NOTICE TO MARINERS.

(No. 58.)—AUSTRALIA—VICTORIA.

Harbour Light at Port Fairy.

THE Colonial Government of Victoria has given notice, that a fixed green light is now exhibited from the end of the jetty at Port Fairy, and is visible between the bearings South and W.S.W., the latter bearing clearing the buoy off the foul ground to the northward of Griffith Island light-house. The light should be seen from a distance of three miles.

NOTE.—Vessels entering Port Fairy should not steer in until the green light on the jetty is opened out, when steer for it and anchor. The best anchorage is in about three fathoms, about a cable north-west of the black buoy of the foul ground, with Griffith Island light bearing S.S.E.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

Harbour Light at Wollongong.

The Colonial Government of New South Wales has given notice, that a fixed red light, visible between the bearings S.S.W. and W. by N. $\frac{1}{2}$ N., is now exhibited 56 feet above high water, on the extremity of the breakwater at Wollongong.

NOTE.—Vessels making Wollongong must sight the light, and then stand in towards it; when the port is neared, in rounding the breakwater, the light will be lost sight of, and will be again seen as a guide into the basin.

Alterations, &c., in Pilot Station Lights.

Also, that the following additions and alterations have been made in the Pilot Station lights.

Tweed River.—A white light is exhibited on Fingal Head, visible six to eight miles.

Clarence River.—The red shade is removed from the lamp at the river head; the light is consequently a white light, which should be seen six to eight miles.

Richmond River.—An additional light is exhibited on the Heads; two white lights will therefore be exhibited from this station; they lie W.N.W. and E.S.E. from each other, and are 150 feet apart; they should be seen six to eight miles.

Harbour Light on Nelson Head, Port Stephens.

Also, that a light is now exhibited on Nelson Head, Port Stephens; it will show white seaward, is eclipsed over the entrance shoal, is red, within after the shoal is passed, and when Nelson Head can be steered for, and is again white when Nelson Head is passed; it can then be used as a guide for anchoring or proceeding further into Port Stephens; in clear weather the light can be seen from a distance of nine miles.

NOTE.—Vessels seeking shelter in Nelson Bay can run for the harbour light (white), until the revolving light on Point Stephens is lost sight of, when it will be necessary to alter course to N.N.W. until the harbour light is lost sight of and again made out red, a course can then be shaped for it, and when the Head is passed, the white light will reappear.

[All bearings are magnetic. Variation, Port Fairy, $7\frac{1}{2}^{\circ}$ Easterly in 1872; Port Stephens, 10° Easterly in 1872.]
