HE following Addresses have been Presented to the King, which His Majesty received very Gracioufly.

To the King's Most Excellent Majesty,

The humble Address of Your Majesties peaceable Subjects, commonly called Anabaptists, inhabiting in Oxford, Abingdon, and Wantage, and the places adjacent in the Counties of Oxon and Berks.

May it please Your Majesty,

May it please Your Majesty,

Though it be long, yet we hope not too late, to present Tour Majesty with our Thank-Offering; and though we have been silent to Your Majesty, yet have not been dumb, but on all occasions, not only unto God, but unto Men, have acknowledged our thankfulness unto Your Majesty for Your great Bounty and Fatour, shewed unto us Your oppressed Subjects, who were under very severe Circumstances for not conforming unto the imposed discipline, and as several of us were delivered out of Goals, and other great Troubles, by Your Majesties Gracious Pardon; so by Your Majesties suparalled Declaration, we, with the rest of Your Majesties Dissenting Subjects, have had, he heavy Yoak taken off the Conscience, over which the Lord is only Soveraign, whereby none of Your Majesties Subjects are damaged, only those restrained, who under presence of zeal for Religion, shall for themselve; and others whose minds are not satisfied, unless Your Majesties Subjects betome their Slaves, upon any Offence taken against their Neighbours, seek their Revenge on the account of Religion.

Dread Soveraign! As we desire to prasse Almighty God that shall littled You on the Throne of Your Royal Ancestors, and given You an inlarged Heart towards all Your Majesties Subject, an giving them Liberty to worship God according to their Understandings of his Will revealed; and we haven made his Word our Rule to Sporship him, are taught thereby to be Obedicat to those he hath set over us, and hope he will enable us so to do; and do in all Humility present as Your Majesties Reet our than sul Acknowledgment of Your Impartial Liberality towards all Your Majesties Subjects. And that he that governs the World will bels and preserve Your Self and Royal Family, both in Soul and Body, and grant You a long and prosperous Reign over all Your Majesties Kingdoms, shall be the d-ily Prayers of, Great SIR! Your Majesties Faithful and Obedient Subjects. Signed by us, and in the behalf of many others.

To the King's Most Extellent Majesty,

The humble Address of the Masters, Wardens, Assistants, Livery, and others of the Company of Cooks in and about the City of London, and Liberties thereof.

Dread Soveraign!

Dread Soveraign!

As the bappy Effects of Your Majesties late Gracious Indulgence (Jomewhat resembling the Almighty's Manna, which suited overy Mans Palete,) are obvious to the most vulgar Eye; fince now the Current of Trade is more equally distinged through our whole Body, which before was appropriate to particular Members, Names then making only the distince, and Merit now; so we cannot but esteem it the Duty of all Your Loyal Subjects, both 4s Men and Christians, to express their Gratified for so transcendent a Favour. Amongs the rest, we, the meanest of Your People, crave leave to throw our selves at Your Royal Feet, to pass our most humble and hearty Ihanks for such those severe Laws, (that might as reasonably be ensived on the a count of Mens different Gusto's, as on the score of their various Apprehensions about the tremendous concerns of another World,) bath removed the occasion of all those Heats and Ammostics, and sumating Prosecutions that disturbed both the publick Tranquility, and almost banish'd the Comforts of private Gonversation.

Itek Transmitty, and almost banish a the Comforts of private Conversation.

This Almoght's God, who by a Series of miraculous President sions brought You to the Throre, anay wouch afe Your Maiesty a larg and happy Reign. That the Liberty we enjoy may be rendred perpetual: That the same Harmony in all Your Subjects, both of dutiful Respect to Your Majesty, and Africans to each of her, may ever construct, shall be the constant Prayers, as well as Endrawours of.

Naples, Octob. 14. The Viceroy continues in a declining condition, which gives great Apprehensions that he will not recover of his diffemper. Here have lately been Orders published against carrying of Daggers and unlawful Weapons, and an Officer of Capua being seized with one, is secured in order to make an exemplary Punishment. The new Coin that has been fo long expected here, is to be issued on the 6th of November, being the King's They write from Messina, that the Duke of Uceda had cansed the Cittadel to be view'd by the ablest Workmen, who found one of the Towers so defective; that it must be taken down if they will not have it fall. There were arrived there two Barks with Prisoners taken at Castlenevo. There has been lately a great Earthquake in Calabria, particularly about Tropaa, which was fo violent as to over-turn fome Houses, and to do great damage to others.

