

ording to the custom of such market, or, if there should be no such custom, by clipping the hair off the end of the tail; and provided also, that all cattle required to be marked by that regulation should be slaughtered within four days from the date of the holding of such market (if sold) by or by the order of the purchaser, or (if not sold) by or by the order of the owner, and by a subsequent Order of the said Council, bearing date the twenty-sixth day of May, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-six, the time limited in the said first-mentioned Order was extended until the Lords of the Council should otherwise order:

And whereas divers markets have been so licensed by the Lords of the said Council for the sale of cattle intended for immediate slaughter, and it is expedient that the time so limited by the said Order for the slaughter of cattle exposed for sale in any market so licensed should be extended:

Now, therefore, the Lords of Her Majesty's Privy Council do hereby order that, notwithstanding the said regulation in the said Order, or any regulation in any other Order or Orders, or in any licence of the said Privy Council to the contrary, from and after the tenth day of June, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-seven:—

1. Cattle exposed for sale in any market, for the time being so licensed for the sale of cattle for immediate slaughter may be kept alive for the period of six days after exposure in any such market, and no longer, and no such cattle shall be exposed for sale in any such market a second time.

2. This Order shall be construed in like manner as the said Order of the twenty-fourth day of March, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-six, and all the provisions therein contained relative to the offences for the contravention thereof, and the penalty for the same and otherwise now in force, except so far as they may be inconsistent with anything herein contained, shall be applied to this Order.

3. The provisions in this Order contained shall also apply to sheep and lambs.

Edmund Harrison.

AT the Council Chamber, Whitehall, the 7th day of June, 1867.

By the Lords of Her Majesty's Most Honourable Privy Council.

PRESENT,

Lord President.
Lord Privy Seal.
Lord Robert Montagu.
Mr. Cave.

WHEREAS by an Order bearing date the eighth day of August, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-six, the Lords of Her Majesty's Privy Council, did, amongst other things, make certain provisions relating to sheep and lambs, applicable only to the counties enumerated in a schedule thereunto annexed, including among others, the county of Chester, and to the counties of cities, or towns, cities, and boroughs therein contained:

And whereas the Lords of the said Council did, by an Order bearing date the eighteenth day of September last, reciting the said Order of the eighth day of August, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-six, make certain other regulations relating to sheep and lambs in the said several counties above referred to:

And whereas by an Order bearing date the sixteenth day of February last, the Lords of the said Council did rescind the said Order of the eighth of August, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-six, in regard to the said county of Chester, and it is expedient that the said Order of the eighteenth of September last also should be rescinded in reference to the said county.

Now, therefore, the Lords of Her Majesty's Privy Council do hereby order, that from and after this seventh day of June, the said Order of the eighteenth of September last shall be rescinded, and be no longer of force or validity in respect of sheep and lambs in the county of Chester, and in the county of the city of Chester, and the other towns and boroughs therein contained, except in respect of any matter or thing commenced under it and not completed, or of any offence committed in contravention thereof and not yet punished.

Edmund Harrison.

Whitehall, June 8, 1867.

The Queen has been pleased to appoint Henry Glassford Bell, Esq., Advocate, to be Sheriff of the Shire or Sherifdom of Lanark, in the room of Sir Archibald Alison, Bart., deceased.

Whitehall, May 28, 1867.

The Queen has been pleased to grant unto Thomas Macnaghten Turner, of Marnhull, in the parish of Marnhull, in the county of Dorset, Esquire, late a Lieutenant in the 3rd (The King's Own) Regiment of Hussars, second but eldest surviving son and heir of Thomas Jacob Turner, late of Worthy Park, in the parish of King's Worthy, in the county of Southampton, Esquire, and grandson of Jacob Turner, late of Park Hall, in the parish of Kidderminster, in the county of Worcester, Esquire, and of Ann, his wife, only daughter of Thomas Farley, late of Henwick, in the parish of Hallow, in the said county of Worcester, Esquire, all deceased, Her Royal licence and authority that he and his issue may, in compliance with a proviso contained in the last will and testament of his maternal great grandfather the said Thomas Farley, take, use, and bear the surname of Farley, in addition to and after that of Turner, and that he and they may quarter the arms of Farley with his and their own family arms; such arms being first duly exemplified according to the laws of arms and recorded in the College of Arms, otherwise the said Royal licence and permission to be void and of none effect:

And to command that the said Royal concession and declaration be recorded in Her Majesty's said College of Arms.
