TUESDAY, OCTOBER 31, 1843.

Cambridge, October 25, 1843.

HER Majesty having been pleased to appoint this day, at two o'clock, for visiting the University of Cambridge, Her Majesty was met, at the entrance of the borough, by the Mayor and Corporation, who there did their homage to Her Majesty. Her Majesty was then attended by the University in a body. The Vice-Chancellor, after laying the bedells' staves at Her Majesty's feet, made a speech to Her Majesty, in the name of the University, expressing their duty and affection to Her Majesty. Her Majesty was pleased to receive the University in the hall of Trinity College, when the Vice-Chancellor read the following Address :

To the QUEEN's Most Excellent Majesty.

The humble Address of the Chancellor, Masters, and Scholars of the University of Cambridge.

May it please your Majesty,

WE, your Majesty's dutiful subjects, the Chancellor, Masters, and Scholars of the University of Cambridge, most gratefully avail ourselves of your Majesty's gracious permission to offer within the walls of the University itself, the expression of the devoted loyalty which we at all times feel towards your Majesty, and of the sentiments excited in our hearts by your Majesty's presence among us.

The University of Cambridge, protected and favoured by your Majesty's Royal Predecessors; and intrusted by them with important offices in the great national concerns of religion and education, has ever been profoundly grateful for the dignified duties thus assigned her, and full of reverent affection towards the Sovereigns of the realm. When, in former times, the Members of this University have been so highly honoured as to see among them their Sovereigns in person, such an event has, upon all occasions, called up in their breasts the most earnest and lively sentiments of loyalty, and has made them feel, more strongly than ever, both the dignity and the responsibility of their position.

We trust your Majesty will believe that any expressions which we can use, very inadequately convey the sense which we entertain of your Majesty's great kindness and condescension in thus enabling us to add the name of your Majesty to those of your Royal Predecessors, the Queens and Kings who have in succession visited this their University. We feel it an additional mark of your Majesty's favour and consideration, that your Majesty's visit takes place at so early a period of your Majesty's happy reign, and in the company of your Majesty's August Consort, so as to bring our academic institution under the immediate notice of his cultivated and enlightened mind. We also esteem it a peculiar instance of your Majesty's Royal favourable disposition, that your Majesty has been pleased to make this visit at a time when the occupations and business of the University are proceeding in their ordinary course; and so soon after the announcement of your Majesty's gracious intention that the University necessarily wears its usual aspect. We trust we may consider your Majesty's visit, under such circumstances, a mark of your royal good opinion and good will, of your Majesty's sympathy in the purposes which the University has to fulfil, and of your Majesty's confidence that we are labouring in the discharge of our duties with fidelity and diligence.

We trust that at all periods of the history of this University, the number of the persons who, after receiving their education here, have distinguished themselves as statesmen, divines, and scholars, has abundantly shown that the culture which is here given to men's minds is not unfit to mould the noble national character of the country over which your Majesty reigns, and to qualify men to act their respective parts in that glorious national constitution, in Church and State, of which your Majesty is the head. But whatever our exertions may have hitherto been, we shall henceforth have, in the recollection of the interest in our institutions and occupations which your Majesty's visit implies, a most powerful motive to labour still more diligently, in the hope that this University may continue to produce worthy members of the State, and faithful and able servants of your Majesty.

This gracious visit of your Majesty and your Royal Consort will ever be kept in mind as a memorable event in the records of the University, and will be by all of us, who have the good fortune and the high honour to be present on this auspicious occasion, recollected with feelings of deep gratitude and affectionate reverence towards your Majesty. With these sentiments we pray, that the Supreme Disposer of events may be pleased to shed upon your Majesty and your Royal Consort a continuance and increase of all blessings, to shield you from all harm, and long to preserve your Majesty for the benefit and happiness of these realms.

To which Her Majesty was graciously pleased to return the following answer:

"I receive with peculiar satisfaction, on the occasion of my visit to the University, this dutiful and affectionate expression of your attachment and loyalty.

"I am deeply sensible of the benefits which your exertions in the cause of religion and learning have conferred upon my people; and the University may, on all occasions, depend upon my continued favour and encouragement."

