Foreign Office, August 25, 1877.

MR. PAKENHAM, Her Majesty's Consul in Madagascar, in a Despatch to the Earl of Derby, dated the 28th of June, reports that, as the result of negotiations which have for some time past been carried on between Her Majesty's Government and the Hova Government, an Edict of Her Majesty Queen Ranavaloa, emancipating all Mozambiques (i.e., African slaves introduced into Madagascar) within Her Majesty's Dominions, was proclaimed on the 20th of that month at Antananarivo, and all other Hova stations throughout Madagascar.

At Tamatave the Proclamation was publicly read by Envoys from Antananarivo, in presence of the assembled native population, the leading members of the foreign communities, the Hova Governor and his staff, most of the foreign representatives, and the Commander and officers of Her Majesty's sloop of war, "Flying Fish."

During the reading the Hova battery fired a salute of 21 guns, which was returned by the "Flying Fish."

On the following day a Decree was issued by the Queen providing for the maintenance of all freed slaves, pending their settlement in villages or their obtaining employment.

Mr. Pakenham estimates the number of slaves who will thus receive their freedom at about 300,000.
