(Translation.)

DECREE 5204, of 25th January, 1873,

Permits the Merchant Vessels of all Nations to ascend the River Madeira as far as the Port of Santo Antonio, establishes in that place a Revenue Department, and in the Port of Serpa a Custom-house.

Taking into consideration the expediency of facilitating the commerce with the Republic of Bolivia by means of the River Madeira, and keeping in view what is determined in Decree No. 3749 of 9th December, 1866, as well as in Articles 17, 20, and 349 of the Regulation, No. 2647, of 19th September, 1860, I willingly decree the following:—

Art. 1st. The navigation of the River Madeira, in the province of Amazonas, is permitted to all nations as far as the Port of Santo Antonio on the right bank of the said river, the determinations in all that may be applicable thereto, in the regulation annexed to the Decree, No. 3920, of 31st July, 1867, being observed.

Art. 2nd. There shall be in the said port a revenue department of the first class, qualified for the importation of goods coming from the Republic of Bolivia, as well as for the exportation of national produce, and for clearing goods on their passage through, or merchandize accompanied with a permit, conveyed in vessels.

Art. 3rd. It is likewise permitted foreign vessels to carry from that to other ports in the rivers of the Province of Amazonas, or that of Para, and vice versa, merchandize the produce of any country, in cases provided for in Art. 15 of the regulation above cited.

Art. 4th. A Custom-house of the 5th class shall be established in the town of Serpa, Province of Amazonas, with the same functions as those pertaining to the other Customs of the Empire, the determinations of the regulation of which the antecedent Article treats being observed. Its staff and their salaries shall be the same as that of the Customs of Penedo, in the Province of Alagoas.

Art. 5th. When the vessels with cargoes destined for the frontier of Peru or of Bolivia cannot advance beyond Serpa, by reason of their great draught of water, they may there, with the assistance of the fiscal authorities of the Customs, tranship the said goods to smaller craft.

Art. 6th. All dispositions to the contrary are revoked.
