

AT the Council Chamber, Whitehall, the 7th day of March, 1867.

By the Lords of Her Majesty's Most Honourable Privy Council.

PRESENT,

Lord President.
Lord Steward.
Duke of Richmond.
Mr. Cave.

WHEREAS by an Order bearing date the 16th day of January last, duly issued under the authority of the Act of the eleventh and twelfth years of Her Majesty's reign, chapter one hundred and seven, since continued by divers statutes, and lastly by an Act of the last session of Parliament until the 1st day of August next, and the end of the then next session of Parliament, reciting certain provisions of the said Act, and that the contagious or infectious disorder termed the Cattle Plague then prevailed amongst cattle in England, and had prevailed amongst sheep in many parts of England, and the Order of the Lords of the Council of the 24th day of March last, and the provision therein relating to the holding of markets, fairs, auctions, exhibitions, or sales of cattle, and another Order of the Lords of the Council, bearing date the 8th day of August last, relating, among other things, to the forms of licence to be used for the removal of animals and sundry other matters, the Lords of the Council did order that, from and after the 21st day of January then instant, the Lords of the Council might, upon application from the Local Authority of any county, license the holding of any sale or sales of animals at the times and places, and subject to such restrictions or conditions, as to the said Lords should seem expedient or necessary :

And whereas it is advisable that this Order should be extended as hereinafter set forth :

Now therefore, the Lords of the said Council do hereby order that the application for any licence for the sale of any animals under the said Order may be made by any Local Authority as defined by the said Order of the 24th of March last besides the Local Authority of a county, and the said Lords may grant a licence for the holding of such sale within the district of the Local Authority so making the application :

And any licence granted upon the application of such other authority shall be subject to all the same provisions as are contained in the said Order of the 16th day of January last.

Edmund Harrison.

AT the Council Chamber, Whitehall, the 7th day of March, 1867.

By the Lords of Her Majesty's Most Honourable Privy Council.

PRESENT,

Lord President.
Lord Steward.
Duke of Richmond.
Mr. Corry.
Mr. Cave.

WHEREAS by an Act of Parliament made and passed in the sixth year of the reign of His late Majesty King George the Fourth, chapter seventy-eight, it was amongst other things enacted "That it should and might be lawful for His Majesty, His heirs and successors, by His or their Order in Council, or for the Lords or others of His or their Privy Council, or any two or more of them, by their Order, from time to time, as often as they might see reason to apprehend that the yellow fever or other highly infectious distemper prevailed on the Continent of America or in the West Indies, to require that every vessel coming from or having touched at any port or place on the Continent of America or in the West Indies, should come to an anchor at certain places to be appointed, from time to time, by the Commissioners of His Majesty's Customs (who were thereby authorized to make such appointment), for the purpose of having the state of health of the crew of such vessel ascertained before such vessel should be permitted to enter the port whereto she should be bound, or any other port of the United Kingdom; but that such vessel should not be deemed liable to quarantine unless it should be afterwards specially ordered under that restraint :"

And whereas there is reason to apprehend that the yellow fever prevails in the West Indies, and in parts of the Continent of America, and it is expedient to put into operation the above-recited provision of the said Act :

Now, therefore, the Lords of Her Majesty's Most Honourable Privy Council do hereby order and direct that from and after the fourteenth of March instant, every vessel coming from or having touched at any Port or Place lying between longitude 52 and 82 degrees west of Greenwich, and between 4 and 24 degrees north latitude, shall come to an anchor at such place or places as may from time to time be appointed by the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Customs, for the purpose of having the state of the health of the crew of such vessel ascertained before such vessel shall be permitted to enter the port whereto she shall be bound, or any other port of the United Kingdom, and shall remain at such place or places until the state of health of such crew shall have been ascertained, pursuant to the said recited provision, and thereafter to be subject to such lawful direction as may be made in that behalf by or under the direction of the said Lords.

And the Right Honourable the Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury, and the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, are to give the necessary directions herein as to them may respectively appertain.

Edmund Harrison.
