TO be sold by auction, before the major part of the Commissioners named and authorised in and by a Fiat in Bankruptcy awarded and issued and now in prosecution against Charles Parker, late of Haughton-le-Skerne, in the county of Durham, lately carrying on business there, and at Darlington, in the same county, and also at Rawcliffe, in the county of York, under the style or firm of Edward Parker and Sons, Flax-Spinner, Dealer and Chapman, at the house of Mr. Brodis, the King's Head, in Darlington aforesaid, on Tuesday the 17th day of December 1839, at one o'clock in the afternoon, subject to such conditions as will be then read.

Haughton Mills, near Darlington, all that flax and tow spinning-mill, situate at Haughton-le-Skerne, near Darlington, in the county of Durham, late in the occupation of Mr. Charles Parker, upon which an extensive business hath been carried on, and capable of employing 130 workpeople, with ample warehouses, counting-house, heckling-shop, smith's shop, and other buildings and out offices; and together also with two powerful steam-engines, and buildings, machinery, apparatus, and conveniences of every description for carrying on the above business, and for the manufacture of shoe-thread, which hath also been extensively carried on upon the premises.

The whole forms one connected range of buildings, and there is a cottage connected therewith, and an ample garden, and orchard immediately adjoining.

The above property is of freehold tenure, situate immediately upon the river Skerne, within two miles of Darlington, and less than one mile from the Stockton and Darlington Railway, from the depots upon which an ample and cheap supply of coal for the working of the steam-engines is procured. The line of the Great North of England Railway will run very near to the premises; and the most ample facilities exist, not only of procuring the raw materials and carrying on the manufacture, but also for the disposal of the manufactured articles, being situated near to an important coal district, and also to the improving port of Stockton; the premises are most eligible for carrying on the business of a patent rope manufactory.

Also at Haughton-le-Skerne aforesaid, all those eleven cottages or tenements, situate and being at Haughton-le-Skerne aforesaid, now in the occupation of John Leeming, Joseph Bromley, and Aaron Tate, and others.

Also Rawcliffe Factory, near Selby, Yorkshire, all that valuable and commodious factory and spinning-mill, situate at Rawcliffe, in the west riding of Yorkshire, upon which an extensive business in flax-spinning hath been carried on, with an ample warehouse, heckling-shop, counting-house, smith's shop, out offices, and buildings; together with an excellent steam-engine, and machinery of every description requisite for carrying on the above business.

Also a messuage or dwelling-house, for the residence of the superintendent of the factory, with a garden belonging thereto; the whole of the buildings inclosing a spacious yard. The factory buildings (exclusive of the warehouse) are of the length of 140 feet by 85 feet in breadth, and the interior length of the warehouse is 58 feet 6 inches by 15 feet 9 inches in breadth. The buildings are two stories high, new and substantially built of brick and covered with slates, and the same, together with the steam-engine and machinery, are of the very best description.

Also a rich parcel of meadow land adjoining the above, and containing, with the site of the factory buildings, yard, and garden, 7A. 1R. 18P., more or less.

The above property immediately adjoins the populous village of Rawcliffe, and the navigable river Aire, whereby coals and every necessary for the use of the factory can be obtained at a moderate cost; and great facilities are provided for sending the manufactures to the best markets in the kingdom. An ample supply of water is secured at all times for working the steam-engine and for general purposes, by means of an artificial reservoir communicating with the river.

Rawcliffe is situated in the centre of a district famous for the production of the raw material used in the factory; is about three miles from Snaith, about four from the rising port of Goole, and twelve from Selby, and the trading communication with Hull and the other ports in the Ouse and Trent, and the Humber, is constant and cheap by means of the steam and other vessels from Goole and Selby.

The above property is held on lease for a term of ninety-nine years, from the 2d of February 1820, at an annual rent of £42, and immediate possession may be had.

For further particulars apply to Mr. Allison, Solicitor to the said Fiat; or to Mr. Bell, Solicitor, Richmond.
