Proposed Recommendation as to an Order in Council relating to Small Firework Factories.

Whereas by Section 49 of the Explosives Act, 1875 (hereinafter referred to as the Act), it is provided that the powers of the Act of making Orders in Council with respect to stores shall extend to making Orders in Council with respect to small firework factories and the buildings therein:

And whereas, with respect to gunpowder stores, it is by Section 16 of the Act provided that Her Majesty may from time to time, by Order in Council made on the recommendation of a Secretary of State,—

1. Regulate the construction and materials and fittings of gunpowder stores; and
2. Prescribe the buildings and works from which gunpowder stores are to be separated, and the distances by which they are to be separated; and
3. Prescribe the maximum amount of gunpowder, not exceeding two tons, to be kept in stores, graduated according to their construction and situation and their distance from the said buildings and works.

Provided that such an Order shall not require the removal of any building lawfully in use at the date of making such Order.

With respect to the above matters relating to small firework factories, the Secretary of State proposes to recommend to Her Majesty that, in pursuance of the above-mentioned provisions of the Act, Her Majesty may be pleased by and with the advice of Her Privy Council, to order and prescribe as follows:

1. The lands forming the site bounded as described in the license shall, with every building and work thereon, be deemed to be the factory.

2. The factory shall include—

(a) One or more magazines for the storing of fireworks, and other explosives used for the manufacture thereof; and each such magazine shall be well and substantially built of brick, stone, or concrete, or shall be excavated in solid rock, earth, or mine refuse not liable to ignition, and shall be so made and fitted as to prevent unauthorised persons having access thereto, and to secure it from danger of fire from without;

(b) Two or more detached workshops for the carrying on of the processes of manufacture, and each such workshop shall consist of not more than one storey.

3. Each of the following shall be deemed a danger building:

- I. Every magazine;
- II. Every building in which any of the following operations is carried on; viz:—
 - (a) The mixing or preparing or packing of any explosive other than manufactured firework protected by a case;
 - (b) The filling or charging of cases with explosive;
 - (c) The breaking up or unmaking of any explosive.
- III. Every building in which gunpowder or loose explosive composition, or firework unprotected by a case, is present or is liable to be so.

4. Every danger building shall be not less than 25 yards from every other building forming part of the factory (whether a danger building or not).

Provided, that if between any danger building other than a magazine and any non-danger building forming part of the factory, or between any two danger buildings, neither of which is a magazine, there intervenes a substantial screen of stone, brick, wood, iron, earth, sods, or similar material of such character and dimensions as to protect each of such buildings and the persons therein from the effects of an explosion or fire in the other of such buildings, the distance between the two buildings, so screened and protected may be reduced so as to be not less than 12 yards:

Provided also, that where there are two or more magazines, such magazines may adjoin each other, or may be separated from each other by a distance less than 25 yards, so as the provisions of any Order in Council as to the keeping together of different explosives be observed.

5. The factory shall not be situated below ground in any mine or quarry, or in any tunnel or other underground place, in which mine, quarry, tunnel, or underground place any work is being carried on, or in which any persons are employed, or in any place opening into, from, or out of such mine, quarry, tunnel, or underground place, or in communication therewith.

6. The factory shall also be separated as follows from the buildings and works hereinafter called "protected works," and protected works are of three classes:—

"Protected work of Class 1" means any magazine for explosive, store for explosive, premises registered for the keeping of explosive, any room used for the filling of cartridges for small arms with explosive in pursuance of Section 46 of the Act, and any workshop used for the adaptation or preparation of an explosive in pursuance of Section 47 of the Act, if such magazine, store, premises, room, or workshop be occupied by the licensee, or if the occupier thereof gives his consent in writing to the same being considered as included in protected works of Class 1; and also any dwelling-house, shop, room (other than a room used for the filling of cartridges as aforesaid), workshop (other than a workshop used for the adaptation or preparation of an explosive as aforesaid), mineral or private railway, furnace, kiln, or fire for the use of any boiler, engine, or machine, or for any manufacturing purpose, any highway, public footpath, promenade, or open place of resort for the public, or for persons carrying on any trade or business, and any canal, navigable water, dock, river-wall, sea-wall, pier, jetty, or reservoir.

"Protected work of Class 2" means any magazine for explosive, store for explosive, premises registered for the keeping of explosive, room used for the filling of cartridges for small arms with explosive in pursuance of Section 46 of the Act, and any workshop used for the adaptation or preparation of an explosive in pursuance of Section 47 of the Act, which is or are not included in pro-

"Protected work of Class 3" means any palace or house of residence of Her Majesty, her heirs or successors, the Houses of Parliament, and any factory or magazine occupied by a Secretary of State, the Commissioners of the Admiralty, or other department of the Government;

For the purpose of the provisions of this order relating to protected works, the term "railway" shall be deemed to include every railway, whether worked by steam or otherwise.

