PRESENT,

The QUEEN'S Most Excellent Majesty in Council.

WHEREAS by an Act passed in the first session of the Parliament holden in the first and second years of the reign of Her present Majesty, intituled "An Act to abridge the holding of benefices in plurality, and to make better provision for the residence of the clergy," after reciting that "Whereas in some instances tithings, hamlets, chapelries, and other places or districts may be separated from the parishes or mother churches to which they belong, with great advantage, and places altogether extra-parochial may in some instances with advantage be annexed to parishes or districts to which they are contiguous, or be constituted separate parishes for ecclesiastical purposes," it is, amongst other things, enacted, "That when with respect to his own diocese it shall appear to the Archbishop of the Province, or when the Bishop of any diocese shall represent to the said Archbishop that any such tithing, hamlet, chapelry, place, or district within the diocese of such Archbishop, or the diocese of such Bishop, as the case may be, may be advantageously separated from any parish or mother church, and either be constituted a separate benefice by itself or be united to any other parish to which it may be more conveniently annexed, or to any other adjoining tithing, hamlet, chapelry, place, or district, parochial or extra-parochial, so as to form a separate parish or benefice, or that any extra-parochial place may with advantage be annexed to any parish to which it is contiguous, or be constituted a separate parish for ecclesiastical purposes; and the said Archbishop or Bishop shall draw up a scheme in writing (the scheme of such Bishop to be transmitted to the said Archbishop for his consideration) describing the mode in which it appears to him that the alteration may best be effected, and how the changes consequent on such alteration in respect to ecclesiastical jurisdiction, glebe lands, tithes, rent-charges, and other ecclesiastical dues, rates, and payments, and in respect to patronage and rights to pews, may be made with justice to all parties interested; and if the patron or patrons of the benefice or benefices to be affected by such alteration shall consent in writing under his or their hands to such scheme, or to such modification thereof as the said Archbishop may approve, and the said Archbishop shall, on full consideration and inquiry, be satisfied with any such scheme, or modification thereof, and shall certify the same and such consent as aforesaid by his report to Her Majesty in Council, it shall be lawful for Her Majesty in Council to make an Order for carrying such scheme, or modification thereof, as the case may be, into "effect; and such Order being registered in the registry of the diocese, which the Registrar is hereby required to do, shall be forthwith binding on all persons whatsoever, including the incumbent or incumbents of the benefice or benefices to be affected thereby, if he or they shall have consented thereto in writing under his or their hands but if such incumbent or incumbents shall not have so consented thereto the Order shall not come into operation until the next avoidance of the benefice by the incumbent objecting to the alteration or by the surviving incumbent objecting, if more than one shall object thereto; and in such case the Order shall forthwith, after such avoidance, become binding on all persons whatsoever."

And whereas Thomas Legh Lord Bishop of St. Albans hath made a representation in writing to His Grace the Lord Archbishop of Canterbury in the words and figures following, that is to say:—

"To the Right Honourable and Most Reverend Edward White Lord Archbishop of the Province of Canterbury.

"I Thomas Legh Bishop of St. Albans do in pursuance of the 26th section of an Act of Parliament of the 1st and 2nd years of the reign of Her present Majesty cap. 106 hereby represent to your Grace as follows:—

"1. There is in the county of Essex in my diocese of St. Albans the rectory of Laindon with the chapelry of Basildon the parish whereof contains according to the census of 1881 exclusively of the chapelry of Basildon a population of 332. The net annual value of the benefice of Laindon with Basildon arising from tithe rent-charge, glebe land and surplice fees is £500.

"2. There is in the same county and diocese the vicarage of Great Burstead the parish whereof lies adjoining to the parish of Laindon aforesaid and contains according to the census of 1881 exclusively of such portions of the said parish as now form part of the new parish of Billericay a population of 675. The net annual value of the benefice of Great Burstead arising from tithe rent-charge, glebe land and surplice fees is £170.

"3. The district chapelry of Billericay was in the year 1844 founded under the Church Building Acts out of a portion of the said parish of Great Burstead and has since become a new parish and contains according to the census of 1881 exclusively of the union workhouse a population of 1238. The net annual value of the benefice of Billericay arising from surplice fees Easter offerings, and augmentations from the Ecclesiastical Commissioners and Queen Anne's Bounty is £280.

