Whereas by an Act of Parliament passed in the 6th year of the reign of King George the Fourth, intituled "An Act to enable the Mayor, Burgesses, and Commonalty of the city of Bristol to reduce, alter, modify, and regulate certain dues called 'Town Dues and Mayor's Dues,' and for the charging and collecting thereof," it was (amongst other things) enacted, that from and after the passing of the said Act, the tolls, duties, or sums of money therein mentioned, called the

And it was by the said Act further enacted, that it should and might be lawful for the said Mayor, Burgesses, and Commonalty in Council assembled from time to time, as and when they might see fit, to reduce, alter, modify, and regulate, and after such reduction, alteration, modification, or regulation again to raise and increase, and so from time to time to reduce, alter, modify, regulate, and raise the rate of the several tolls, duties, and sums of money set forth in the said schedule, or any or either of them, so that the rate of the said tolls, duties, or sums of money, or of any or either of them, should not be raised or increased beyond the rate thereof set forth in the said schedule.

Now, the Mayor, Aldermen, and Burgesses of the said city, acting by the Council of the said city in Council assembled, in pursuance of the power and authority vested in them by the said Act, and of all other powers and authorities vested in or enabling them in that behalf, do reduce the rate of the said tolls, duties, or sums of money on the goods specified in the schedule hereunder written, according to the rate specified in the said schedule.