The factory shall not be used for the manufacture of fireworks except when and so long as it is qualified to belong to that one of the Divisions A. or B., as hereinafter defined, under which it is licensed.

A site shall be qualified to belong to Division A., if every part thereof be at a greater distance

25 yards from every protected work of Class 1;

50 yards from every protected work of Class 1.

100 yards from every protected work of Class 2.

1 mile from every protected work of Class 3.

If at the time a factory is licensed under a division it is in fact not qualified to belong to that division; or if after having been licensed under a division it ceases to be qualified to belong to that division, any use of such factory for the manufacture of fireworks, so long as such factory continues not to be so qualified, will be a breach of this Order.

7. The quantity of explosive in a small firework factory shall not exceed the following amounts:

Explosive.	In a small Firework Factory qualified to belong to Division A.	In a small Firework Factory qualified to belong to Division B.
Of any explosive other than manufactured fireworks and coloured fires and stars	50 lbs.	100 lbs.

Wherever in the foregoing general rules an explosive is distinguished as belonging to a particular class or division of a class, reference is made to the classification of explosives as contained in an Order in Council made under sec. 106 of the Act for a further description of the

EXPLOSIVES ACT, 1875 (38 Vict. c. 17).

NOTICE is hereby given, that, in pursuance of the above-mentioned Act, the Secretary of State for the Home Department proposes as set forth below by Order to make bye-laws for the conveyance, loading, and unloading of gunpowder and other explosives.

Any local authority as defined by the said Act, and any corporation or person interested, being desirous to offer for the consideration of the Secretary of State any objection or suggestion with regard to the proposed bye-laws, should forward the same to the Home Office, Whitehall, not later than the 15th day of November, 1875.

Proposed Order of Secretary of State making Bye-laws as to the Conveyance, Loading, and Unloading of Explosives.

Whereas by Part I (section 37) of the Explosives Act, 1875 (hereinafter referred to as the Act), it is provided that a Secretary of State may from time to time make bye-laws for regulating the conveyance, loading, and unloading of gunpowder, in any case in which bye-laws made under any other provision of the Act do not apply, and in particular for declaring or regulating all or any of the matters therein following:

And, whereas by Part II (section 39) of the Act it is declared that, subject to the provisions thereof after in Part II of the Act contained, Part I of the Act relating to gunpowder shall apply to every other description of explosive in like manner as if the provisions of such Part I were re-enacted in such Part II, with the substitution of that description of explosive for gunpowder:

The Secretary of State proposes, in pursuance of the aforesaid provisions of the Act, to order that the following bye-laws shall be observed with respect to the conveyance, loading, or unloading of gunpowder and other explosives in any case in which bye-laws made under any provision of the Act other than section 37 do not apply:—

1. Explosive shall not be conveyed in a carriage, ship, or boat whilst carrying or plying for public passengers, unless the quantity be less than 5 lbs., and notice has been given beforehand to the person in charge of such carriage, ship, or boat provided that there shall not be conveyed in any such carriage, ship, or boat any explosive of the 5th (Fulminate) class, or any explosive of the 3rd division of the 6th (Ammunition) class, or any explosive of the 1st division of the 7th (Firework) class; and

2. There shall not be conveyed in the same carriage, ship, or boat any explosive of the 5th (Fulminate) class, or any explosive of the 3rd division of the 6th (Ammunition) class, or any such explosive of the 1st division of the 6th (Ammunition) class as contains its own means of ignition, or any explosive of the 7th (Firework) class, with any explosive other than an explosive of the class and division (if any) of the class to which the same belongs, unless it be sufficiently separated therefrom to prevent any fire or explosion which may take place in one such explosive being communicated to another; and

3. With respect to the conveyance of any explosive of the 5th (Fulminate) class, or any explosive of the 3rd division of the 6th (Ammunition) class, or any explosive of the 1st division of the 7th (Firework) class, or of more than 5 lbs. of any other explosive, the following regulations shall be observed, viz:—

(a.) If the explosive is not effectually protected from accident by fire from without, by being conveyed in the interior of a carriage which is enclosed on all sides with wood or metal, or by being conveyed in the hold of a ship or boat having a close deck securely closed, then the explosive shall be completely covered with painted cloth, tarpaulin, wadmill-tits, or other suitable material, so as to effectually protect it against communication of fire; and

(b.) The explosive shall not be conveyed in a carriage, ship, or boat which is carrying as merchandise any article liable to cause or communicate fire or explosion, such as charcoal, lucifer matches, articles for striking a light, petroleum to which the Petroleum Act, 1871, or any Act repealing or amending the same, applies, or any spirit or oil or substance that gives forth an inflammable vapour at a temperature below 100° Fahrenheit; and

