Whitehall, June 29.

E received this morning an Account that the Earl of Feversham Lieutenant-General of his Majesties Forces, having notice that the Rebels were going to Philipsnorton, he marched from Bath on Saturday last very early, with intention to fall upon their Rear, and for that purpose advanced with a Detachement of 500 Foot commanded by the Duke of Grafton, and of Dragoons, and Horse Grenadiers, leaving the rest of the Forces to follow with the Cannon; And coming to a Lane that leads into Philipfnorton, he heard some Musquet-shots, and thereupon detached 20 of the Horse-Guards with the Company of Foot Granadiers of the Duke of Grafton's Regiment to go into that Lane to discover what it was; The Lane was soon after lined on both sides with Foot and Horse behind the Hedges, who made a very great Fire upon our men; The Duke of Grafton was with them, and went as far as the Gate of the Town with as much courage and resolution as can be ex-pressed; but the Enemy continuing their fire, he retired, and in his retreat was stopt by some of the Rebels Horse, but he passed not withstanding through Captain Hawley who commanded the Grenadiers, did all that a Good Officer could do, and Captain Parker and Captain Vaughan who were there, carried themselves with all the Vigor imaginable, the latter killing Captain Matthews who it's thought commanded the Rebels; and all the Officers and Soldiers in general behaved themselves extreamly well. We lust in this action 8 or 9 men, besides 30 wounded, among which there was not one Officer; Of the Volontiers Mr May was killed, and Mr. Seymour woulded. The rest of the Kings Forces being come up, my Lord Feversham went off from that place and drew up the Army in good order upon a little Hill hard by, the Rebels planted their Cannon (they having fix Picces)and played upon them for two hours, but without doing them the least damage; and my Lord Fever-sham planted likewise his Cannon, which, as he was afterwards informed, did very much incommode the Rebels. The Kings Forces staid there till fix in the Evening, it raining very hard all the time; upon which my Lord Feversham marched to Brad-ford, where he staid the next day to refresh his Proops: Colonel Oglethorpe was sent out with 100 Horse to observe the Rebels, who reported, that th y marched Saturday night to Frome, and that he met a Gentleman coming from Philippno ton, who told him the Rebels may loft a great many men in this action, and that one Colonel Matthews had been killed been killed.

Whitehall, Fune 30. The three Scotch Regiments, which were lately fent from Holland to Scotland, being countermanded upon the suppressing of the Rebels in that Kingdom, are arrived this morning at Gravelend. And the three English Regiments in the Service of the States General of the United Provinces, are hourly expected from Holland.

Whitehall, July 1. We are informed that the Rebels rested all Sunday at Frome, and on Monday began to march towards Warmister, but afterwards turned westward towards Suppton-Mallet. The Kings Forces marched on Monday to Westbury, and from thence on Tuesday to Frome or farther to follow the Rebels.

Edenburgh, June 26. This week have been brought in here above 120 of the Rebels Prisoners, among which are four Dutchmen, one of them a Printer, and more are daily taken and carried to other places.

This day Rumbold was brought to his Tryal for having come over with the late Earl of Argyle, and made a Rebellion in this Kingdom, of which being found Guilty, Sentence past upon him as in cases of High-Treason; and accordingly he was this afternoon drawn upon a Hurdle to the Cross, and there Hanged and Quartered.

Tuesday next is appointed for the Execution of the late Earl of Argyle; whose Son Charles, having been lest sick in Argyleshire, is since dead.

Venice, June 18. We have advice that the Popes Gallies and those of Tuscans and Maltha have joyned the Fleet of this State, which was preparing to sail towards the Levans. The Turkish Fleet is at Sea consisting of 60 Gallies and 20 Men of War, but, it's said they are very ill manned. The great Ship launched here the sast week with the new Man of War called the St. Foseph, and six Galiots, will sail in three or four days to the Fleet. They write from Dalmatis that the Bassa of Bossina hath represented to the Port that he cannot march with the Troops under his command for Hungary, without leaving that Country exposed to the incursions of the Morlaques, and that he expects farther orders from the Grand Signior thereupon before he begins his march.

Madrid, June 21. The 9th Inflant in the Evening the Duke de Medina Celi received a command from the King to retire within 14 hours to Cogoliudo,
