

made to Divine Providence, that your Majesty has not sustained any serious injury.

That your Majesty may very long be spared to reign over this free, loyal, and happy nation, is the earnest prayer, may it please your Majesty, of your most loyal and dutiful subjects, the President and Fellows of the Royal College of Physicians of Edinburgh.

Signed in their name, and by their appointment, at Edinburgh, this 29th day of June, 1832.

John MacWhirter, President.

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

WE, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Vicar, Churchwardens, the undersigned Vestrymen, and other Inhabitant Householdors of the parish of Saint Martin in the Fields, beg leave to approach your royal presence with the strongest expression of horror and detestation at the late wanton and treasonable attack upon your sacred person.

Justly proud of the distinction, which we possess, in comprehending your royal residence within the limits of our parish, we claim and we feel a more than ordinary interest in whatever affects the safety of your Majesty's person. And this danger, now happily passed, calls forth our ardent prayer to the Great Disposer of all events, that He will be pleased to protect you from the open or secret attacks of your enemies, and that He will grant you a long and happy reign in the hearts of your people.

The humble Address of the Provost, Magistrates, and Council of the City of Aberdeen.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

We, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Provost, Magistrates, and Council of your city of Aberdeen, beg leave at this time most humbly to approach the throne, under a deep sense of the great importance of your Majesty's valuable life, to the happiness and prosperity of the United Kingdom, and to assure your Majesty, that we reflect with equal astonishment and horror on the late most atrocious and treasonable attack made upon your Majesty's most sacred person, while attending Ascot races.

At the same time, when we consider the very signal preservation of your Majesty, in so critical and alarming a situation, we feel the utmost gratitude and thankfulness for the remarkable interposition of the Divine Providence, so eminently manifested on this occasion, in saving your Majesty from so great and imminent a danger; and do, in the most dutiful and affectionate manner, congratulate your Majesty upon so providential and momentous a deliverance to yourself, to Her Majesty, and to your faithful people.

That Almighty God may long continue to protect and preserve your Majesty's precious and valuable life, as a lasting blessing to the Royal Family and all your faithful subjects, and that your Majesty may long, very long, reign over a people, deeply sensible of the many signal advantages and blessings which they enjoy under your Majesty's mild and auspicious government, are the ardent prayers of, may it please your Majesty, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Provost, Magistrates, and Council of your city of Aberdeen, in Common Council assembled.

Signed in their name and presence, and by their appointment, and the common city seal hereto affixed, at Aberdeen, the 29th day of June, 1832 years. Ja. Hadden, Provost and C. M.

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

The humble Address of the Members of the Corporation and other the Inhabitants of the Town of Glastonbury, in the County of Somerset.

Sire,

WE, the undersigned Members of the Corporation and other the Inhabitants of the town of Glastonbury, in the county of Somerset, having heard with feelings of the deepest indignation and regret, that a most atrocious assault has been perpetrated on the most sacred person of your Majesty, entreat your Majesty to accept our cordial congratulation for the providential escape from severe injury which your Majesty might have experienced on that occasion.

We, being duly sensible of the blessings resulting from your Majesty's mild and paternal government, take advantage of the present opportunity to offer to your Majesty our most cordial assurances of sincere affection and attachment.

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

Sire,

WE, your Majesty's loyal and dutiful subjects, the Mayor, Aldermen, and Assistants of your Majesty's ancient and loyal town of Shrewsbury, in Common Council assembled, being most deeply affected by feelings of horror and indignation at the traitorous, malicious, and premeditated attack of violence recently perpetrated upon your royal and sacred person, through the base excitement of a disappointed and desperate man, with a high sense of gratitude for the Divine blessing, which has so providentially protected and preserved to us a Prince, to whom we are attached by the strongest ties of loyalty and affection, do humbly approach your august and venerated Majesty, with expressions of our cordial and heartfelt congratulations, on your Majesty's most happy deliverance and escape from the intended effect of this treasonable and gross assault.

That your Majesty's sacred life may long be spared to a loyal and affectionate people, is our earnest prayer.

We remain, with the profoundest veneration, Sire, your Majesty's most faithful subjects and dutiful servants.

Thos. Farmer Dukes, Mayor.

Thos. Loxdale, Town Clerk.

Shrewsbury, June 29, 1832.

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

May it please your Majesty,

WE, your Majesty's most loyal and dutiful subjects, the Chancellor, Rector, Principals and Professors of the University of Saint Andrews, humbly approach the Throne, to express our detestation of the late atrocious and traitorous attempt upon your Majesty's sacred person, to convey anew to your Majesty the assurance of our devoted attachment, and to offer our most fervent prayers, that through