(c.) In any carriage, ship, or boat containing explosive no matches other than safety-matches shall be carried for the use of such carriage, ship, or boat, and such safety-matches shall be kept in a safe place apart from the explosive; and

(d.) No person shall smoke in a carriage, ship, or boat containing explosive when within the metropolis or any town or village; and

(e.) The person in charge of the carriage, ship, or boat shall not drive or conduct the same in a dangerous or reckless manner, and shall take all due precautions to avoid fire and explosion, and no person shall do any act or thing in relation to the explosive which tends to cause fire or explosion and is not reasonably necessary for the conveyance of the explosive or for work immediately connected with such conveyance; and a person who is intoxicated shall not have charge of any carriage, ship, or boat conveying explosive, and shall not be permitted to be in, or on, or attending the same; and

(f.) A person shall not forward to a warehouseman or carrier a consignment of explosive unless he has given notice to such warehouseman or carrier beforehand, stating the name and quantity of the explosive proposed to be conveyed, and the name and address of the proposed consignee, and has had an intimation that the warehouseman or carrier is prepared to receive the consignment; and a warehouseman or carrier shall not make such an intimation nor receive such consignment unless he is in fact prepared to receive it, and forthwith to despatch the same or to deposit it in a magazine or store duly licensed for the keeping of such explosive; and

4. With respect to the conveyance of more than 200 lbs. of explosive, all the regulations in the preceding bye-law shall be observed, and also the following:—

(a.) A person whilst on, or in, or attending any carriage, or boat containing the explosive shall not smoke or carry on his person any lucifer match or article for striking a light; and

(b.) The carriage or boat conveying the explosive shall be in the charge of and constantly attended by some competent person, and such person shall not stop or delay for a longer time than may be reasonably necessary, nor stop at any place where he is forbidden to stop by any of the following persons:—

(a.) A Government Inspector.

(b.) Any superior officer appointed by the local authority for the purposes of the Act.

(c.) Any superintendent or other officer of the police of equal or superior rank.

(d.) Any constable if authorised by the written or other order of such superintendent or officer of police; and

(e.) Whilst the explosive is being loaded on or unloaded out of any carriage, ship, or boat, no fire or artificial light, nor any article which is liable to cause or communicate fire or explosion (such as charcoal, lucifer matches, articles for striking a light, petroleum to which the Petroleum Act, 1871, or any Act repealing or amending the same applies, or any spirit or oil or substance that gives forth an inflammable vapour at a temperature below 100° Fahrenheit); shall be or shall be allowed to be brought, had, or used dangerously near to such carriage, ship, or boat, and no smoking shall be allowed in, on, or dangerously near to the same; provided that when the use of a light for the purpose of such loading or unloading is unavoidable, a lamp of such construction, position, or character as not to cause any danger from fire or explosion may be used; and

(d.) A copy of these bye-laws shall be constantly kept affixed in every carriage, ship, or boat carrying the explosive, and in every place of loading or unloading the same; and

5. With respect to the conveyance of more than 2,000 lbs. of manufactured fireworks, or more than 1,000 lbs. of any other explosive, except ammunition of the 1st division of the 6th (Ammunition) class, all the regulations in the two preceding bye-laws shall be observed, and also the following:—

(a.) The explosive shall not be conveyed except in the interior of a carriage so enclosed on all sides with wood or metal, or in the hold of a ship or boat having a close deck, so closed, as effectually to protect the explosive against accident by fire from without; and

(b.) There shall not be any iron or steel in the interior of the portion of the carriage, ship, or boat where the explosive is deposited, unless the same be effectually covered with leather, wood, or other suitable material; and

