Smithfield Market Removal Bill.

IN compliance with a resolution of the Select Committee on Standing Orders, agreed to by the Honourable the House of Commons on the eleventh day of March instant, notice is hereby given, that a Bill has been brought into that Honourable House, intituled "A Bill for providing a Metropolitan Market, and conveniences connected therewith, in lieu of the Cattle Market at Smithfield;" and that by such Bill it is proposed to apply for powers to enable the Commissioners, to be thereunder appointed, to provide, build, and maintain, in such situation as may appear to them convenient for the purpose, places for holding a Cattle Market, in lieu of the Market now holden in Smithfield, and a meat market, with slaughter-houses, and lairs for cattle brought to such Cattle Market, or intended to be slaughtered in such slaughter-houses; and to provide, build, and maintain such pens, stalls, shops, buildings, and conveniences for the purposes of the said markets, slaughter-houses, and lairs as the Commissioners may think necessary; and to make and maintain all necessary and convenient roads and approaches to and from the market-places, slaughter-houses, and lairs to be provided as aforesaid, and, with the consent of the owner of any existing road, or of the persons in whom the management thereof may by law be vested, to widen and improve such existing road for facilitating ingress and egress to and from such market-places, slaughter-houses, and lairs, and to purchase, by agreement, such lands as the said Commissioners may deem necessary for the purposes aforesaid; and also to fix a table of tolls and payments to be demanded and taken for or in respect of cattle, horses, and meat brought into or exposed for sale in the said markets, and for or in respect of the use of pens, lairs, and conveniences to be provided under the said Bill, and from time to time to vary such table of tolls and payments as to the said Commissioners may seem fit; and also powers for one of Her Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, after such market-places and slaughter-houses shall have been provided, to notify the same, and the time when such market-places and slaughter-houses will be opened, and that from the time so mentioned Smithfield Market will cease to be a market for the sale of cattle and horses, and the markets for the sale of cattle, horses, and meat are to be holden in the respective places provided under the said Bill, and such markets are to be deemed to be public markets; and no new market for the sale of cattle or horses is to be opened in the city of London or Westminster, or the liberties thereof, or the borough of Southwark, or at any place distant less than five miles in a straight line from Saint Paul's cathedral; and that such bill will operate to vary or extinguish all existing tolls, rights, or privileges taken or enjoyed in respect of Smithfield Market, and all other existing rights or privileges in any way affecting the maintaining and user of the market to be established under the said Bill; and that it is intended to proceed with such Bill with a view to pass the same in the present session of Parliament.

Dated this 14th day of March 1851.
