses, and other buildings standing upon this lot, are to be reserved, but the purchaser will be allowed the option of purchasing the same at a price to be fixed by the vendors, and which will be declared before the sale. This property, from its extent and immediate communication with the Grand Junction Canal, and the adjoining roads, is well adapted for a manufactory or other establishment upon a large scale.

Lot 2. A spacious and substantial building, at North Hyde aforesaid, with a large plot of ground attached, bounded on the north and west sides by the road leading to Cranford and Southall. These premises have been used as the barrack and parade, and contain about 2 acres and 16 perches, and may be converted into a large factory, for which they are well adapted.

Lot 3. A capital dwelling-house, which has been occupied by the Ordnance storekeeper, with the lodge and entrance, coach house, stabling, garden, shrubbery-grounds, and the entire road from the entrance gate to the north boundary of lot 6. A part of this lot, consisting of about 24 perches, is copyhold, held of the Manor of Heston. These premises, which immediately adjoin lot 1, contain about 3 acres, 2 roods, 12 perches, and are well suited for the residence of a respectable family.

Lot 4. A field, bounded on the west by the road leading to Cranford, and on the east by a part of lot 3; this field contains about 2 acres 21 perches, and affords an eligible site for building.

Lot 5. A comfortable cottage residence, lately occupied by the storkkeeper's clerk, with a small detached building, used as the guard-house, together with a garden and land; this is bounded on the east, west, and south, by lots 2, 4, and 3, and on the north by the road leading to Southall, and contains about 3 roods 33 perches.

Lot 6. Ten cottages, with a garden to each, occupied by the Ordnance foreman and labourers, at North Hyde. The premises are bounded on the east and south sides by land belonging to Jonathan Passingham, Esq., on the west by, and communicating with, the road leading to Cranford, and on the north by lots 3 and 4, and contain about 1 acre 35 perches.

The above premises may be viewed with cards only, by application to Frederick Chapman, Esq., Ordnance Storekeeper, at North Hyde, and the descriptive particulars and plans may be had three weeks prior to the sale, at the Office of Mr. James Smith, Ordnance Solicitor, No. 18, Austin-Friars, London, at the George-Inn, Hounslow; Hart Inn, Cranford-Bridge; and of Stevens and Brenchley, No. 36, Old Jewry, of whom cards to view the premises may be had.