The Vice-Chancellor and the other Members of the University waited likewise upon His Royal Highness Prince Albert with the following Address:

To His Royal Highness the Prince ALBERT.

The humble Address of the Chancellor, Masters, and Scholars of the University of Cambridge.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, Her Majesty's dutiful subjects, the Chancellor, Masters, and Scholars of the University of Cambridge, beg leave to avail ourselves of the opportunity now given us of tendering to your Royal Highness the expression of our profound respect; and of welcoming, with our most cordial good wishes, your Royal Highness's appearance within the walls of the University, an event which is a source of satisfaction and joy to every Member of our Body.

The intimate ties which connect your Royal Highness with the happiness of our beloved Queen, and the future prosperity of the nation, cannot but call forth our most lively desires and earnest prayers for your Royal Highness's welfare; with which your Royal Highness's virtues and high endowments lead us to combine a cordial and respectful feeling towards your Royal Highness's Person.

We are persuaded that your Royal Highness's known regard for religion, learning, and science, will make your Royal Highness receive with kind condescension the salutations of a Body which has these great objects for its special ends. Your Royal Highness, educated in a distinguished University of your native land, will not fail to feel a lively concern in the academical establishments of this your Royal Highness's adopted country. And connected as your Royal Highness is by the most endearing ties, and by the relations belonging to your Royal Highness's exalted position with the institutions of England, your Royal Highness, we are persuaded, visits one of the ancient universities of the land with a strong interest, arising both from the place which it occupies in the history of the country and its importance in the social fabric of the empire.

We trust that the attention which in this University has been bestowed upon Divine and human learning has been such that we are not unworthy of some portion of the sympathy which your Royal Highness feels in the cultivators of such pursuits; and we rejoice that the delight and gratitude excited by the visit of our Gracious Sovereign are combined with the privilege of coming under the personal notice of your Royal Highness, Her Majesty's Illustrious Consort.

It is our earnest wish and prayer, that your Royal Highness may receive every blessing which Providence can bestow, and may long continue to be a benefit and an ornament to these realms.

To which Address His Royal Highness returned the following answer:

"I receive, with peculiar pleasure, these assurances of attachment and regard, which have been so kindly presented to me on this my first visit with the Queen to this ancient University.

"My warmest and best wishes will always attend the studies here pursued; and I earnestly trust the University of Cambridge may long maintain the reputation it has earned of successfully training enlightened men for the service of the State, and of diffusing throughout the country the blessings of a sound and religious education."

In the evening Her Majesty held a Levee, at the lodge of Trinity-College, at which the following Address was presented to Her Majesty, by the Mayor of Cambridge:

To the QUEEN's Most Excellent Majesty.

May it please your Majesty,

WE, your Majesty's loyal and dutiful subjects, the Mayor, Aldermen, and Burgesses of the borough of Cambridge, approach your Majesty with feelings of devoted attachment to your Throne and Family.

We eagerly avail ourselves of the auspicious visit of your Majesty to this ancient seat of sound learning and religious education, to welcome your Majesty to your ancient and loyal borough of Cambridge; to renew those expressions of allegiance to your Majesty's Throne and Person which have ever been entertained by us.

We earnestly pray that your Majesty may long live to reign over us; that, under your Majesty's benign rule, those institutions which are the glory of our land, and the bulwarks of our constitution, may continue to be upheld and to flourish; and that your Majesty's realm may be firmly and for ever united, not only by the acts of your legislature, but by the universal consent of your Majesty's subjects.

We pray also that the abundant share of domestic bliss which has been vouchsafed to your Majesty by your happy union with the illustrious Prince, your Royal Consort, may, during a long life, continue to be your choicest blessing; and that those Protestant principles on which your Majesty's illustrious Family was raised to the Throne of this empire, may be so instilled into the minds of your offspring, that our successors may possess, in undiminished purity, the privileges which it is our peculiar happiness to enjoy.

The following Address was received by the Right Honourable Henry Goulburn, for presentation, and was by him presented to Her Majesty :

To the QUEEN's Most Excellent Majesty.

The humble and dutiful Address of the Parochial Clergy of the town of Cambridge.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Parochial Clergy of the town of Cambridge, crave permission to avail ourselves of the occasion of your Majesty's gracious visit to this ancient University, most respectfully to tender the expression of our devoted attachment to your Majesty's Person and Throne.

