SCOTLAND—WEST COAST—RIVER CLYDE.

Fixed Light off Garvel Point.

THE Commissioners of Northern Lights have given notice, that from the 23rd day of December, 1867, a light has been exhibited from a lighthouse recently erected off Garvel Point (East Greenock), in the River Clyde.

The light is a fixed red light, elevated 25 feet above the level of the sea, and in clear weather should be seen from a distance of 7 miles.

The illuminating apparatus is dioptric or by lenses, of the fourth order.

The light is placed near the South edge of the Channel, at the bend, off Garvel Point, and bears from the light on the Steamboat Quay in front of the Custom House at Greenock S.E. by E.  $\frac{1}{2}$  E., and from Garvel House N.N.E.  $\frac{1}{2}$  E., distant 280 yards.

NOTICE TO MARINERS.

(No. 2.)—RED SEA—WESTERN COAST.

Shoal reported near Gurb Miune Island.

INFORMATION has been given by the Master of the Steamship Great Victoria, that on two different voyages in the Red Sea he has seen a shoal, not hitherto marked in the Charts, lying about 3 miles E. by N. from Gurb Miune Island, and with that island in a line with Miune Island (2 miles to the westward).

On the second occasion of Mr. Enright sighting the shoal, the sea broke heavily over it, and a strong wind prevented close examination.

By the bearing and distance from Gurb Miune Island above given, the position of the shoal would be in lat. 18° 32' N., long. 38° 53' East of Greenwich.

It will be observed that this reported shoal is in close proximity to a group of low sandy islands and shoals bordering the western coast of the Red Sea, and a considerable distance from the fairway track up and down the sea. Mariners are cautioned accordingly.

[All bearings are magnetic. Variation 4° 20' Westerly in 1868.]

By command of their Lordships,

Geo. Henry Richards, Hydrographer.
