Regulations for preventing the Importation of Contagious Diseases into the Netherland East Indies.

The Decree of the 21st of February, 1879, has made new provisions for the prevention of the importation of contagious diseases into the Netherland East Indies. In virtue of the 23rd Article of that Decree the following regulations have been drawn up with respect to the bill of health with which every vessel must be provided.

ART. 1. Vessels coming from a country beyond the Netherland Indian Archipelago shall on their arrival at a port of the Netherland East Indies, only be allowed to communicate with the shore if they have an authorisation from the commander of the guardship, or, if no such vessel is stationed there, from the harbour master.

ART. 2. Masters of vessels shall produce before the authorities mentioned in Art. 1, and before the physician referred to in Art. 5 of the Decree of the 21st of February, 1879, a bill of health granted or vised by the consular officer or his substitute in the port of departure.

If a vessel touches at a port during her voyage, the Netherland consular officer residing there or his substitute shall affix a visa on the bill of health which has been granted to the master at the port of departure, and at the same time state the sanitary condition of the first named port. That officer shall also mention whether the vessel has been allowed pratique or not.

Neither the consular officer nor his substitute nor any medical authority is allowed to keep back the bill in question or to grant another instead of it.

ART. 5. Every vessel shall have one bill of health and no more.