"4. In the same county and diocese is the rectory of Little Burstead the parish whereof lies adjoining to the said parishes of Laindon and Great Burstead and contains according to the census of 1881 a population of 199. The net annual value of the benefice of Little Burstead arising from tithe rent-charge glebe land augmentation and surplice fees is £330.

"5. In the same county and diocese is a certain extra-parochial place known as Lee Chapel which lies adjoining to the parishes of Laindon and Little Burstead aforesaid and contains according to the census of 1881 a population of 5.

"6. A certain district or strip of territory of the said parish of Laindon containing a population of about 68 persons extends in a northerly direction into the parish of Great Burstead which is to a considerable extent intersected thereby. The northernmost extremity of the said strip of territory lies at a distance of three miles from the parish church of Laindon and lies also to the north of the parish church of Great Burstead which last-mentioned parish church lies at a distance of one mile from the middle portion of the said strip of territory.

"7. A certain district of the said parish of Great Burstead lies to the west of the district or strip of territory mentioned in the preceding paragraph and immediately adjoins the parish of Little Burstead and contains a population of about 112 persons. The parish church of Little Burstead is within the distance of half a mile from the middle portion of the said district of the parish of Great Burstead, which lies at the distance of one mile and a half from the parish church of Great Burstead.

"8. A certain other district of the parish of Great Burstead aforesaid contains a population of about 45 persons and lies to the west of the said new parish of Billericay and contiguous thereto and is at a distance of two miles and a half from the parish church of Great Burstead but is at a distance of one mile from the parish church of Billericay.

"9. A certain other district of the parish of Great Burstead contains a population of about 30 persons and lies to the east of the parish of Billericay and at a distance of $2\frac{1}{2}$ miles from the parish church of Great Burstead but at a distance of one mile from the parish church of Billericay.

"10. Two other districts of the said parish of Great Burstead containing a population of 40 persons lie immediately to the north of the said parish of Laindon on the eastern and western sides thereof and there is convenient access therefrom to the parish church of Laindon aforesaid but they are at a greater distance from the parish church of Great Burstead aforesaid.

"11. A certain district of the said parish of Little Burstead containing no population extends in a narrow strip to the west and south of the parish of Laindon and lies at an average distance of $2\frac{1}{2}$ miles by the nearest road from the parish church of Little Burstead but at a distance of one mile from the parish church of Laindon.

"12. A certain district of the said extra-parochial place known as Lee Chapel is at present uninhabited and lies immediately to the south of the parish church of Laindon and is bounded on all sides other than the south by the said parish of Laindon with Basildon.

"13. It appears to me that under the provisions of the said Act 1 and 2 Vic. c. 106 and of the Act of the 2nd and 3rd years of the same reign ch. 49 the following alterations in the contents of the above-mentioned parishes may advantageously be made.

(a.) The separation of the district referred to in the sixth preceding paragraph from the parish of Laindon and its annexation to the parish of Great Burstead.

(b.) The separation of the district referred to in the 7th preceding paragraph from the parish of Great Burstead and its annexation to the parish of Little Burstead.

It then turns in a westerly direction along the centre of this road over White's Bridge, continuing along the same road in a north-westerly direction until it reaches the River Crouch. At this point it leaves the road, and turning in a westerly and south-westerly direction continues along the course of same river, past the point where this river cuts the boundary between the parishes of Great Burstead and Laindon until it reaches the point where the same river meets this same boundary for the second time. It then runs in a south-westerly, northerly, and north-westerly direction along the boundary between the parishes of Great Burstead and Laindon, until it reaches the north-western corner of the Frith Wood where this abuts upon the Green-lane leading from Laindon Common to Tye Common, there it meets the boundary of the new parish of Billericay as it is proposed to amend the same and as it is hereafter described in Schedule 2, and turning more or less in a northerly, easterly, north-easterly, and north-westerly direction in succession, along the boundary of the new parish of Billericay, as it is proposed to amend the same, and as that boundary is hereafter described it finally reaches the south-western corner of Norsey Wood at the point where the boundary herein described commenced."

