

city and borough for the purpose of being buried; and provided such animal be thereupon instantly buried.

5th. Provided further that nothing in this Order shall make it unlawful to remove between the hours aforesaid any meat, free from disease, which has been bought or sold by retail for consumption in the open market, or at any of the butchers' shops, stalls, or standings in the said city and Borough.

6th. Lastly, this Order is to be read and construed as supplementary to the orders published by me, dated respectively the 22nd day of December, 1865, and the 1st day of January, 1866, and the said last-mentioned orders are hereby so far altered as that they shall not nor shall either of them justify the doing of any act or thing hereby prohibited, but in all other respects the same orders remain in full force and are hereby confirmed.

And I hereby give further notice that every person offending against this notice and order will, for every such offence, forfeit any sum not exceeding £20, which the Justices before whom he or she shall be convicted may think fit to impose.

Given under my hand at the said city and borough, this 22nd day of January, 1866.

(Signed)

W. Maysmor Williams, Mayor.

CATTLE PLAGUE.

Borough of Bolton.

I, THE undersigned, Richard Stockdale, Mayor of the borough of Bolton, in the county of Lancaster, being the local authority in and for the said borough, as defined by an Order of the Lords of Her Majesty's Privy Council, dated the 16th day of December, 1865, do by virtue of the said Order, and of a previous Order in Council, dated the 23rd day of November, 1865, hereby declare, that with a view to prevent the spreading of the disorder now prevailing in Great Britain, which is generally designated the "Cattle Plague," it is expedient that on and from the 27th day of January, 1866, and until the 1st day of March next, no cow, heifer, bull, bullock, ox, or calf, shall be brought or sent from any part of Great Britain into any place within the said borough, except as provided by the said Orders in Council, or under the conditions hereinafter specified. And also, that it is expedient for the time aforesaid, to prevent the removal of any such animal to any market or fair, or to any place whatever within the said borough, for the purpose of exhibition or sale, except under the conditions aforesaid.

And I do hereby give notice, that it will not be lawful on and after the said 27th day of January instant and until the 1st day of March next, for any person, except as provided by the said Orders in Council, or in accordance with the conditions hereinafter specified, to bring or send any such animal as aforesaid from any place in Great Britain beyond the said borough into any place within the said borough, or to bring or send any such animal as aforesaid to any market or fair, or to any place within the said borough, for the purpose of exhibition or sale.

And I do hereby declare, that the condition under which any such animal may be brought to any place within the said borough, shall be as follows, viz. :—

Any fat cow, heifer, bull, bullock, ox, or calf, may be brought within the limits of the said borough if it be then free from the said disorder,

No. 23063.

B

and be accompanied by a certificate signed by an Inspector authorised to act under the said Orders, certifying that such animal is free from such disorder, and be taken direct to some place within the said borough for immediate slaughter, provided always, that a duplicate of such certificate must in every case be delivered to the Superintendent of Police for the said borough forthwith, after such animal shall be brought within the limits thereof, and no certificate shall be in force for any longer period than four days from the date thereof.

Every person acting in contravention of this notice, will be liable for each offence to a penalty not exceeding £20.

Dated this 20th day of January, 1866.

Rd. Stockdale, Mayor.

CATTLE PLAGUE.

City of Bristol.

WHEREAS I, Joseph Abraham, Esquire, Mayor of the City of Bristol, being the local authority within the said city, under the Order of Her Majesty's Privy Council, dated the 23rd day of November, 1865, did, on the 4th day of December last, issue the following Order, to wit :—

"I, Joseph Abraham, Esquire, Mayor of the city of Bristol, being the local authority within the said city, under the Order of Her Majesty's Privy Council, dated the 23rd day of November, 1865, do hereby give notice that, from and after the publication hereof, and until the 1st day of February next, no person shall bring or send, or cause to be brought or sent, any cow, heifer, bull, bullock, ox, or calf, into the cattle market in the said city, or into any other place within my jurisdiction, except for the purpose of being there sold for immediate slaughtering; and every such animal so brought or sent shall, before being allowed to leave the said market or place, and although such animal may not have been sold, be marked in the following manner, videlicet, by clipping the hair off the end of the tail of such animal, and the officers of the said market shall cause such mark to be duly made on all such animals as shall be brought into or sold in the said market, and no person shall buy or sell, or cause to be bought or sold, any such animal in the said market or place, except for immediate slaughtering. And I further give notice, that every person offending against this Order will be liable for every offence to forfeit any sum not exceeding £20.

And whereas it is expedient that the said Order should be continued and remain in force from the said 1st day of February next, until the 1st day of March next.

Now I, the said Joseph Abraham, Esquire, Mayor of the city of Bristol, being the local authority within the said city, under the Order of Her Majesty's Privy Council, dated the 23rd day of November, 1865, do hereby give notice that the said Order is continued, and will remain in force from the said 1st day of February next until the said 1st day of March next.

Joseph Abraham, Mayor.

Council House, Bristol,
23rd, January, 1866.

CATTLE PLAGUE.

Lancashire to wit.

At the General Quarter Session of the Peace, held by adjournment at Lancaster, in and for the