- (c.) No other article or substance shall be conveyed in such carriage, ship, or boat with the explosive, unless separated therefrom by a substantial partition; and
- (d.) Due provision shall be made, by the use of suitable working clothes without pockets, suitable shoes, searching and otherwise, or by some of such means, for preventing the introduction into such carriage, ship, or boat of fire, lucifer matches, or any substance or article likely to cause explosion or fire, or the introduction into the compartment in which the explosive is conveyed any iron, steel, or grit; and in any carriage, ship, or boat in which explosive is being conveyed which is liable to be dangerously affected by water, due precautions shall be taken to exclude water from every part of such carriage, ship, or boat in which such explosive is deposited. This rule shall not prevent the introduction of an artificial light of such construction, position, or character as not to cause any danger of fire or explosion; and
- (e.) The amount of explosive conveyed at any one time shall not exceed the following:
- | | | |
|---|--------|------------------|
| In any one carriage on a private or mineral railway | | 10,000 lbs., |
| In any one other carriage | | 4,000 lbs., |
| In any one ship or boat | | 50,000 lbs.; and |
- (f.) When two or more carriages, ships, or boats conveying explosive are travelling together, a space of at least 50 yards shall be kept between each of them, unless circumstances render it impracticable, or unless in the case of a train on a mineral or private railway four or more vans not containing inflammable or explosive goods intervene between each carriage containing explosive and any other carriage containing explosive. For the purposes of this bye-law, the term railway shall be deemed to include every railway, whether worked by steam or otherwise; and
6. While the loading or unloading of explosive of any amount or description is going on, all persons engaged in such loading or unloading shall observe all due precautions for the prevention of accidents by fire or explosion, and for preventing unauthorised persons having access to the explosive so being loaded or unloaded, or to the place of loading or unloading, and shall abstain from any act whatever which tends to cause fire or explosion, and is not reasonably necessary for the purpose of such loading or unloading; and for preventing any unauthorised person from committing any such act; and
7. If the loading or unloading of explosive of any amount or description on or out of any carriage, ship, or boat is begun, no longer time shall be suffered to pass than with the use of all due diligence is reasonably necessary for the purpose of such loading or unloading; and
8. Where in these bye-laws any limit is assigned to the weight or quantity of an explosive, it shall be taken to refer to the explosive itself, except in the case of ammunition of the 1st division of the 6th (Ammunition) class, where it shall be taken to refer only to the explosive material contained in such ammunition; and
9. These bye-laws do not apply to the conveyance of safety cartridges for private use and not for sale not exceeding the following amounts:—
- If the safety cartridges are made with gunpowder, 150 lbs.
- If they are made with any explosive other than gunpowder, the amount prescribed by an Order in Council made under the Act as the maximum amount of such safety cartridges which may be kept for private use; and

10. These bye-laws shall not be taken to authorise the conveyance, loading, or unloading of any explosive which by any Order in Council made under section 43 of the Act is prohibited from being conveyed; and

11. These bye-laws shall not be taken to authorise the conveyance, loading or unloading, of any explosive, unless the same is packed and marked in manner directed by law; that is to say,

In the case of gunpowder, unless it is packed and marked in accordance with the general rules contained in section 33 of the Act, subject to any alterations or additions that may be directed by rules made by the Secretary of State, in pursuance of the same section; and

In the case of any other explosive, unless it is packed and marked in accordance with the general rules as altered by the Secretary of State in pursuance of section 40, sub-section 3, of the Act; and

12. All persons employing others in the conveyance of explosive of any amount or description in any carriage, ship, or boat, or in the loading or unloading of the same, shall, by furnishing copies of these bye-laws, or by affixing copies of the same in some place where they can be conveniently read, or otherwise, take such measures as may be necessary in order that the persons so employed may be acquainted with the provisions of these bye-laws; and

13. In the event of any breach (by any act or default) of any of the foregoing bye-laws, or any attempt to commit such breach—

(a.) The explosive in respect of which, or being in the carriage, ship, or boat in respect of which the offence is committed, shall be liable to be forfeited; and

(b.) The owner of the carriage, ship, or boat in respect of which, or containing the explosive in respect of which, the offence is committed, and also the person in charge of such carriage and the person owning such explosive, shall each be liable to a penalty not exceeding in the case of the first offence £10, and in the case of the second offence or any subsequent offence £20, unless he shows that he was not personally guilty of the offence, and that the same was committed without his connivance and in contravention of his orders.

Wherever in these bye-laws an explosive is distinguished as belonging to a particular class or division of a class, reference is made to the classification of explosives contained in an Order in Council made in pursuance of section 106 of the Act.

Shoal in the Northern Approach to San Miguel Passage.

THE United States Government has given notice of the existence of a rock and coral shoal, lying about a mile from the shore to the northward of Sandy Point, Santa Rosa Island, in the northern approach to San Miguel Passage.

The shoal has 11 feet on it at low water springs, and 7 to 10 fathoms on all sides, with a rugged and irregular bottom. There is no kelp on the shoal, and it breaks in heavy weather only.

From the centre of the shoal, Harris Point, San Miguel Island, bears W. by N., distant 8½ miles, Rock off Sandy Point (Finder Rock), S. by W. ½ W. 1½ miles, and Cardwell Point, San Miguel Island, W. by S. ½ S. 4½ miles. Other dangers are believed to exist to the eastward of this shoal.

To the northward of the shoal, at the distance of three-quarters of a mile, a band of kelp extends a quarter of a mile in an easterly and westerly direction, with 12 and 15 fathoms water in and around it, this may serve as a warning when thick weather obscures the land.

Note.—Sailing vessels are cautioned not to attempt the San Miguel Passage, as the light airs and calms under the lee of San Miguel Island and the strong currents in the vicinity, combine to make it dangerous. No vessel should bring the Finder Rock to bear to the southward of S. by E.

All bearings are magnetic. Variation 14½° easterly in 1875.
