SYDNEY,
Lord Chamberlain.

Marlborough House, May 19, 1864.

THE following Addresses of Congratulation to the Prince and Princess of Wales on the occasion of Her Royal Highness the Princess of Wales having given birth to a Prince, have been transmitted to Lieutenant-General Knollys, Comptroller and Treasurer of His Royal Highness' Household, to be laid before Their Royal Highnesses.

To Their Royal Highnesses the PRINCE and PRINCESS of WALES.

May it please your Royal Highnesses.

WE, Her Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, the inhabitants of the county of Berks, in County Meeting assembled, approach your Royal Highnesses with the tender of our sincere congratulations, on the birth of a Prince, the child of your affection, the future Heir to these Realms; we venture to assure you that we share in the universal joy which such an event is calculated to diffuse among all Her Majesty's subjects.

After the hearty demonstrations of affectionate loyalty which attended the celebration of your Royal Highnesses' nuptials, we feel confident that no doubt can rest in your Royal minds that the satisfaction with which your union is regarded, is as deep and ardent as the attachment which the British nation feels towards the person and house of their beloved Sovereign.

We presume to invoke the blessings of Providence upon your Royal Highnesses and the Infant Prince, and we pray that the Divine favour may be vouchsafed in abundant measure on your Royal Highnesses' persons and household.

Signed on behalf of the Meeting at Reading, in the county of Berks, the twentieth day of February, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-four.

Alteration of Lights at Holyhead Harbours.

THE Corporation of the Trinity House, London, has given Notice, that on and after the 1st day of August, 1864, the following alterations will be made in the lights at Holyhead harbours.

New Harbour Light.

A fixed red light, similar to the one heretofore shown from the light vessel, will be exhibited from a mast 84 yards from the present extremity of the breakwater, at an elevation of 40 feet above the level of high water.

A gong will be sounded during foggy weather, in like manner as is now done on board the light vessel.

A red buoy marks the spot where the extreme end of the breakwater will be when finished; vessels should pass eastward of the buoy.

The light vessel at the end of the breakwater will be removed.

At night, vessels should not steer in for the harbour until the small red light shown from the Old harbour lighthouse bears between S.S.W. $\frac{3}{4}$ W. and S.W., and in entering or leaving the harbour should keep three-quarters of a cable eastward of the light on the breakwater.

Old Harbour Light.

Also, that on and after the 1st day of August, 1864, the Old harbour light will be discontinued, and a fixed white light at an elevation of 20 feet above high water, will be shown from a tower on the end of the wooden jetty at the entrance of the Old harbour, at 167 yards E. by S. from the old tower.

The small red light will still be exhibited from the old tower, between the bearings of S.S.W. $\frac{3}{4}$ W. and S.W.; the former bearing clears the breakwater, and the latter all dangers on the east side of the bay.

[All bearings are Magnetic. Variation 24° 10' West in 1864.]
