And whereas by another Act passed in the seventeenth and eighteenth years of Our reign, intitled "An Act for amending the Laws relating to the Militia and raising a Volunteer Militia Force in Scotland," it is, amongst other things, enacted that it shall be lawful for Her Majesty where, with the advice of Her Privy Council, she may see fit so to do, to extend or reduce the period of training and exercise in any year, so that the whole period of training and exercise in any year shall not exceed fifty-six days nor be less than three days :

And whereas by an Order in Council made and bearing date the twenty-ninth day of June, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-one, Her Majesty was pleased to order and direct that the period of training of all the Militia of England and Scotland should be extended to twenty-seven or twenty-eight days as therein mentioned :

And whereas it is expedient that certain regiments should be trained for the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy-three; at the places and for the extended periods named and set forth in the schedule hereunder written :

Now, therefore, Her Majesty, with the advice of Her Privy Council, is pleased to order and direct that the several regiments of Militia mentioned shall be trained in the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy-three, at the places and for the periods of training and exercise mentioned and set forth in the schedule to this Order appended.
