AT the Council Chamber, Whitehall, the 29th day of September, 1865.

By the Lords of Her Majesty's Most Honourable Privy Council.

PRESENT,

Duke of Somerset.
Mr. Secretary Cardwell.

WHEREAS by an Act passed in the session of the eleventh and twelfth years of Her present Majesty's reign, intituled "An Act to prevent until the 1st day of September, 1850, and to the end of the then next session of Parliament, the spreading of contagious or infectious disorders among sheep, cattle, and other animals," and which has since been from time to time continued by divers subsequent Acts, it is (amongst other things) enacted that it shall be lawful for the Lords and others of Her Majesty's Privy Council, or any two or more of them, from time to time, to make such Orders and Regulations as to them may seem necessary for the purpose of prohibiting or regulating the removal to or from such parts or places as they may designate in such Order or Orders, of sheep, cattle, horses, swine, or other animals, or of meat, skins, hides, horns, hoofs, or other parts of any animals; and to make any other Orders or Regulations for the purpose of giving effect to the provisions of the said Act, and again to revoke, alter, or vary any such Orders or Regulations; and that all provisions for any of the purposes aforesaid, in any such Order or Orders contained, shall have the like force and effect as if the same had been inserted in the said Act; and that all persons offending against the said Act shall for each and every offence forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding twenty pounds, or such smaller sum as the said Lords or others of Her Majesty's Privy Council may in any case by such Order direct:

And whereas a contagious or infectious disorder has lately appeared, and now prevails, among cattle within that part of the United Kingdom called Great Britain, which is generally designated as the "cattle plague:"

And whereas it was expedient to take measures for preventing such disorder from extending to that part of the United Kingdom called Ireland; and whereas, for such purpose, Orders were duly made in pursuance of the authority of the said Acts, by the Lords of Her Majesty's Most Honourable Privy Council, dated 25th August and 7th and 13th September, 1865; and whereas, by such Orders, the removal to any port or place, in that part of the United Kingdom called Ireland, from any port or place in that part of the United Kingdom called Great Britain, of any cow, heifer, bull, bullock, ox, or calf, and, with certain exceptions, of the skins, hides, horns, hoofs, or other parts of any of those animals, was prohibited:

And whereas there is reason to believe that the said disorder has made its appearance among sheep and lambs:

Now, therefore, the Lords of Her Majesty's Privy Council do hereby, in exercise of the powers given by the said recited Act, and by the several Acts continuing the same as aforesaid, order as follows:—

That it shall not be lawful for any person to remove any sheep or lamb, or the skin, or any other part, of any sheep or lamb, from any port or place within that part of the United Kingdom called Great Britain, to any port or place within that part of the United Kingdom called Ireland: provided, that this Order shall not extend to skins brought into Great Britain from India, South America, or Australia, and afterwards removed from Great Britain to Ireland:

And the Lords of Her Majesty's Treasury are to give such directions herein as may be necessary to insure due obedience to this Order.

Foreign Office, October 4, 1865.

THE two following Despatches have been received by Earl Russell from Her Majesty’s Consul at Rome, upon the subject of a Sanitary Notice issued by the Roman Government :—

MY LORD, Rome, September 20, 1865.

I HAVE the honour to inform your Lordship that a sanitary notice has been issued by the Papal Government which may influence the plans of British subjects visiting Rome. Enclosed is a translation and a correct copy of the original.

Anticipating difficulties in the carrying out of this measure I am now in communication with Monsignor Berardi, Under Secretary of State, and

I hope he will modify these difficulties as they may chance to arise.

I have, &c.
(Signed) JOSEPH SEVERN.

[Inclosure in preceding Despatch.]

Special Board of Health. Sanitary Notice.

Notice is hereby given to the travellers, who are not provided with official documents showing they have resided the fifteen previous entire days in a place free from Asiatic Cholera, that their baggage will be conveyed to the “ Papa Giulio Palace,” outside the Roman Gate called “ Porta del Popolo,” for the purpose of disinfecting the objects contained.

(Signed) SAGRETTI,
Vice-President.

Rome, September 9.

MY LORD, Rome, September 23, 1865.

I HAVE the honour to inform your Lordship that Monsignor Sagretti has answered my questions about the sanitary notice contained in my last Despatch.

He now explains that the sojourning cities exempt from cholera, which will insure travellers against their baggage being taken at Rome for disinfection, are Leghorn, Florence, Perugia, or Naples, and any of the intermediate towns free of infection. And, further, he makes me the concession that he will be satisfied with any documents proving the fifteen previous days residence—even hotel bills.

