This day the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Councillors of the city of Dublin waited upon Her Majesty to present to Her Majesty the following Address ; which Her Majesty was graciously pleased to receive on the Throne :

To the QUEEN'S Most Excellent Majesty.

The Address of the Right Honourable the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Councillors of the borough of the city of Dublin.

May it please your Majesty,

WE, the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Councillors of the borough of the city of Dublin, beg leave to approach your Majesty's Throne with the expression of our most cordial and respectful congratulations at the auspicious event of the birth of a Prince, the undoubted Heir to the Crown of these realms, an event calculated to confer that happiness on your Majesty and your illustrious Consort which we fervently pray may be increased and perpetuated ; an event which also affords to your Majesty's loyal and devoted subjects, throughout the wide spread dominions over which your Majesty's sceptre has control, the fairest and the brightest hope of the continuance of that benevolent sway of which your Majesty holds out so brilliant and consolatory an example to the Sovereigns of the earth.

We beg most respectfully to assure your Majesty, that your faithful subjects, the citizens of Dublin, with one unanimous sentiment, concur in the heartfelt gratulations which we lay at the foot of your Majesty, animated as they are with the purest allegiance to the Throne and respect for the Person of your sacred Majesty ; they join with us in a fervent prayer to the Divine Dispenser of all Good, that He may bestow upon your Majesty the uninterrupted possession of all the blessings which this world can confer, and of the pure enjoyment of an eternal crown of glory hereafter. May you see your royal and illustrious Family increase in numbers and in happiness, the sources of consolation to your royal mind, and the instruments of blessing to your faithful and devoted people.

In testimony whereof the common seal of said city is hereunto affixed, this 1st day of February 1842.

To which Address Her Majesty was pleased to return the following most gracious answer :

" I return you my cordial thanks for the loyal and dutiful Address which you have presented to me.

" This strong assurance of affectionate attachment to my Person, of allegiance to my Throne, and of devoted loyalty to my Family, is received by me with the warmest satisfaction.

" Be assured that my anxious endeavours are constantly directed to the promotion of the prosperity of all parts of this realm, and that I feel an equal solicitude for the happiness of all classes of my subjects.

" I am confident that my faithful city of Dublin will, by its example, confirm the strength which concord among my people can alone give to my dominions."

Buckingham-Palace, April 9, 1842.
