

will be graciously pleased to take the premises into your Royal consideration and to make such Order with respect thereto as to your Majesty, in your Royal wisdom, shall seem meet.

“The SCHEDULE to which the foregoing Representation has reference.

“The District Chapelry of Saint John the Baptist Penzance being :—

“All that part of the new parish of Saint Mary Penzance in the county of Cornwall and in the diocese of Truro which is bounded on the south-west by an imaginary line commencing upon the boundary which divides the parish of Madron in the said county and diocese from the new parish of Saint Mary Penzance aforesaid at a point in the middle of the road commonly known as the Madron-road which leads from the Penzance Cemetery, into Penzance the said point being a little to the north-east of the house called or known as Saint Clare, and extending thence eastward along the middle of the said road for a distance of six and a half chains or thereabouts to a point at or near to the gate at the southern end of the roadway leading to the house called or known as Trencere upon the boundary which divides the said new parish of Saint Mary Penzance from the new parish of Saint Paul Penzance in the county and diocese aforesaid and extending thence first northward then eastward and then generally southward along the last-mentioned boundary for a distance of fifty-one chains or thereabouts to the point in the town of Penzance where the same boundary diverges in a westerly direction from the middle of the street called or known as Causeway-head and extending thence that is from the same boundary south-eastward along the middle of the last-named street for a distance of five chains or thereabouts to its junction at the eastern end of the Green Market with the road or footway called or known in one part as the Market-place and which leads past the north-western side of the Market-house to Market Jew-street and extending thence that is, from the last-described point of junction north-eastward along the middle of the last-described road or footway for a distance of six chains or thereabouts thereby passing in one part along the north-western side of the Market-house as aforesaid and in another part passing along the north-western side of Market Jew-street aforesaid to a point opposite to the middle of the north-western end of Jennings-street and extending thence south-eastward across the said Market Jew-street to and along the middle of Jennings-street aforesaid for a distance of nine chains or thereabouts to the south-eastern end of the last-named street on the western side of the harbour and continuing thence still south-eastward and in a direct line to the eastern boundary of the said new parish of Saint Mary Penzance at the entrance to the said harbour all which hereinbefore described part of the new parish of Saint Mary Penzance aforesaid is bounded upon the remaining sides other than upon the south-west as aforesaid as follows that is to say upon the east by the sea and around the north by the parish of Madron aforesaid.”

And whereas the said representation has been approved by Her Majesty in Council: now, therefore, Her Majesty, by and with the advice of Her said Council, is pleased hereby to ratify the said representation, and to order and direct that the same and every part thereof shall be effectual in law immediately from and after the time when this Order shall have been duly published in the London Gazette pursuant to the said Acts; and

Her Majesty, by and with the like advice, is pleased hereby to direct that this Order be forthwith registered by the Registrar of the said diocese of Truro. C. L. Peel.

At the Court at Osborne House, Isle of Wight, the 6th day of February, 1882.

PRESENT,

The QUEEN'S Most Excellent Majesty in Council.

WHEREAS by an Act passed in the Session of Parliament held in the sixteenth and seventeenth years of Her Majesty's reign, intituled “An Act to amend the laws concerning the burial of the dead in England beyond the limits of the Metropolis, and to amend the Act concerning the burial of the dead in the Metropolis,” it is enacted that, in case it appears to Her Majesty in Council, upon the representation of one of Her Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, that, for the protection of the public health, the opening of any new burial-ground in any city or town, or within any other limits, save with the previous approval of one of such Secretaries of State, should be prohibited, or that burials in any city or town, or within any other limits, or in any burial-ground or places of burial, should be wholly discontinued, or should be discontinued subject to any exception or qualification, it shall be lawful for Her Majesty, by and with the advice of Her Privy Council, to order that no new burial-ground shall be opened in any city or town, or within such limits, without such previous approval, or (as the case may require) that, after a time mentioned in the Order, burials in such city or town, or within such limits, or in such burial-grounds or places of burial, shall be discontinued wholly, or subject to any exceptions or qualifications mentioned in such Order, and so from time to time as circumstances may require; provided always, that notice of such representation, and of the time when it shall please Her Majesty to order that the same be taken into consideration by the Privy Council, shall be published in the London Gazette, and shall be affixed on the doors of the churches or chapels of, or on some other conspicuous places within, the parishes affected by such representation, one month before such representation is so considered; provided also, that no such representation shall be made in relation to the burial-ground of any parish until ten days' previous notice of the intention to make such representation shall have been given to the Incumbent and Vestry Clerk or Churchwardens of such parish:

And whereas by another Act passed in the session of Parliament held in the eighteenth and nineteenth years of Her Majesty's reign, intituled “An Act further to amend the laws concerning the burial of the dead in England,” it is, amongst other things, enacted that it shall be lawful for Her Majesty, by and with the advice of Her Privy Council, from time to time to postpone the time appointed by any Order in Council for the discontinuance of burials, or otherwise to vary any Order in Council made under any of the Acts recited in the said Act, or under the said Act (whether the time thereby appointed for the discontinuance of burials thereunder, or other operation of such Order, shall or shall not have arrived), as to Her Majesty, with such advice as aforesaid, may seem fit:

And whereas the Right Honourable Sir William Vernon Harcourt, one of Her Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, after giving to the Incumbents and Churchwardens of the parishes hereinafter mentioned, ten days' previous notice of his in-