

Justices of the Peace for the county of Carnarvon, assembled at the Hilary Quarter Sessions held at Carnarvon, in and for the said county, on Thursday, the 4th day of January, 1866, do now by this notice order and declare, that it is expedient that until the 1st day of March next no cow, heifer, bull, bullock, ox, calf, sheep, or swine, or any hides, skins, horns, or hoofs of any such animals shall be removed or taken from any part or parts of the county of Carnarvon lying to the east of the River Conway into any other part or parts of the same county for any purpose, or under any conditions whatever. And further, that until such 1st day of March next no such animal or article as before defined shall be removed or taken to any market or fair within any part of the said county for the purpose of exhibition or sale, and that no such animals or articles as before defined shall be brought into the said county, or any part thereof, from any place or places whatsoever (except that cattle, sheep, and pigs, for immediate slaughter may be brought into the said county from any part of the county of Anglesey), except the parish of Holyhead.

Provided that it shall not be unlawful for any person to send or carry any such animals by railway without stoppage through our said county.

Every person offending against the above Order is liable to a penalty of not exceeding £20.

By the Court.

CATTLE PLAGUE.

Cambridgeshire to wit.

At the General Quarter Sessions of the Peace holden at the County Courts in and for the county of Cambridge, on Thursday, the 4th day of January, in the year of our Lord 1866, before Thomas St. Quintin, Esquire, Chairman, and the Right Honourable Charles Philip, Earl of Hardwicke, William Parker Hamond, and Edward Hicks, Esquires, and others their companions, Justices of our Lady the Queen, assigned to keep the Peace within the said county, and also to hear and determine divers felonies, trespasses, and other misdeeds in the said county done and committed.

By virtue of the powers given to Courts of Quarter Sessions by the Order of Her Majesty's Most Honourable Privy Council, dated the 16th day of December last, this Court doth hereby declare that, with the view of preventing the spread of the Cattle Plague, it is expedient, and doth hereby order that, from and after the 8th day of January, 1866, until the 1st day of March next, no cow, bull, bullock, or calf, sheep, lamb, goat, or swine shall be brought to any market or fair within this county, for the purpose of exhibition or sale, and that no cow, bull, bullock, or calf, sheep, lamb, goat, or swine, shall be allowed to travel along the highways within this county, without a permit in writing, signed by two Justices of the Peace (except in cases of occupiers removing their cattle from one part of their farm to another, within a distance of two miles, and in cases of cows going to the bull or sows to the boar), such permit to be produced for inspection on demand; and no such removal shall take place between the hours of sun-set and sun-rise, nor unless such stock shall have been on the premises from which they are removed for a period of twenty-eight days previously.

And this Court doth hereby give notice that all persons offending against the provisions of the above Order, shall, for each and every offence forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding £20.

By the Court,

Evans, Clerk of the Peace.

CATTLE PLAGUE.

Breconshire Epiphany Quarter Sessions, 1866.

In pursuance of the Orders of the Lords of Her Majesty's Most Honourable Privy Council, dated the 23rd day of November, and the 16th day of December, 1865, with reference to the contagious and infectious disorder now prevailing among cattle, it is deemed expedient by the magistrates assembled at the Epiphany General Quarter Sessions of the county of Brecon, in 1866, to prevent the removal of any cow, heifer, bull, bullock, ox, or calf, to any market or fair or to any place whatever within the county of Brecon, for the purpose of exhibition or sale until the 1st day of March next.

And it is further ordered by the court that it shall not be lawful for any person from the date of this Notice, until the said 1st day of March next, to bring or send any such animal as aforesaid, from any other place in Great Britain, into any place within the county of Brecon.

Every person offending herein will for every such offence, forfeit a sum not exceeding £20.

Provided always that nothing contained in these Orders shall be held to prohibit any person from bringing or sending to any butcher within this jurisdiction, any fat stock, bona fide purchased within the county of Brecon by such butcher, provided such fat stock shall be slaughtered within forty-eight hours of such bringing or sending.

By the Court,

Edward Williams, Clerk of the Peace of the County of Brecon.

CATTLE PLAGUE.

At the General Quarter Session of the Peace of our Lady the Queen, holden at Petworth, in and for the county of Sussex, on Thursday, the 4th day of January, in the 29th year of the reign of our Sovereign Lady Victoria, by the Grace of God of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland Queen, Defender of the Faith, and in the year of our Lord 1866, before John Morgan Cobbett, Esquire, the Honorable John Jervis Carnegie, and other their fellows, Justices of our said Lady the Queen, assigned to keep the Peace in the said county, and also to hear and determine divers felonies, trespasses, and other ill deeds done and committed in the county aforesaid.

This Court doth declare, in pursuance of the Order of Her Majesty's Privy Council of the 16th day of December, 1865, that it is expedient that henceforth until the 1st day of March now next coming, no person shall drive or conduct any cow, heifer, bull, bullock, ox, or calf to or from the parish of Slindon, in the county of Sussex, or drive or conduct any such animal through or by way of such parish, unless the person so removing, driving, or conducting such animal shall have first obtained a certificate, in writing, signed by two or more Justices of the said county, that such removal, driving, or conducting may take place without danger of spreading the cattle disease.
