

in the said parish of Whitby; and of the township of Godeland, in the said parish of Pickering; and further that such proposed consolidated chapelry should be named or called 'The Consolidated Chapelry of Grosmont,' with boundaries as hereinafter mentioned:

"The boundaries of the consolidated chapelry of Grosmont commence on the north bank of the river Esk, where Hilda's Beck, which there divides the said parish of Lyth from the said parish of Whitby, falls into the same, and pursue the course of such beck in a northerly direction as far as the high road leading from the village of Aislaby to the village of Egton, and then follow such high road in a westerly direction to the point where a certain beck, called Pithill Beck, crosses the same road from north to south, running down a hollow, called Greendale, towards the river Esk, and then follow the course of the said Pithill Beck in a southerly direction as far as a certain bridge, called Cat Scar Bridge, and from thence in a south-westerly direction to a certain hill, called Friar Hill, then proceed in a westerly direction along the northern boundaries of Grosmont Hags and Beck Side Farms as far as a certain beck, called Far Carr Beck, which there divides the estate of Robert Cary Elwes, Esquire, from the estate of Richard Smith, Esquire, then follow the course of such beck till it falls into the river Esk, from thence up the midstream of the said river Esk westerly to where a certain beck, called Blue Beck, falls into such river from the south, and ascending the course of such beck southerly to the point where the high road from Grosmont to Egton Bridge is joined by the high road from Egton to Pickering, and thence along such last mentioned road in a southerly direction to the place where a certain beck, called Buby Beck, crosses the said road, then follow the course of such beck in a south-easterly direction till it falls into the Mirk Esk river, thence up the midstream of the said Mirk Esk river (which there divides the said parish of Lyth from the said parish of Pickering) to a point opposite the high road to Sill Hows, in the said parish of Pickering, and leading from the foot of the inclined plane on the line of the Whitby and Pickering Railway, from thence along the said Sill Hows road in a north-easterly direction past Beck Hole, in the said parish of Pickering, as far as a place called Green End, from thence, in nearly the same direction, along the south-east or outside line of boundary of the old enclosed lands, in the said township of Godeland, to their extremity at a beck called Lythe Beck, which there divides the said parish of Pickering from the said parish of Whitby, then crosses such beck into the said parish of Whitby, and passes along in nearly the same direction along the outside boundary of the old enclosed lands at Fairhead, in the said township of Eskdaleside, to a beck called Holey Gill Beck, then follow the course of such beck northerly till it falls into the river Esk, from thence down the midstream of the said river Esk easterly (which there divides the said parish of Whitby from the said parish of Lyth) to its junction with Hilda's Beck, where the boundaries of the said consolidated chapelry of Grosmont commenced, and as the same is more particularly delineated on the map or plan hereunto annexed, and thereon coloured red, yellow, and blue.

"That the consents of the Right Honourable and Most Reverend Thomas, Archbishop of the said diocese of York, and also patron, in right of his see, of the parish churches of the said parishes of Lyth and Whitby, of the Very Reverend William Cockburn, Doctor in Divinity, Dean of the cathedral church of Saint Peter, York, and patron, in right of his deanery, of the parish church of the said parish of Pickering, have been respectively obtained to the proposed formation of the said consolidated chapelry of Grosmont, as required by the Act and section hereinbefore mentioned, in testimony whereof the said Thomas, Archbishop of York, and William Cockburn have signed and sealed this representation.

"Your Majesty's said Commissioners beg leave further to represent to your Majesty that it has been mutually agreed between the said Thomas, Archbishop of York, and William Cockburn, as such respective patrons as aforesaid (testified as aforesaid), with the approbation of your Majesty's said Commissioners (testified as hereinafter mentioned), and of the said Thomas, Archbishop of York (testified as aforesaid), that the right of presentation and appointment of an incumbent or perpetual curate to serve the said church of Saint Matthew at Grosmont should be vested in, belong to, and, whenever occasion may require, be exercised by, the said Thomas, Archbishop of York, and his successors, archbishops of York, for ever.

"Your Majesty's said Commissioners therefore humbly pray that your Majesty will be graciously pleased to take the premises into your royal consideration, and to make such Order in respect thereto as to your Majesty in your royal wisdom shall seem meet."

Her Majesty, having taken the said representation, together with the map or plan thereunto annexed, into consideration, was pleased, by and with the advice of Her Privy Council, to approve thereof, and to order, as it is hereby ordered, that the proposed formation into one consolidated chapelry be accordingly made, and the agreement in respect of the right of presentation and appointment of an incumbent or perpetual curate to serve the said church of Saint Matthew, at Grosmont, be carried into effect, agreeably to the provisions of the said Acts; and Her Majesty, by and with the like advice, is pleased to direct that this Order be forthwith registered by the Registrar of the diocese of York.

AT the Court at Buckingham-Palace, the 5th day of April 1852,

PRESENT,

The QUEEN's Most Excellent Majesty in Council.

WHEREAS there was this day read at the Board a report from the General Board of Health, dated the twenty-fourth day of March one thousand eight hundred and fifty-two, in the words following; that is to say:

"To the Queen's Most Excellent Majesty.

"We, the General Board of Health, appointed for the purposes of the Public Health Act, 1848, have, in pursuance of the provisions of that Act, upon the petition of not less than one-tenth of the inhabitants rated to the relief of the poor of and within the parish of Havant, in the county of Southampton (the number of the said petitioners greatly exceeding thirty in the whole), directed Robert Rawlinson, a superintending inspector, appointed for the purposes of the said Public Health Act, to visit the said parish, and to make public inquiry, and to examine witnesses as to the sewerage, drainage, and supply of water, the state of the burial grounds, the number and sanitary condition of the
