Whitehall, April 14, 1862.

THE following Address of Condolence on the occasion of the death of His Royal Highness the Prince Consort, which has been transmitted to the Right Honourable Sir George Grey, Baronet, Her Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the Home Department, has been laid before the Queen by Sir George Grey, and has been received very graciously by Her Majesty :

THE Presbytery of Uist having now met for the first time since the lamented death of the Prince Consort, unanimously agreed to seize the opportunity of sending a respectful and humble address to your gracious Majesty, in order to express our sincere and heartfelt sympathy with your Majesty and the other members of the Royal Family in the deep affliction which recently visit your Majesty.

The Presbytery of Uist, in common with the whole of your Majesty's subjects, are deeply sensible of the noble qualities of head and heart with which the late Prince Consort was endowed,—qualities which, though they enabled their possessor to leave the impress of his character on a grateful nation, yet in the nature of things could not be fully appreciated until he was removed hence.

It is, however, more especially as the pious parent of that Royal Family, whose godly example and influence are beneficially felt over the whole extent of your Majesty's dominions, that we, along with others, love to cherish Prince Albert's memory.

It is our fervent prayer to Almighty God that the bright prospect of a blessed hereafter, in God's House of Many Mansions, where there is neither sorrow nor sighing, and where loving friends shall meet to part no more for ever, may be a source of comfort and consolation to your gracious Majesty and the other members of the Royal Family during all the days of your earthly sojourn.

In name and by appointment of the Presbytery of Uist,

Rod. McDonald, Minister of South Uist, by Lochmaddy.