"The 2nd SCHEDULE above referred to.
"The Altered Boundaries of the New Parish of Billericay.

"The boundary to commence at the point where the high road from Billericay to London meets the parish of Mountnessing, and proceed in a north-easterly direction, described by the Order in Council forming the district chapelry of Billericay and published in the London Gazette of September 14th 1844 as far as the road leading from Billericay to Ramsden Heath. It then passes in a northerly direction along the boundary between the parishes of Great Burstead and Buttsbury, until it reaches the south-western point of Norsey Wood where this abuts upon the road leading from Billericay to Ramsden Heath. Here the boundary leaves the said road and turns in an easterly direction along the fence which separates Norsey Wood from an enclosure marked upon the ordnance map No. 163, continuing in a south-easterly and then in an easterly direction along the fence forming the boundary of the same wood, until it reaches a stream running at about right angles to this boundary and separating the two fields numbered upon the ordnance map 234 and 237 respectively. The boundary then proceeds along the course of this stream in a southerly direction until it reaches a footpath running from Jackson's-lane to Outwood Common here leaving the course of the stream it continues in a southeasterly direction along the fence separating the field numbered 213 in the ordnance map from those numbered 215 and 212 respectively, until reaching the easternmost corner of the field numbered 212 it turns in a south-westerly direction along the fence forming the south-eastern boundary of this same field until it reaches the eastern boundary of the field numbered 218. The boundary next passes along the fence forming the north-eastern and then the south-eastern boundary of the same field, continuing along the fence forming the south-eastern boundary of the field numbered 207 until it reaches the lane called Jackson's-lane, when it turns in a northerly direction along the centre of the same lane as far as a barn and cottage belonging to T. J. Spitty Esquire. Here it takes a sudden bend in a right angle towards the west, and again coincides with the boundary of the district chapelry of Billericay, as described in the Order in Council above-mentioned, until it enters the Green-lane leading from Tye Common to Laindon Common. Here the boundary turns towards the south, along the said Green-lane, until it reaches the point where the north-western corner of Frith Wood abuts upon the said lane when turning sharply towards the west it runs along the fence forming the boundary between the fields numbered upon the ordnance map 321A and 288. respectively, until it reaches the lane called Wiggins-lane, and crossing that lane to the north-east corner of the field numbered 68, meets the boundary between the parishes of Great Burstead and Little Burstead. From thence it runs in a westerly direction along the boundary between the parishes of Great Burstead and Little Burstead, to the point where those parishes meet the parish of Hutton, then it turns in a northerly direction along the boundary between the parishes of Great Burstead and Hutton, to the point where these parishes meet the parish of Mountnessing and finally in an easterly direction along the boundary between the parishes of Great Burstead and Mountnessing to the point where the high road from Billericay to London first meets the parish of Mountnessing, at the point where the boundary herein-described commenced.

"The boundary to commence at the western corner of Blunt's Wall Wood where the three parishes of Little Burstead Great Burstead and Hutton meet, then to proceed along the southern boundary of the new parish of Billericay, as it is proposed to amend the same, and as it has been already described, until it reaches the north-western corner of the Frith Wood where this abuts on the Green-lane leading from Tye Common to Laindon Common. It then proceeds in a southerly direction along the boundary between the parishes of Great Burstead and Laindon, until it reaches the River Crouch, when it turns in a south-westerly direction along the course of the said river until the point where this river meets the boundary between the parishes of Little Burstead and Great Burstead. Here it leaves the course of the River Crouch, and turns sharply towards the south, proceeding along the boundary between the parishes of Little Burstead and Great Burstead to the point where these parishes meet the parish of Laindon, and continues to run in a southerly direction along the boundary between the parishes of Little Burstead and Laindon until it reaches the south-eastern corner of a field numbered upon the ordnance map 265. It then turning westwards along the fence forming the southern boundary of this field, continues to run westward along the southern boundary of the field numbered 263, until it reaches the fence forming the eastern boundary of the field numbered 261. It here turns southwards for a short distance along the fence which forms the boundary between the fields numbered on the ordnance map 261 and 267 respectively until at the south-eastern corner of the field numbered 261, it meets the boundary between the parishes of Little Burstead and Dunton: it then turns generally in a north-westerly direction along the boundary between the parish of Little Burstead, and the parishes of Dunton, Ingrave and Hutton in succession, until it reaches the south-western corner of Blunt's Wall Wood, the point where the boundary herein described commenced.

