*London and Birmingham Gun Barrel Proof.—
Advertisement of Alterations in proving all
Small Arms in respect to which the existing Scales of Proof are not applicable.*

New Rule and Regulation and New Scale for the Proof of all Small Arms to which the existing scales of proof, under the "Gun Barrel Act, 1855," are not applicable, made under the authority of the said Act by the two Companies in the said Act called the Gunmakers' Company and the Birmingham Company, with the approval of the Right Honourable the Earl de Grey and Ripon, Her Majesty's Secretary of State for War, in the month of February, 1864.

WHEREAS, by the interpretation clause in the said Act, the words "Small Arms," are declared to include small arms of every description, and whether of then present use or of future invention, respectively adapted for the discharge of bullets, shots, or other projectiles, in the manner therein mentioned. And whereas, since the passing of the said Act, certain small arms have been invented, to which the scale of proof in schedule B, to the said Act annexed, is not applicable, and it is desirable for the public safety, that such small arms should not be used without being duly proved. And whereas, by the 95th section of the said Act, power is given to the said two Companies, from time to time, should they deem the proof, as stated in schedule B, to the said Act annexed, insufficient, with the approval of Her Majesty's Secretary of State for War, to make any new rules and regulations and new scale of proof in that behalf. Now, therefore, the said two Companies, with the approval of the Right Honourable the Earl de Grey and Ripon, Her Majesty's Secretary of State for War, do make the following new rule and regulation, and new scale of proof, with regard to the proving of such small arms as aforesaid, that is to say, that such small arms shall be proved with such a