Yet withal I can see clearly that this sanitary measure must soon fall into disuse from its very inconclusiveness.

Persons arriving from Ancona are not permitted to enter the Papal States.

I have, &c.,

NATIONAL PORTRAIT EXHIBITION IN 1866.

The Lords of the Committee of Council on Education have determined to hold a National Portrait Exhibition at South Kensington, in the Arcades overlooking the Royal Horticultural Society's Gardens, which will be opened in April, 1866.

This Exhibition is based upon the suggestions made by the Earl of Derby, in a letter dated 6th May, 1865, from which the following extracts are made:—

"I have long thought that a National Portrait Exhibition, chronologically arranged, might not only possess great historical interest, by bringing together portraits of all the most eminent contemporaries of their respective eras, but might also serve to illustrate the progress and condition, at various periods, of British Art. My idea, therefore, would be to admit either portraits of eminent men, though by inferior or unknown artists, or portraits by eminent artists, though of obscure or unknown individuals. I have, of course, no means of knowing, or estimating, the number of such portraits which may exist in the country; but I am persuaded that, exclusive of the large collections in many great houses, there are very many scattered about by ones and twos and threes in private families, the owners of which, though they could not be persuaded to part with them, would willingly spare them for a few months for a public object."

"The question of one, two, or three exhibitions in consecutive years, would, I apprehend, be mainly decided by the result of future inquiries as to the probable number of pictures which could be obtained, and the space which could be found for their exhibition. But whether the period over which each exhibition (if more than one) should range, be longer or shorter, the point on which I should set the greatest value, in an historical, if not in an artistic point of view, would be the strict maintenance of the chronological series. I shall be very happy if any suggestion of mine should lead the Committee of Council to take up seriously, and carry out, with such alterations of detail as experience might suggest, a scheme which I think could hardly fail of being generally interesting: and I should have much pleasure in placing temporarily at their disposal any portraits from my collection at Knowsley which they might think suitable for their purpose."

My Lords have constituted a Committee of Advice, consisting of the Trustees of the National Portrait Gallery, and other noblemen and gentlemen, as follows:—

special charge of directing the Exhibition, and Mr. Sketchley will act as Secretary.

By order of the Lords of the Committee of Council on Education.

Arrangements approved for the Exhibition.

1. The exhibition is specially designed to illustrate English history, and the progress of art in England. It may be divided into two or three sections representing distinct historic periods exhibited in successive years, depending upon the number of the portraits received and the space available for their proper exhibition.

2. It will comprise the portraits of persons of every class who have in any way attained eminence or distinction in England, from the date of the earliest authentic portraits to the present time; but will not include the portraits of living persons, or portraits of a miniature character.

3. In regard to art, the works of inferior painters representing distinguished persons will be admitted; while the acknowledged works of eminent artists will be received, though the portrait is unknown or does not represent a distinguished person.

4. The portraits of foreigners who have attained eminence or distinction in England will also be included, with portraits by foreign artists which represent persons so distinguished.

5. The exhibition will be held at South Kensington in the spacious brick building used for the Refreshment Rooms of the International Exhibition in 1862; and these galleries, which are perfectly dry, will be fitted up especially for the exhibition, and patrolled day and night by the police.

6. All charges for the conveyance of pictures accepted for exhibition by the Committee will be defrayed by the Department of Science and Art.

7. The exhibition will be opened early in April, 1866. The portraits, for the purpose of proper arranging and cataloguing, will be received not later than the second week in February; and will be returned at the end of August at the latest; but though the exhibition will continue open till that time, any owner who requires the return of his contributions at the end of July, will have them forwarded to him at once.

8. In accordance with the usual practice, the Science and Art Department, unless the owner objects, will take photographs of such portraits as may be useful for instruction in the Schools of Art, and allow them to be sold in the Museum; but no permission will be granted to any private person to photograph, without the owner's express sanction. Two copies of each photograph taken will be presented to the owner of the picture photographed.

9. As was the case at the Exhibitions of 1851 and 1862 (and as is usual at the Royal Academy and other exhibitions), the Department cannot be responsible for loss or damage, but every possible care will be taken of works lent; and it may be added that the numerous paintings lent for exhibition in 1862 were collected and returned by the same agency as will be now employed, free from any injury or damage of any kind.

10. All correspondence marked on the cover "National Portrait Exhibition," should be addressed to the Secretary of the Science and Art Department, South Kensington Museum, London, W.