"The boundary to commence at the cross road, at a place called Hardings Elms, at the point where the boundaries of the parishes of Laindon and Great Burstead and of the chapelry of Basildon meet together: it then runs in a southerly and south-westerly direction along the boundary between Laindon and Basildon until it reaches the point where they meet the parish of Fobbing, whence passing in a northerly and north-westerly direction along the boundary dividing the parishes of Laindon and Fobbing until it reaches the point where these parishes meet the extra-parochial district of Lee Chapel it continues to run northwards until it reaches the stream which forms the southern boundary of the fields numbered respectively 12, 14 and 15 in the ordnance map for Lee Chapel and thence along the centre of that stream in a westerly direction until it again reaches the parish boundary of Laindon thence in a southerly and westerly direction along that boundary until it reaches the point where Laindon and Lee Chapel meet the parish of Little Burstead. It then passes in a southerly and south-westerly direction along the boundary between Lee Chapel and Little Burstead until it reaches the point where they meet the parish of Laindon Hills. Hence it continues to run in an irregular but mainly in a north-westerly direction along the boundary between the parishes of Laindon Hills and Little Burstead, until it reaches the point where these parishes meet the parish of Dunton then northwards along the boundary between the parishes of Dunton and Little Burstead until it reaches the south-east corner of the field numbered in the ordnance map 261. From this point it continues in a northerly direction for a short distance along the fence which forms the boundary between the fields numbered on the ordnance map 261 to 267 respectively here it turns sharply to the eastward, along the fence forming the southern boundary of the field numbered 263 and continuing to run along the fence forming the southern boundary of the field numbered 265, reaches the south-east corner of the same field where it meets the boundary between the parishes of Laindon and Little Burstead. At this point it turns in a northerly direction along the boundary between the parishes of Laindon and Little Burstead until it reaches the point where these parishes meet the parish of Great Burstead, thence it passes northwards along the boundary between the parishes of Great Burstead and Little Burstead, until it reaches the River Crouch. It then turns in a north-easterly direction and continues to run along the course of this same river until it reaches the point where this river crosses the main-road leading from Billericay to Wickford. Here it leaves the course of the river, and turns in a south-easterly direction along the said road until it reaches the point where the road meets the boundary between the parishes of Great Burstead and Ramsden Crays. It thence turns in a south-ly direction along the boundary between the parishes of Great Burstead and Ramsden Crays, until it reaches the point where these meet the chapelry of Basildon, and continues to proceed in a southerly direction along the boundary between the parishes of Great Burstead and Basildon, until it reaches the cross-road at the place called Hardings Elms, at the point where Laindon, Basildon, and Great Burstead meet together, the point where the boundary herein described commenced.

Before Mr. Registrar Murray, acting as Chief Judge.

UPON reading a report of the Registrar-Trustee of the property of the bankrupt, dated the 12th day of June, 1883, reporting that it appears from the certificate rendered to the Comptroller in Bankruptcy by the late Trustee that it had not been possible to realize any of the assets which are for the most part fictitious, and that since the vesting of the estate in him it had not been brought to his knowledge that the bankrupt had acquired any further property that could be realized, and that in his opinion it is expedient that the bankruptcy should be closed, and upon hearing Mr. Aldridge, Official Solicitor on behalf of the Registrar-Trustee, and no one appearing to oppose, the Court being satisfied that it has not been possible for the late Trustee to realize any of the assets, which are for the most part fictitious, and that since the estate vested in the Registrar-Trustee there is no further property to realize, doth order and declare that the bankruptcy of the said Edward Cremen Javal has closed.—Given under the Seal of the Court this 7th day of November, 1883.
