MEMBER returned to serve in the present PARLIAMENT.

County of Londonderry.

James Johnston Clarke, of Largantoher, in the county of Londonderry, Esq., in the room of Thomas Bateson, Esq., who has accepted the office of Steward of Her Majesty's Manor of Hempholme.

Whitehall, March 13, 1857.

The Queen taking into her royal consideration that, upon the decease of Digby Willoughby, seventh Baron Middleton, of Middleton, in the county of Warwick, without issue, on the fifth day of November last, the title and dignity of Baron Middleton devolved upon his cousin, Henry Willoughby, now Baron Middleton, as eldest son and heir of Henry Willoughby, of Birdsall House and of Settrington House, both in the county of York, Esquire, deceased, sometime representative in Parliament for Newark, in the county of Nottingham, who was eldest son and heir of James Willoughby, Clerk; Prebendary of Southwell, Rector of Guiseley, and Vicar of Askham Richard, both in the said county of York, also deceased, uncle of the said Digby, seventh Baron Middleton, and that according to the ordinary rules of honour the younger brothers and sisters of the said Henry now Baron Middleton, cannot enjoy that place and precedence which would have been due to them in case their late father, Henry Willoughby, had survived his cousin the said Digby, seventh Baron Middleton, and had thereby succeeded to the title and dignity of Baron Middleton, Her Majesty has been graciously pleased to ordain and declare, that Charles James Willoughby, Clerk, Rector of Wollaton-with-Cossal, in the county of Nottingham, Percival George Willoughby, Clerk, Vicar of Carlton le Moorlands with Stapleford, in the county of Lincoln, Emma, wife of Richard Beverley Machell, Clerk, Vicar of Barrow-upon-Humber, in the said county of Lincoln, and Harriet Cassandra Willoughby, spinster, brothers and sisters of the said Henry now Baron Middleton, shall henceforth have, hold, and enjoy the same title, place, pre-eminence, and precedence, as if their late father, the said Henry Willoughby, had survived his cousin, the said Digby, Baron Middleton, and had thereby succeeded to the title and dignity of Baron Middleton:

And Her Majesty has been further pleased to command that the said royal order and declaration be registered in the College of Arms.
