

the mercy of Divine Providence your Majesty may long be preserved, to reign in the hearts and the affections of your people.

Signed in name, and by appointment of the University of Saint Andrew, this 29th day of June, 1832, by Melville, Chancellor.
Robert Haldane, Rector.

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Justices of the Peace for the city and liberties of Westminster, at the general quarter session of the peace assembled, most humbly beg leave to express to your Majesty the deep concern we have felt at the late treasonable and atrocious outrage on your Majesty's sacred person. And we further humbly offer our sincere and heartfelt congratulations on your Majesty's providential escape from severe injury, with our prayers that your Majesty may long continue to reign in the hearts and loyal affections of your grateful and devoted subjects, dispensing to them the inestimable blessings of your mild and paternal government.

Francis Const, Chairman.
The Guildhall, Westminster, June 29, 1832.

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

Sire,

WE, your Majesty's most loyal and faithful subjects, the Office-bearers and Members of the Ancient Association of Freemasons, styled "The Lodge Canongate Kilwinning," humbly beg to approach the throne, and to express our horror and detestation at the late treasonable and atrocious assault on your Majesty's sacred person. We beg, Sire, to express these sentiments of devoted loyalty and attachment to your Majesty's person and government, which have at all times been characteristic of our ancient fraternity, under the benignant dominion of your Majesty's august house. We beg to congratulate your Majesty upon your escape from this most wicked attack; and we pray that Almighty God may be pleased long to continue to this country your Majesty's invaluable life.

Given at Edinburgh, in Saint John's Chapel, in the Canongate, on the Eve of Saint John the Baptist, in the year of our Lord 1832, and subscribed for us, and on our behalf, by our Master and Secretary.
Alexander M'Neil, Master.
James M'Millan, Secretary.

Unto the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

WE, your Majesty's loyal subjects, the Provost, Magistrates, and Town Council of the royal borough of Dundee, humbly approach your Majesty to express our heartfelt gratulations at your Majesty's providential escape from an attempt to injure your Majesty's sacred person, as unexpected as it was atrocious.

That a Monarch so pre-eminently distinguished for the wisest and most benevolent endeavours to promote the happiness and prosperity of his people, should have been so barbarously, so madly assailed, must excite in all the deepest abhorrence and regret.

It must, however, be consoling to your Majesty, as it is to your faithful subjects, that the wretched perpetrator is a being, in whose distempered feelings none but the most abandoned or insane could participate; and that an event, in other respects so much to be deplored, has been followed up on all sides by renewed expressions of affection and attachment to a Sovereign, who has proved himself the benefactor and the friend of his people.

That your Majesty's reign may be long and happy, as it has been just and glorious, is the fervent prayer of your Majesty's dutiful and devoted subjects.

Subscribed by desire, and in presence of the Magistrates and Town Council of Dundee, and the common seal of the borough hereunto appended, at Dundee, the 29th day of June, 1832 years.

William Lindsay, Provost and Chief Magistrate of the royal burgh of Dundee.

To His Most Gracious Majesty, WILLIAM, by the Grace of God, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, KING, Defender of the Faith.

The humble Address of the Magistrates, Clergy, Parish Officers, and other Inhabitant Household-ers of the District Parish of Saint Mark the Evangelist, Clerkenwell, in the County of Middlesex, and Diocese of London.

WE, the undersigned, your Majesty's loyal and devoted subjects, the Magistrates, Clergy, Parish Officers, and other Inhabitant Household-ers of the district parish of Saint Mark the Evangelist aforementioned, beg leave, in all dutiful reverence, to approach your Majesty, to express our horror and indignation at the late atrocious and treasonable attempt upon your Majesty, and our heartfelt congratulations that your Majesty escaped from it without injury to your sacred person; and to declare to your Majesty the deep concern which we feel at there having been found within your Majesty's dominions a person capable of so flagitious an attempt; and to assure your Majesty, that we make it our earnest prayer to Heaven to preserve to us the blessings which we enjoy under the just and mild government of your Majesty, and that Almighty God may continue to watch over and protect your Majesty and your royal Consort, whose lives are so justly dear to us, and to every British subject in your Majesty's realms.

[Here follow the signatures.]

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

The humble Address of the Lord Provost, Magistrates, and Common Council of the City of Glasgow, in Council assembled.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WHILE we reflect with mingled indignation and abhorrence on the late atrocious assault on your Majesty's person, we beg leave most cordially to congratulate your Majesty on your escape, under Divine Providence, from more severe injury; and we not only feel it to be our public duty, but are earnestly desirous, on this occasion, to convey to your Majesty the renewed assurances of our firm and steady loyalty, and of our zealous and warm attachment to your royal person and government.

Signed by me, Lord Provost, and Chief Magistrate, in name, and by appointment of the Magistrates and Council of Glasgow, and the common seal of the said city hereunto affixed, at Glasgow, the 29th day of June, 1832.

Robert Dalgligh, Provost.