As Ministers of the Protestant Episcopal Church established in this realm, we are grateful for the manifold benefits which that Church has long enjoyed under the fostering care of your Majesty, and your Majesty's Royal Predecessors; and on this day, the anniversary of the accession to the Throne of one of the most illustrious of those Predecessors (your Majesty's Royal Grandfather), we would express our sincere and heartfelt wishes, united with fervent prayer to the Great Head of the Church Universal, that the King of kings may long continue to bless your Majesty, and make your Majesty a blessing to your numerous subjects; that under your Majesty's auspicious rule the Church of this realm, holding fast its great Protestant principles, may continue to be "a blessing in the midst of the land," and the zealous faithful instrument of holding forth the Word of Life to the millions who own your Majesty's mild and beneficent sway, and to the remotest regions of the earth.

That the same Almighty Providence, who has called your Majesty to the government of our Church and Nation, may ever strengthen your Majesty for the fulfilment of so high a trust; that your Majesty's reign may be long and prosperous; that your Majesty's Throne and the Throne of your Majesty's posterity may be established in righteousness; and that when the hour of death shall come (long distant be that hour), your earthly crown may be exchanged for a never fading crown of heavenly glory, is the fervent prayer of your Majesty's faithful and devoted servants, the Parochial Clergy of the town of Cambridge.

The following Addresses were also presented to His Royal Highness Prince Albert, and very graciously received :

To Field Marshal His Royal Highness Prince ALBERT, of Saxe Cobourg and Gotha.

WE, the Nobility, Clergy, Gentry, and other Inhabitants of the county of Cambridge and Isle of Ely, approach your Royal Highness with the most unfeigned respect, to express our heartfelt satisfaction at your visit to this county.

We beg to assure your Royal Highness that we entirely participate in the universal high esteem felt for your Royal Highness throughout the kingdom, and of the deep interest we feel in your Royal Highness's welfare; and we most fervently hope, that in all things wherein that welfare is concerned, the blessing and protection of an overruling Providence may ever preserve your Royal Highness.

Edward Humphrys Greene, High Sheriff.

To Field Marshal His Royal Highness Prince ALBERT of Saxe Cobourg and Gotha.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, the Mayor, Aldermen, and Burgesses of the borough of Cambridge, avail ourselves of this auspicious occasion to welcome your Royal Highness to this ancient and loyal borough, and to renew those expressions of respect and attachment which have been already conveyed from us to your Royal Highness on the happy events of your union with our Most Gracious Queen and the birth of your illustrious children.

We hail with peculiar satisfaction the visit of your Royal Highness, a scion of the ancient and Protestant family of Saxe Cobourg and Gotha, to this renowned seat of sound learning and religious education, the cradle of that Reformation for which your ancestors nobly contended, in full assurance that those principles which they maintained, and which placed the illustrious family of our beloved Queen upon the Throne of these realms, will continue to be upheld, so that the blessings of our glorious constitution may be handed down to the latest generation.

To His Royal Highness Prince ALBERT.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, the Mayor, Aldermen, and Burgesses of the borough of Wisbech, in the county of Cambridge, beg permission to express to your Royal Highness the high satisfaction we feel on the occasion of Her Majesty the Queen and your Royal Highness visiting this county.

It is our unfeigned and earnest hope that the reign of Her Majesty may be long and prosperous, and that Her Majesty and your Royal Highness may together enjoy many years of uninterrupted happiness.

Church Commissioners' Office, October 26, 1843.

THE following is a copy of an Order of Her Majesty in Council, assigning a chapelry district, under the 16th section of the 59th Geo. 3., cap. 134, to Saint Mary's Chapel, at Muker, in the parish of Grinton, in the county of York:

At the Court at Buckingham-Palace, the 23d of August 1843, present, the Queen's Most Excellent Majesty in Council.

