Sheffield, and Lincolnshire Railway (Extension to Liverpool) Act, 1865.;" and fifthe Manchester, Sheffield, and Lincolnshire Railway, (New Lines) Act (1866; "and (to confer on, the Committee all necessary powers in relation thereto rear our me ...To enable the Committee to acquire, by compulsion or agreement, for station and other purposes, certain lands and hereditaments in the borough of Liverpool, in the county of Lancaster, bounded on the southerly side, thereof, by a certain street or road called Bold-street, on the westerly side thereof by another certain road or street called Ranelagh street and Waterloo-place, on the northerly side thereof by land and buildings belonging to the Manchester, Sheffield, and Lincolnshire, the Great, Northern, and Midland Railway Companies, or the Committee appointed by those three Railway Companies, and on the easterly sidex thereofy by a certain lane of street called Lyceum-place; and also certain lands for station and other purposes, in the township of Didsbury, in the parish of Manchester, in the county of Lancaster, belonging to Gibbon Bayley Worthington, Esq., or his trustees, bounded on the goutherly, side [thereof] by the Stockport, Timperley, and Altrincham Junction Railway, on the northerly, easterly, and westerly sides thereof by land belonging to Edward William Watkin, Esq., and numbered 12 in the deposited plans of the Stockport, Timperley, and Altrincham Junc, tion Railway. And also certain other lands in the township of Etchells, in the parish of North-enden, and in the township and parish of Northenden, both in the county of Chester, also belonging to the said Gibbon Bayley Worthington, Esq., or his trustees; bounded on the southerly side by the said Stockport, Timperley, and Altrincham Junction Railway; on the westerly side by the highway or road leading from Cheadle to North-enden, both in the county of Chester, and on the northerly and easterly sides by land belonging to the said Edward. Williams Watkins Esq. and numbered 2 in the said deposited plans of the said Stockport, Timperley, and Altrincham Junction Railway ; and to yest, such lands in the Company, without the power of pre-emption to the owners of the lands from which the same were purchased. a railway wholly in the township of Helsby and parish of Frodsham, with all necessary works and conveniences, commencing in the said township of Helsby by a junction with the authorised West Cheshire Railway, at or near the point where the said railway No. 6 crosses over the said turnpike road leading from Frodsham to Chester aforesaid, at the westerly side of the said road in the said township of Helsby, at a point three miles, two furlongs, two chains, and fifty links. or thereabouts, measured on the said deposited plans of the said railway, from the commencement of the said railway No. 6, with its junction with the said railway No. 1, of the said West Cheshire Railway, and terminating in the said township of Helsby by a junction with the said Birkenhead, Lancashire and Cheshire Junction Railway, at a point 257 yards or thereabouts, measured along that railway in a south-westerly direction, from the south-westerly end of the passenger platform of the Helsby Station of the said Birkenhead; Lancashire, and Cheshire Junction Railway. tion Railway. To authorise the stopping up of so much of a certain public highway or road in the township

To authorise the stopping up of so much of a certain public highway or road in the township of Winnington, in the parish of Great Budworth in the county of Chester, as lies between the furnpike road leading from Chester to Northwich; both in the said county of Chester, at a point 422 yards, of thereabouts, measured in an easterly direction, from the centre of the jungtion of the said turnpike read with a certain public highway or road leading from the village of Davenham to the village of Weaverham both in the said county of Chester, and an certain public highway or road called Hodge lane, also in the said township of Winnington, at a point 493 yards, or thereshouts, measured also in san easterly direction, from the junction of the said public highway or road leading from Daysoham to Weaverham aforesaid, with the said public highway, or road, called, Hodge-lane, in the rento of, another, public highway or road, also in the township, of Winnington aforesaid, as lies between the said turnpike road leading from Chest ter-to Northwich aforegaid, at a point 654 yards, or thereabouts, measured in an easterly direction. ter-to, Northwich aforegaid, at a point 654 yards, or thereabouts, measured in an easterly directions from the centre of the junction of the said turn pike road with the said public highway or road leading from Dayenham to Weaverham aforesaid, and the said highway or road called Hodge-lane, at a point 561 yards, or thereabouts, measured in an easterly direction, from the said junction of the said public highway or road called Hodge-lane, at a point 561 yards or road called Hodge-lane, and to extinguish all rights of way over such roads to extinguish all rights of way over such roads respectively, and to vest the sites thereof in the Committee; and in leu of the roads so to be stopped up to authorise the Committee to construct, form, and maintain a new road committee; said, at a point 561 yards, or thereabouts, measured in an easterly direction, from the junction of the said public highway or road leading from Dayenham to Weaverham aforesaid, and the said public highway or foad called Hodge lane, and the said public highway or foad called Hodge lane, and the said public highway or foad called Hodge lane, and the last mindfing by a fine firm with the said thing has a form thereabouts. The public highway or foad called Hodge lane, and the said public highway or foad called Hodge lane, and the said public highway or foad called Hodge lane, and the said public highway or foad called Hodge lane, and the said public highway or foad called Hodge lane, and the said public highway or foad called Hodge lane, and the said public highway or foad called Hodge lane, and the said public highway or foad called Hodge lane, and the said public highway or foad called Hodge lane, and the said public highway or foad called Hodge lane, and the said public highway or foad called Hodge lane, and the said public highway or foad called Hodge lane, and the said public highway or foad called Hodge lane, and the said public highway or foad called Hodge lane, and the said public highway or foad called Hodge lane, and the said public highway highway" or Yold leading from Davenham and Weaverham. ""To enable the Committee to make and maintain the railways hereinafter mentioned together with all necessary works and conveniences connected therewith (that is to say) in some set to seem more Arailway; No.1, wholly in the township of Oyel and parish of Whitegate; in the county of Chester, commencing by a junction with the Winsford Branch of the said West Cheshire Railway; authorised by "The West Cheshire Railway; and the termination of the said township of Over, at a point 10 chains, 60 links; or thereabouts iffond the termination of the said Winsford branch of the said West Cheshire Railway; as shown of the deposited plan of such railway, as shown of the deposited plan of such railway, in accertain field or piece of woodland. Nor 148; in the deport sited plans of the said Winsford branch, of the said West Cheshire Railway, belonging to High Baron Delamere, and in the occupation of High man Engene Falk, Esq., and terminating in the certain field in the said township of Overstelling ing to the trustees of William Ledward, and in the country of Richard Brice, 47; yards, eating from a certain public high way, or read, leading from the village of Winsford to the town of Overstelling both in the said country of Chester, and near to a certain church abutting upon the said highway.

or road, called Christ Church, the said township of Over, commencing by a junction with the said Winsford branch of the said West Cheshire Rail, way, authorised by "The West Cheshire Rail, ways Act, 1862," in the said township of Over, at