TUESDAY, DECEMBER 18, 1849.

Lord Chamberlain's Office, December 18, 1849.

ORDERS for the Court's change of Mourning on Sunday the 6th of January 1850, for Her late Majesty the Queen Dowager; viz.:

The Ladies to wear black silk, fringed or plain linen or muslin, white gloves, black or white shoes, fans, and tippets, white necklaces and ear-rings; no diamonds.

The Gentlemen to wear black, full-trimmed, fringed or plain linen, black swords and buckles.

The Court to change the Mourning further on Sunday the 13th of January 1850; viz.:

The Ladies to wear black silk or velvet-coloured ribbons, fans and tippets.

The Gentlemen to continue in black, and to wear coloured swords and buckles.

And on Sunday the 20th of January 1850, the Court to go out of Mourning.

Lord Chamberlain's Office, December 18, 1849.

It is the intention of the Queen and that of the Royal Family to continue their Mourning for Her late Majesty the Queen Dowager until the 13th of March 1850, changing to Half Mourning upon the 13th of February 1850.

Whitehall, December 18, 1849.

The following Addresses of condolence to the Queen, on the occasion of the death of Her late Majesty Queen Adelaide, having been transmitted to the Right Honourable Sir George Grey, Bart. Her Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the Home Department; for presentation, were presented accordingly to Her Majesty, who was pleased to receive the same very graciously:

To the QUEEN'S Most Excellent Majesty.

May it please your Majesty,

WE, the Mayor, Aldermen, and Burgesses, of the borough of Liverpool, in council assembled, beg to approach your Majesty with the expression of our sincere and heartfelt sorrow for the loss which your Majesty and the people of these kingdoms have sustained by the lamented death of Her Majesty the Queen Dowager. The virtues which adorned the private life of this illustrious Lady, the rectitude of her public conduct, and the munificence with which she supported every object calculated to promote the interests of true charity, and to extend the knowledge and influence of religious principles, all endeared her to your Majesty's loyal subjects, and render her loss an occasion of general and unaffected sorrow. Whilst we approach your Majesty with our sincere condolence and our deepest sympathy, we at the same time venture to express our earnest hope that your Majesty may be long spared to perpetuate the virtues which distinguished Queen Adelaide, and to reign in the hearts of a loyal and devoted people.

Signed on behalf of the Council of the borough of Liverpool.

John Holmes, Mayor.