WHEREAS by an Act, passed in the fifty-eighth year of the reign of His late Majesty King George the Third, intituled "An Act for building, and promoting the building, of additional churches in populous parishes," it is, amongst other things, enacted "that in every case in which the Commissioners appointed for carrying into execution the purposes of the said Act shall be of opinion that it will be expedient to divide any parish into two or more distinct and separate parishes, for all ecclesiastical purposes whatever, it shall be lawful for the said Commissioners, with the consent of the bishop of the diocese in which such parish is locally situated, signified under his hand and seal, to apply to the patron or patrons of the church of such parish for his consent to make such division, and for such patron or patrons to signify his or their consent thereto under his hand and seal; and the said Commissioners shall, upon the consent of the said patron or patrons so signified, represent the whole matter to His Majesty in Council, and shall state in such representation the bounds by which it is proposed, with such consent as aforesaid, to divide such parish, together with the relative and respective proportions of glebe land, tithes, moduses, or other endowments which will by such division arise and accrue, and remain and be, within each of such respective divisions, and also the relative proportions of the estimated amount of the value or produce of fees, oblations, offerings, or other ecclesiastical dues or profits which may arise and accrue within each of such respective divisions; and if, thereupon, His Majesty in Council shall think fit to direct such division to be made, such Order of His Majesty in Council shall be valid and good in law for the purpose of effecting such division; provided always, that no such division of any parish into distinct parishes shall completely take effect until after the death, resignation, or other avoidance of the existing incumbent of the parish to be divided;” and it is by the 21st section of the said Act further enacted, “that in any case in which the said Commissioners shall be of opinion that it is not expedient to divide any populous parish, or extra parochial place, into such complete, separate, and distinct parishes as aforesaid, but that it is expedient to divide the same into such ecclesiastical districts as they, with the consent of the bishop, signified under his hand and seal, may deem necessary for the purpose of affording accommodation for the attending divine service, according to the rites of the United Church of England and Ireland, to persons residing therein, in the churches and parochial chapels already built, or in additional churches or chapels to be built therein, and as may appear to such Commissioners to be convenient for the enabling the spiritual person or persons who may serve such churches or chapels to perform all ecclesiastical duties within the districts attached to such respective churches and chapels, and for the due ecclesiastical superintendence of such district, and the preservation and improvement of the religious and moral habits of the persons residing therein, the said Commissioners shall represent such opinion to His Majesty in Council, and shall state in such representation the bounds by which such districts are proposed to be described; and if, thereupon, His Majesty in Council shall think fit to direct such division to be made, such Order of His Majesty in Council shall be valid and good in law for the purpose of effecting such division:”

And whereas by an Act, passed in the fifty-ninth year of His late Majesty King George the Third, intituled “An Act to amend and render more effectual an Act, passed in the last session of Parliament, for building, and promoting the building, of additional churches in populous parishes,” it is, amongst other things, enacted, that it shall be lawful for the Commissioners, in the same manner and with the like consents as are required in case of division into ecclesiastical districts under the said recited Act, or this Act, to assign a particular district to any chapel of ease or parochial chapel already existing, or to any chapel built, or which may hereafter be built or acquired under the powers of the said Act, or this Act; and such district shall be under the immediate care of the curate appointed to serve such chapel, but subject, nevertheless, to the superintendence and controul of the incumbent of the parish church; and all such curates shall be nominated by the incumbent of the parish to the bishop for his licence, except where the right of nomination shall already be legally vested in any other person or persons, and in every such case by the person or persons possessing such right of nomination, subject to all the laws in force relating to stipendiary curates, except as to the assigning of salaries to such curates; provided always, that it shall be lawful for the Commissioners, with the consent of the bishop of the diocese, to determine whether any and what part or proportion of the fees or dues for marriages, baptisms, churchings, and burials shall be assigned to any such curate; and whether banns of marriage shall be published, and marriages or baptisms, churchings or burials, shall be solemnized or performed in any such chapel or not; and in any case in which marriages shall be allowed in any such chapel, the Commissioners shall cause the boundaries of the district assigned to such chapel to be enrolled in the High Court of Chancery, and in the office of the Registry of the diocese, any thing in the said recited Act to the contrary notwithstanding; and no such chapelry shall become a benefice by reason of any augmentation of the maintenance of the curate, by any grant or bounty under the provision of any Act or Acts of Parliament, or law or laws, for augmenting small livings, any thing in such Act or Acts of Parliament, or law or laws, to the contrary notwithstanding:”

