18. If an Inspector of the Privy Council finds disease in any animal of a cargo, every animal in each separate part of the cargo shall be dealt with as if that disease had been found in an animal in each separate part.

If he finds more diseases than one among the animals of a cargo, all the animals brought in the same vessel therewith shall be dealt with as follows :

- (1.) If one of the diseases is cattle-plague, every animal in each separate part of the cargo is to be dealt with in accordance with Rule A of Article 16.

19. Where an animal forming part of one cargo of foreign animals under Part IV has not been kept separate from an animal forming part of another cargo of foreign animals, all the animals forming those two cargoes shall be dealt with as if they formed one cargo.

20. An Inspector of the Privy Council may detain, for any period that he thinks necessary or proper, any foreign animal under Part IV which he has reason to suspect is diseased or may introduce disease.

21. No animal, carcase, fodder, litter, or dung shall be removed from the lair or other place adjacent to the place of landing where foreign animals under Part IV are detained, except with the permission of an Inspector of the Privy Council.

If the Inspector is of opinion that any such animal or thing as aforesaid may introduce disease, the same shall be slaughtered, destroyed, or otherwise dealt with in accordance with instructions from time to time given by the Privy Council.

22. Nothing in Part IV shall prevent the landing of any foreign animal at a foreign animals wharf if the owner of the animal or his agent in Great Britain or the consignee thereof so desires.

Channel Islands.

23. Unless and until the Privy Council otherwise order, animals brought from the Channel Islands shall be subject to the foregoing provisions of Part IV.

Isle of Man.

24. Unless and until the Privy Council otherwise order, animals brought from the Isle of Man are allowed to be landed without being subject under the Fifth Schedule to the Act of 1878, or under this Order, to slaughter or to quarantine, or to the foregoing provisions of Part IV.

PART V.—GENERAL.

25. All foreign animals when landed at a port in Great Britain shall when landed be placed under the charge of an Inspector of the Privy Council.

26. All animals for the time being in a foreign animals wharf, or in a foreign animals quarantine station, or in a place of landing for foreign animals within Part IV shall be deemed foreign animals, and the regulations which apply to the wharf, or station, or place of landing shall apply to all those animals.

27. Where an Inspector of the Privy Council, or the person in charge of a foreign animals wharf, or of a foreign animals quarantine station, or of a place of landing for foreign animals within Part IV affixes at or near the entrance thereof a notice to the effect that persons entering that wharf, or station, or place will be required before leaving to disinfect themselves and their clothes, then, every person shall on being requested comply with the terms of that notice.

28. Notwithstanding anything in this Order, where a vessel comes into port having on board foreign animals maimed or injured on the voyage, the owner, consignee, or other person in charge thereof, or the master of the vessel, shall, if directed by an Inspector of the Privy Council, or may if he thinks fit, slaughter those animals or any of them immediately on their being landed; but the carcase of any such animal is not to be moved from the place of landing, or some lair or slaughter-house adjacent thereto approved by the Privy Council, without a certificate from the Inspector certifying that it is not likely to introduce disease.

29. Where any regulation relating to foreign animals is in operation, the Local Authority and all constables and police officers shall assist the Inspector of the Privy Council to carry the same into effect and to enforce the same, and shall do or cause to be done all things from time to time necessary for the effectual execution of the same.

30. If a vessel arriving has on board the carcase of a foreign animal, horse, ass, or mule which was taken on board for the purpose of importation, but has died on the voyage, the master of the vessel shall, immediately on arrival, report the fact to the Principal Officer of Customs at the port.

The carcase shall not be landed or discharged from the vessel without the permission in writing of the Principal Officer.

31. Where it appears to the Principal Officer of Customs with respect to any foreign animal, or any fodder, or other article, brought by sea, that disease may be thereby conveyed to animals, he may seize and detain the same, and he shall forthwith report the facts to the Commissioners of Customs, who may give such directions as they think fit, either for the slaughter or destruction or the further detention thereof or for the restoration thereof to the owner on such conditions, if any, (including payment by the owner of expenses incurred by them in respect of detention thereof,) as they think fit.

*Board of Trade, Whitehall Gardens,
December 6, 1878.*

THE Queen has been graciously pleased to confer the Albert Medal of the Second Class on—

Mr. WILLIAM BUYERS, late Second Mate of the ship "Harlaw," of Aberdeen.

The following is an account of the services in respect of which this decoration has been conferred:—

On 31st July, 1878, the "Harlaw," when on a voyage from Sydney to Shanghai, struck on the Tung Sha Bank, in latitude 31° 10' N., longitude 122° 15' E., and soon after became a total wreck. The boats were got ready, and WILLIAM BUYERS, Second Mate, was ordered by the Captain into the quarter boat, the dingy, which was to remain by the ship. The steward, four seamen, one of whom was Thomas Lawrie, A.B., and three apprentices, got into the boat, in addition to the Second Mate, making nine in all. Owing to the strong tide that was running and the heavy sea, the boat was obliged to be loosed from the ship. The boat was therefore kept near the ship, head to wind. One other boat was seen to leave the ship and run before the wind, and then the ship was shut out from the sight of those in the dingy by squalls of wind and rain.

When the ship was again seen from the dingy, the two other boats had left her, and she was swinging round; and before the dingy reached her, she fell over. A box of Indian corn flour was picked up, and the second mate swam on board the wreck, cut the jib sheet adrift, and brought it back to the boat.

The dingy was then run before the wind, and at sundown the Gutzlaff Lightship was sighted but they failed to reach it. In attempting to keep the boat's head to sea, and towards the light during the night she shipped two heavy seas and capsized. The crew in their efforts to clamber up on the bottom of the boat, caused her to turn round like a cask, and one by one the men and boys dropped off her. The Second Mate was seized by the Steward, but managed to extricate himself after being dragged down some depth. When he again reached the boat, he found Lawrie alone. Early in the morning Lawrie was washed off, when BUYERS at great risk to his life swam to his assistance, and with difficulty brought him back to the boat. They then managed to right the boat and got inside her. Lawrie was, however, washed out of the boat by a heavy sea, but BUYERS again saved his life and pulled him back into the boat by means of one of the boards at the bottom of the boat. Soon after, when close to the light, the two survivors were picked up by a junk, were kindly treated, and landed at Shanghai.
