

The London Gazette.

Numb. 2395

Published by Authority.

From Monday October 29. to Thursday November 1. 1688.

Waxfain, Octob. 15.

TH E Army of this Crown being retired from their Camp near Camincoc, the Tartars made use of the opportunity to put into the place a great Convoy of Provisions, of which the Garison was in great want. The King was according to our last advices from Lemberg returned to Zolkien, where he intended to stay 4 or 5 days; and the Troops, as well those of Poland as Lithuania, are marching to their Winter-Quarters. A general Dyet of this Kingdom will be held here the 16th of December. All that the Moscovites have done this Summer has been to build several large Forts on the River Sambava, where they pretend to lodge 60 Thousand Men this Winter, to secure their Frontiers against the Incurfions of the Tartars.

Ratibonne, Octob. 25. The Elector of Bavaria returned the 17th instant to Municke, and the next day gave Audience to the Ambassador from the Great Duke of Tuscany, who presented to the Princes of Bavaria the Picture of the Prince of Tuscany set with Diamonds to a great value. The Troops of Bavaria that have served this Campagne in Hungary are on their March homeward: General Dunewaldt is likewise coming this way with a Body of 6 Thousand Imperial Horse, to joyn the Troops of the Confederate Princes that are drawing together on this side. The States of Franconia are to meet the 25th instant at Nuremberg.

Hamburg, Octob. 26. They write from Leipsig of the 18 instant, That the Elector of Saxony had thoughts of marching himself with his Troops designed towards the Rhine, at least as far as Franckfort. The Princes of Brunswick and Lunenburg have had lately a Meeting at Zell, at which assisted the Ministers of Brandenburg and Hesse Cassel; and it's said another Conference will be very suddenly held at Magdebourg, at which the Elector of Saxony will be likewise present. We hear from Pomerania, That two Regiments of Foot, of 12 Companies each, are raising there for the Service of the Crown of Sweden, and that several Troops were expected at Stralsund from that Kingdom. The Letters from Stockholm tell us, That the King of Sweden was returned thither from Schonen.

Hamburg, Nov. 2. The Lunenburg Troops, being six Regiments of Horse and nine of Foot, began their March yesterday towards the Upper Rhine; They will joyn with those of Brandenburg, Saxony, and Hesse Cassel, and form an Army of 32000 Men.

