Time Signal for Plymouth Sound.

NOTICE is hereby given, that for the purpose of giving Greenwich Mean Time to vessels desirous of ascertaining or verifying the errors and rates of their chronometers in Plymouth Sound, a time signal is daily shown at one o'clock, P.M. by the instantaneous collapse of a cone suspended near the top of the flagstaff, in the redoubt on Mount Wise, Devonport.

This time signal is not made as usual, by the dropping of a ball, but by the collapse of a cone, which when not in use hangs in a closed state on the flagstaff. As a preparatory notice to the observer, at three minutes before one o'clock the cone is extended to its perfect shape; and at the instant of 1<sup>h</sup> P.M. of Greenwich mean time it collapses. Again, at two minutes later it is once more extended; and at the instant of 1<sup>h</sup> 5<sup>m</sup> P.M. it again collapses. The second collapse is made in order to verify the first, or in the event of its not having been noted by the observer.

The instant of Greenwich mean time is obtained by means of a chronometer, brought from the Observatory of Mr. Cox, optician, in Fore-street, Devonport, by whom it is compared immediately before leaving with a good regulator clock by Arnold; it may therefore be fairly depended upon to within one or two seconds of time. This time signal is not made on Sundays; and the present arrangement is only temporary until a connection is established by electric telegraph with the Royal Observatory at Greenwich.

This cone is of canvas, 4 $\frac{1}{2}$  feet in diameter, and painted black. It is suspended below the flag on the flagstaff, at an elevation of 175 feet above the mean level of the sea; and its collapse may be seen from most parts of Hamoaze, over the whole of Plymouth Sound, and from those parts of Catwater used by sea-going ships. It may also be seen in clear weather, with a glass, at a considerable distance outside the Breakwater when bearing between N. by W. and N. by E.

Mount Wise is the general signal station of the port, and may be known by its southern green slope; also from its proximity to St. Stephen's Church, which has a remarkably sharp spire. The position of the flagstaff on the Mount is in lat. 50° 22' N., long. 4° 10' 15", or 16<sup>m</sup> 41<sup>s</sup> West of Greenwich.

[The Bearings are Magnetic. Variation 22° 50' W. in 1861.]