Venice, Nevemb. 1. The resolution of the Senate to promote General Cornaro to the Dignity of Procurator of St. Mark in Extraordinary, in confideration of his late grateful Services, having been approved the 28th past by the Grand Council; his Relations, as well to do Honour to one of their Family, who has deferved fo well of his Country, as to fnew their just esteem of this honourable Mark of the publi k Approbation of the Senate, have spared no cost in Illuminations, Entertainments, Charie ties to the Poor, and all other demonstrations of a liberal Joy; and the conferring this Title was received here with so much more general Satistaction, as there is less of Envy that accompanies the great Actions of the angient Nobility, to which the House of Carnary may pre-tend amongst the first of that Rank. There are several Advices from Zante, that confirm the taking of Atheur, there were in it about 8000 Inhabitants, who have submitted to the Venetian Government; the Strength of the place lay in the Castle, which is built on a Rocks (formerly called the Acropolis,) within the Town, (where still are some remains of the Temple of Minerva, and Lycurgus his Tower,) and the Houses are built on the Descent round about it: The Harbour to this Town, or the old Pyraus, through the Negligence of the Turks in not taking care to cleanfe it, is grown unferviceables. unless it be for smaller Vessels; it has now changed its. Name for that of Port Leone, from the Figure of a Lion wrought in Marble, that flood there; and the Town has done the fame, which is now called Setina, by an easie corruption of its later name of Atina; the Communica-tion, that was formerly made between the Town and Harbour, by two strong Walls, (which was the work of their great Captain Themostocles) is now quite demolished: And that City which was the Mother, not only of all uteful Arts and Knowledge, but even of the Religion too of those times, is now like the rest of the Turkish Conquests, overrun with their thick Ignorance, though there is that felicity in the Climate, that what Ingenuity is left in Greece is to be found there; the Athenians being still reputed the ablest Crastsmen in those inferior Trades and Professions, which the Turks only tolerate because they cannot want them, being fuch as are for the ordinary and necessary use of life; and they are almost the sole Merchants throughout all those Countries, which shews that there are still some Seeds left of their ancient Politeness and Industry, enough to create an Idea, that when they shall recover breath, under a gentle Government, and get off that rust, which long Oppression and perpetual Discouragements, have contracted; they are a People capable of making great Progress in whatever they shall annly themselve py as to furnish the World with those Originals in all Arts and Faculties, which the ingenious part of Mankind have in all Ages been copying after ever fince. By the Ship Cardenal, newly arrived from Messina, we have an account, that they met there with four French Tartans which came from the Agean Sea in 11 days, the Masters whereof report, that Negrepone was furrendred the 5th of September to General Morofini, but the Certainty, or Particulars of it are not known, there having been no Letters from the General for above these two Months. The Town of Nagrepont, which was the ancient Chacu, is fituate in the Island of Eubaa, in that part of it where it shoots out, as it were, to meet the main Land of Beotia; it is defended on the side towards Greece, by a Castle with four Towers built in an Island, which it fills lying in the middle of the Chanel, and is divided from the Town by a narrow Current not above 50 Foot over, and is join'd again above by a Draw-Bridge. The Situation of this Island makes, in part, the Wonder of the Famed Euripus, which so puzled the ancient Enquirers into the Secrets of Nature, who admired this to much the more, as they were unacquainted, by reason of the distance they lived at from the Ocean, with the regular motions and Tides there, it happing here no otherwife, the Waters Ebbing and Flowing gradually every fix hours, unless that at the full and new Moon their reciprocations aremade more incon tant, by reason that they then swell there as in other places to a greater heighth, and being forced through so itreight a Passage with great impetuofity, they visibly recoil in many places through the opposition they meet with from Rocks and Promontories that lie in the way, which gave the life to that vulgar Error, that the Sea there alter'd its Course 7 times every 24 hours: The Town and Island are said to have taken their Name from this supposed prodigy, having for some time been called Euripounte: This place was always look'd upon as the Key of Greece, that he that was the Master of it had the opportunity of making what Impressions he pleased upon the Continent. The Arms of St.-Mark are still to be seen on the Castle, which shows the Title the Venetians had to it, before they were difpossess to Mahomet the Great, in the year 1470. And we are now in daily expectation to hear in what manner General Morofine hath recovered the ancient Rights of the Republick.

Warfaw, October 17. The 6th Instant there hapned a great Fire at Oisko, where their Majesties then were, which consumed half the Town, and burnt with that ficrceness amidst Houses all of Wood according to the manner of the building here, that several Persons of Quality, and others, that attended the Court, lost all their Equipages, having scarce time to save themselves; their Majesties and the Princes were lodged at a Castle without the Town, which received no damage; they parted the next day for Sloczon on their return to Zelkiem, where the King will stay till he remove to Grodnin to be prefent at the meeting of the Diet which is to affemble there the first of January. Park, Novemb. 15. On the 13th Instant, the King, accompanied by the Dauphin, return'd to Verfaelles, whis ther the Dauphiness came two days before. The Sieur Charmell, the King's Lieutenant in the Isle of Franc', has quitted his Secular Employments to betake himfelf to a Religious Life amongst the Fithers of the Orator; to whom the hing has given leave to fell his Employments. It is faid here, that the failt thing to be deliberated on at the Diet at Prasbourg, is concerning the repartition of the new Compuefts, to determine which of them shall be anmexed to the Crown of in night; and to confider of the-Recompences and Gratifications of fuch, whole Services have been remarkable in this War. We are told that the Senators of the Kingdom of B hemia hre to affemble to Crown the Archduke their king, after the fame is done There is great Expectations to hear what the Duke of Lorrain has done at Harmanstat, where we understand that Prince Abiff is now residing; as also to know whither General Dimensional be possessed or Gradis-