And whereas by another Act, passed in the seventh and eighth years of the reign of His late Majesty King George the Fourth, intituled “An Act to amend the Acts for building, and promoting the building, of additional churches in populous parishes;” and by another Act, made and passed in the first and second years of His late Majesty King William the Fourth, intituled “An Act to amend and render more effectual an Act, passed in the seventh and eighth years of the reign of His late Majesty, intituled ‘An Act to amend the Acts for building, and promoting the building, of additional churches in populous parishes;’” and also by another Act, made and passed in the second and third years of His said late Majesty, intituled “An Act to render more effectual an Act, passed in the fifty-ninth year of His late Majesty King George the Third, intituled ‘An Act to amend and render more effectual an Act, passed in the last session of Parliament, for building, and promoting the building, of additional churches in populous parishes;’” further provisions are made for carrying such divisions into effect:

And whereas the said Commissioners have made a representation to Her Majesty in Council, bearing date the thirteenth day of July one thousand eight hundred and forty-three, in the words following, viz.

"Your Majesty's Commissioners for building new churches, appointed by virtue of an Act, passed in the fifty-eighth year of the reign of His Majesty King George the Third, intituled "An Act for building, and promoting the building, of additional churches in populous parishes;" continued by an Act, passed in the seventh and eighth years of the reign of His Majesty King George the Fourth, intituled "An Act to amend the Acts for building, and promoting the building, of additional churches in populous parishes;" and further continued by an Act, passed in the first year of your Majesty's reign, intituled "An Act to prolong, for ten years, Her Majesty's Commission for building new churches;" beg leave humbly to represent to your Majesty, that, when the last census was taken, the parish of Grinton, in the county of York, and diocese of Ripon, contained a population of four thousand eight hundred and eleven persons:

"That, besides the parish church, which affords accommodation to eight hundred persons, there are two consecrated chapels in the said parish, one at Melbecks, called Trinity Chapel, which affords accommodation to three hundred and twenty persons, including two hundred and seventy-two free seats appropriated to the use of the poor; and the other an ancient chapel situate at Muker, and called Saint Mary's, which affords accommodation to four hundred and fifty persons; that divine service is regularly performed in the said last-mentioned chapel:

"Your Majesty's said Commissioners beg leave further to represent to your Majesty, that, having taken into consideration all the circumstances attending this parish, it appears to them to be expedient, that a particular district should be assigned to the last-mentioned chapel at Muker, under the provisions of the sixteenth section of an Act, passed in the fifty-ninth year of the reign of His Majesty King George the Third, intituled "An Act to amend and render more effectual an Act, passed in the last session of Parliament, for building, and promoting the building, of additional churches in populous parishes;" and that such district should be named, "The Chapelry District of Muker," with boundaries as follows:

"The district chapelry of Muker is to consist of the westernmost part of the parish of Grinton, and is bounded on the east by the chapelry of Melbecks, in the said parish of Grinton; on the north east by the parishes of Arkengarthdale and Bowes; on the north by the parish of Brough; on the north west and west by the parish of Kirkby Stephen; and on the south west and south by the parish of Aysgarth, as shewn on the map, and thereon coloured pink:

"That marriages, baptisms, churchings, and burials should continue to be solemnized and performed in the said chapel; and that the fees arising therefrom should belong to and be received by the Vicar of the said parish:

"That the consent of the Lord Bishop of Ripon has been obtained thereto, as required by the above-mentioned section of the said Act, passed in the fifty-ninth year of His Majesty King George the Third; in testimony whereof, the said Lord Bishop has signed and sealed this present instrument:

"Your Majesty's Commissioners, therefore, beg leave to lay before your Majesty the before-mentioned circumstances, and humbly pray, that your Majesty will be graciously pleased to take the premises into your royal consideration, and to make such order in respect thereto as to your Majesty in your royal wisdom shall seem meet."

Her Majesty, having taken the said representation, together with the map thereunto annexed, into consideration, was pleased, by and with the advice of Her Privy Council, to approve thereof, and to order, as it is hereby ordered, that the proposed assignment be accordingly made, and the recommendations of the said Commissioners, in respect of the solemnization of marriages, baptisms, churchings, and burials, and the fees arising therefrom, be carried into effect, agreeably to the provisions of the said Acts.