From the Camp before Phillipsbourg, Octob. 24. The 14th Instant, the two Attacks of the Upper and Lower Rhine, having been carried on to the foot of the Counterscarp of the Hornwork, were joined by a Line of Communication between that Work and the Rhine. The 15th in the Morning the Dauphin visited the Trenches of the great Attack, where he staid three hours. The same day the Trenches were advanced very near to the Redoubt de la Londe; so that the Lodgment, made on the Counterscarp of that Redoubt, becoming useless, it was abandoned the next day. On the 16th, the Works of the great Attack were stopp'd by the Water, which lying before the Counterscarp, and being 30 Yards over, served for an outward Ditch. We found it to be hard at bottom; wherefore 'twas resolv'd to carry off the Water by a Drain. All that Night there were but 4 or 5 Men wounded. At the Attack of the Lower Rhine they made themselves Masters of the Angle of the Counterscarp of the Hornwork, and made a Lodgment on it. The 2 Branches, which had been drawn from the great Trench, the one on the right, the other on the left, were joined by a Line of Communication, which run along the outward Ditch: There were about 10 or 12 Soldiers killed. The 17th at Night we carried a Sappe from the said Line towards the Redoubt de la Londe, and rais'd against it a Battery of two pieces of Cannon: The Enemy made a Sally on the side of the Church-yard, but were presently beaten back by the Regiment of Bourbon; The Duke de Bourbon and the Prince de Conty signaling themselves on this Occasion. At the Attack of the Rhine the Enemy were forced from the covered way by our Granadiers; and we began to make a Breach on the Hornwork with six Pieces of Cannon. The same Night the Dauphin had advice, That the Baron de Monclar, Lieutenant General, had made himself Master of Hailbron, an Imperial Town on the Necker; And that the Marquis de Boufflers likewise, Lieutenant-General, had put a Garison into the Town and Citadel of Mayerice. The 18th at Night, they made, on the side of the great Attack, a Lodgment on the covered way of the Redoubt. The Count de Chasteauvillain, Ayde de Camp to the Marechal the Duke du Duras, was slightly wounded. The Sieur de Fauban, Lieutenant-General, found a way to drain the Water that serves for the outward Ditch on that side. At the Attack of the Rhine the Ditch of the Hornwork was drain'd, and we began to fill it up with Fagots. The Marquis de Bordage, Marechal de Camp, being shot in the Head with a Musket-Bullet, died some few hours after. The 19th at night we continued to fill up the Ditch of the Hornwork, and to make two Lines for the encompassing that Work. The Marquis d'Huxelles, a Lieutenant-General, received there a great Wound in his Shoulder; and seven or eight Officers, with about 30 Soldiers, were kill'd or wounded, the Enemy having fir'd very fiercely on us with small Shot and Granadoes. The 20th our Cannon play'd continually, and made a Breach in one of the Branches of the Hornwork: At the great Attack, the Drain having almost dried the outward Ditch, there were three Trenches carry'd through it to the Foot of the Glacis of the Counterscarp, where we lodg'd our selves. There were about 25 Men killed or wounded. The same night the Ditch of the Hornwork being fill'd up, we prepared to carry it by Assault. The Marquis d'Harcourt, Marechal de Camp, who was at that Attack, commanded four Companies of Granadiers to advance; They crept without any noise to the foot of the Hornwork, where they expected the Signal. The Dauphin came into the Trenches between 12 and One o' Clock, the Signal was given with 6 Bombs; The 4 first were laden after the ordinary manner; the 2 last were empty, having each of them only one Rocket, yet they frighted the Belleged. The Granadiers at that Moment made the Assault with so much Courage, that they in a short time made themselves Masters of the Hornwork. It was defended by 150 Men, who were all slain or taken, except 20 that got into the Crownwork. The Enemy left there 4 Pieces of Cannon, with store of Ammunition, and lost 2 of their bravest Officers, whose Bodies were, at their Request, restor'd to them. There were about 20 Granadiers kill'd and wounded, and some Officers wounded: Amongst others, the Chevalier Courtin had 2 Wounds, of which he is since dead. The Marquis d'Harcourt, the Count d'Estrees, the Count de Guiche, the Count de Biley, Page to the King, and several other Persons of Quality, signalized themselves on this occasion. The taking of this Work will exceedingly facilitate that of the place, which has been much hindered by the continual Rains, great Cold, and Marshy Ground, where we could not make any Trenches in which the Water was not at least a Foot deep. Yesterday we took the Redoubt of Earth on the Left of the great Attack without any Resistance: We are on that side on the Cover'd Way, and on the side of the Lower Rhine we continue to drain the Waters out of the Ditch of the Crown-work.

From the Camp before Philipsburg, Octob. 29. The 22d at night we took the Redoubt de la Londe with little opposition, the Besieged having left there but 12 Men and a Corporal, who were all taken or killed. The day following we made on the Right of the Redoubt a Lodgment on the Glacis, and carried on our Work to the Palisadoes of the Covered Way. We made divers Lines of Communication, and raised several Batteries against the Crown-work. The 24th we had advice, That the Great Master of the Teutonick Order, who remained at Heydelberg after the departure of the Elector Palatine his Father, was likewise retired from thence. The 25th the Kings Troops entred into that City, the Garrison, according to the Capitulation, being conducted to Manheim. The 25th at night we continued to work on the side of the Rhine on the Batteries, to ruine the Crown-work, and all things were prepared to fix the Miner. On the side of the great Attack we carried on our Works along the Covered Way on the Glacis within a Yard of the Palisado; the Chevalier de Denonville was dangerously wounded with a Musket-Shot, and about 12 Soldiers were killed and wounded. The 26th we began to batter the Crown-work with such Success that the 27th a considerable Breach was made. The 28th we continued to batter the Crown-work, and the Breaches were so large that it was resolv'd to give an Assault the next day. The 29th the Regiment of Amou, and the second Battallion of the Kings Regiment, were commanded to make the Attack; a Detachment of Grenadiers mounted the Breach, and the other Troops mounting likewise by the other Breaches of the two Half-moons, made themselves Masters thereof without any great opposition, and with little loss on our side. Of the Besieged about 30 were killed. We were working with great diligence to make a Lodgment there, when we saw a white Flag hung out on the Rampart, and a Parley was demanded, upon which the Firing ceased on both sides, and Hostages were exchanged; after which the Major of the place came out and adjust'd the Articles of Capitulation; according to which the Besieged, who are now about 1800 strong, are to march out the 1st of the next Month, being the Birth-day of the Dauphin, with Arms and Baggage, Drums beating, Colours flying; and 4 Pieces of Cannon, and are to be conducted to Ulme. The Garrison of the place, is yet to be sent out of Cannon, with Ammunition and Provisions for several Months.

Brussels, Nov. 5. We have Advice, That the Garrison of Philipsburg Capitulated the 29th past, and that they were to march out the first instant. The Marquis de Boufflers, after having put Garrisons into several places in the Rhin, is come down the Rhin with the Forces under his Command, towards Coblentz, but there is in that place a very good Garrison. A Camp of about 30000 Men is forming between Worms and Strasbourg, and another of the like Number towards Frankfurt.
Paris, Nov. 6. The 2 instant the Marquis de Boufflers, with the Dauphin, arriv'd here, with the News of the Surrender of Philipsburg on the 29th past.

for which Te Deum was sung on the 4th in the Chapel of the Caffe at Fontainebleau. The Dauphin, after having put a Garrison into Philipsburg, intended to march from thence in order to Besiege Manheim. The Baron de Mombach is with the Troops under his Command before Frankenthal; and the Marquis de Boufflers, with a Body of 7 or 8000 Men, before Coblentz. The Court will return to Versailles the 12th or 14th of this Month.

Hague, Novemb. 5. The Damage the Dutch Fleet sustained by the late Storms, appears to be much greater than was at first reported. There are 1500 Horses dead and unserviceable: The Prince of Orange has lost most of his own, and the Marechal de Scomberg the best of his Horses: His Son Count Charles Schomberg was in great danger, the Ship he was in having spent her Main-Mast. A Captain of Horse in the Sieur Benting's Regiment is missing, with his whole Troop; and two Captains of the Foot-Guards are likewise missing, with their Companies. To supply these Losses, a great many fresh Horses are ordered to be sent to the Fleet; and it's said the Regiment of the Baron de Frizes will be Embarkt. In the mean time the Prince of Orange continues at Helvoetsluys, intending to Sail again as soon as the Fleet is in a condition, and the Weather permits.

London, Octob. 29. This day Sir John Chapman, Elected Lord Mayor for the Year ensuing, being accompanied by the Aldermen and Sheriffs, and attended by the several Companies, went to Westminster, with the Solemnities customary on the like occasions; His Majesty being pleased to do them the Honour to be upon the Leads at Whitehall as they pass'd by. And having been sworn before the Barons of the Exchequer, returned to Black-Fryers Stairs; from whence they pass'd in the usual manner to Graces-Hall, where a splendid Entertainment was provided, at which were the Lords of His Majesty's most Honourable Privy-Council, the Judges, and other Persons of Quality.

Whitehall, Octob. 31. The 28th Marquis Boniface Rangoni, Envoy Extraordinary from the Duke of Modena, had his first Audience of the Queen, and this day of the Queen-Dowager, being conducted by Sir Charles Cottrell, Master of the Ceremonies.

Advertisements.

A new Map of the Sea-Coasts of England, France, and Holland, shewing the Situation and Distance of the several Ports, Harbours, Havens, Creeks, Sands, &c. in one large Sheet of Paper; Price 6 d. in Sarsenet, 2 s. 6 d. Sold by Robert Morden at the Atlas in Corhill, near the Royal-Exchange, and by Christopher Brown at the Globe and Compass at the West end of St. Paul's Church-yard.

ONE John D'Petepas run away from Sir William Villers's Troop, Quarter'd at Riply in Surry, the 28th of September last. He is a short fellow, wears a Pettrwig, his Face all spotted with Gun-powder; he took with him his Horse, which is a brown bay Gelding with so white about him, about 15 hands. Whoever gives notice of him to Sir William Villers, in the Mews, shall have a Guinea reward.

LOst the 4th past out of the Grounds of Mr. Andrews, in the Parish of Lambeth, a cropt Chestnut Gelding, above 15 hands, all his Paces: a bright bay Mare, with a Star in her Forehead, something gorged in her near Foot-lock before, near 14 hands, all her Paces; a dark brown Mare Colt, above 14 hands, a little blazed, and trace-gauled, about 4 years old: a milk white Mare about 12 hands, all her Paces. Whoever gives notice of them to the said Mr. Andrews, upon Kennington Common in the Parish of Lambeth, or at his house in Hungerford Market in the Strand shall have 20s. Reward.

STolen from Edm. Chamberlain of Malgersbury Esq; near Stow in the Wold in Gloucestershire, a yellowish bay Horse, with a long Tail, above 14 hands, trots all, about 12 years old, with a black Lift down his Back, a Twitter-bone taken out of each hind Foot. Whoever gives notice of him to the said Edmood Chamberlain Esq; or to Mr. Ridley at his House in Charles-street, Westminster, shall be very well rewarded.