

last-mentioned chapel, under the provisions of the 16th section of an Act, passed in the 59th year of the reign of His Majesty King George the Third, intituled "An Act to amend an Act, passed in the last session of Parliament, for building, and promoting the building, of additional churches in populous parishes;" and that such district should be named St. Day's District, with boundaries as follows:

The boundary of the district to be that of the parish of Gwennap, north of the following line, viz: commencing at Hayle mills and proceeding through the centre of the stream up the valley between Wheel Jewel and Wheel Damsel to Lower Treve- than, along the left or south side of the road to Higher Treve than, including the houses in both those villages; and from thence, keeping the boundary of the manor of Tolcarne, till it meets the boundary of the parish on the Red Ruth side; which district is more particularly described in the plan accompanying the said representation:

That marriages, baptisms, churchings, and burials should be performed in the said chapel; and that the fees for the same shall belong and be paid to the Minister of the said chapel:

That the consent of the Lord Bishop of Exeter has been obtained thereto, as required by the above-mentioned section of the said Act passed in the 59th year of His Majesty King George the Third; in testimony whereof the said Lord Bishop has signed and sealed the said representation; and humbly praying that His Majesty will be graciously pleased to take the premises into His royal consideration, and to make such order in respect thereto, as to His Majesty's shall seem meet:

His Majesty, having taken the said representation, and the plan thereunto annexed, into consideration, was pleased, by and with the advice of His Privy Council, to approve thereof, and to order, as it is hereby ordered, that the proposed division be accordingly made and effected, agreeably to the provisions of the said Acts.
