

Snaith and of the Master, Fellows, and Scholars of Trinity-college, Cambridge, patrons of the parish church of the said parish of Kellington, have been severally obtained to the formation of the said consolidated chapelry of Hensall, as required by the Act and section hereinbefore mentioned, in testimony whereof the said Thomas, Archbishop of York, and Yarburgh Yarburgh, have signed and sealed this representation, and the said Master, Fellows, and Scholars have hereto affixed their common seal.

"Your Majesty's said Commissioners beg leave further to represent that it has been mutually agreed between the said Yarburgh Yarburgh and the said Master, Fellows, and Scholars, as such respective patrons as aforesaid, testified as aforesaid, and the Right Honourable William Henry, Viscount Downe (in whom, his heirs and assigns, the right of presentation and appointment of a minister to serve the said church of Saint Paul, at Hensall aforesaid, is now vested, under the powers contained in the twenty-third section of the Act of Parliament firstly hereinbefore mentioned, as amended by the fourth section of an Act of Parliament passed in the eleventh and twelfth years of your Majesty's reign, intituled, 'An Act to amend the law relative to the assignment of ecclesiastical districts,') testified by his signing and sealing this representation (with the approbation of your Majesty's said Commissioners, testified as hereinafter mentioned, and of the said Thomas, Archbishop of York, testified as aforesaid), that the right of presentation and appointment of an incumbent or perpetual curate, to serve the said church of Saint Paul at Hensall aforesaid should be vested in, belong to, and, whenever occasion may require, be exercised by, the said William Henry, Viscount Downe, his heirs and assigns, for ever.

"Your Majesty's said Commissioners beg leave also to represent that, having taken into further consideration the said parish of Snaith, it appears to them to be expedient that particular districts should be assigned to the consecrated churches of Saint John, situate at Balne, and of the Holy Trinity, situate at East Cowick, both within the said parish of Snaith, under and by virtue of the power or authority contained in the sixteenth section of an Act, passed in the fifty-ninth year of the reign of His Majesty King George the Third, intituled 'An Act to amend and render more effectual an Act, passed in the last session of Parliament, for building and promoting the building of additional churches in populous parishes,' and in the third section of an Act, passed in the session of Parliament holden in the second and third years of your Majesty's reign, intituled 'An Act to make better provision for the assignment of ecclesiastical districts to churches or chapels augmented by the Governors of the Bounty of Queen Anne, and for other purposes,' and of all other powers in this behalf contained in the Church Building Acts, and that such proposed districts should be named 'The District Chapelry of Balne,' and 'The District Chapelry of East Cowick,' and that the boundaries thereof should be those hereinafter mentioned; that is to say: The district chapelry of Balne commences at the north-west corner of the township of Balne, at the point where the Balne Moor-road joins the Askern and Selby turnpike-road; thence, eastwardly, along the boundary between the townships of Balne, Whitley, and Hech, to the boundary between the townships of Pollington and Hech; thence, northwardly and north-eastwardly, along the last-mentioned boundary to the boundary-line between the townships of Pollington and Gowdall, thence, eastwardly and north-eastwardly, along the last-mentioned boundary to the boundary between the townships of Pollington and Snaith and Cowick, thence along the last-mentioned boundary to the road leading from the township of Pollington to Baln Croft; thence, in an eastwardly direction along the last-mentioned road, to a point on the north side of the Knottingley and Goole Canal, immediately opposite to, and in a line with, the boundary-fence between two closes of land in the said township of Snaith and Cowick, belonging to the Earl of Mexborough, and numbered 715 and 716 in the tithe apportionment plan for the said township of Snaith and Cowick; then southwardly across the canal and along the said last-mentioned fence to a fence now dividing a close of land in the last-mentioned township belonging to the Earl of Mexborough, and numbered 722 in the said plan, thence southwardly along the last-mentioned fence to the boundary between the townships of Snaith and Cowick and the parish of Fishlake; thence westwardly along the boundary dividing the townships of Snaith and Cowick and Pollington and Balne from the parishes of Fishlake and Campsall, to the boundary between the parish of Womersley and the township of Balne; thence northwardly along the last-mentioned boundary to the boundary between the township of Whitley and the township of Balne, thence northwardly along the last-mentioned boundary to the north-west corner of the township of Balne, at the point where the Balne Moor-road joins the Askern and Selby Turnpike-road, as such district chapelry of Balne is more particularly delineated on the map or plan hereto annexed, and thereon coloured blue.

"The district chapelry of East Cowick commences at the south bank of the River Aire, at the point where the township of Snaith and Cowick aforesaid joins the township of Rawcliffe, thence along the boundary between the said townships of Snaith and Cowick and Rawcliffe, to the fence dividing the premises in Rawcliffe, numbered 563 on the tithe apportionment plan for the said township of Rawcliffe, now or late belonging to Richard Sykes from other premises in Rawcliffe aforesaid, numbered 564 on the last-mentioned plan, also now or late belonging to the said Richard Sykes; thence along the last-mentioned fence southwardly, to the boundary between the said townships; thence eastwardly along the same boundary line to and including the toll-house and premises at Rickard Gyne; thence in a southwardly and south-eastwardly direction along the boundary line between the same townships to the township of Goole; thence southwardly along the boundary between the said townships of Snaith and Cowick and Goole, to the parish of Thorne; thence westwardly along the boundary between the said townships of Snaith and Cowick and Rawcliffe, and the said parish of Thorne, to the road from Thorne to Snaith; thence westwards in a straight line across the said road and the Dutch River to the boundary between the said township of Snaith and Cowick and the parish of Fishlake; thence westwardly along the last-mentioned boundary to the fence now dividing a close of land in the said township of Snaith and Cowick, belonging to the Earl of Mexborough, numbered 722 in the tithe apportionment plan for the township of Snaith and Cowick; thence northwardly along such last-mentioned fence to and along the fence dividing two closes of land in the said township of Snaith and Cowick, belonging to the said Earl of Mexborough, and numbered 715 and 716 in the last-mentioned tithe apportionment plan to the Knottingley and Goole Canal; thence along
