

all their Ammunition which was lodged in the Town; so soon as my Men have refreshed themselves I will have another bout with them for the Fort, which I believe they will quit of themselves, for they have no Provisions or Cover for their Men now the Town is destroyed. We have lost about 20 Men; my Major Träherne, and Captain Armstrong, and Captain Mayo, with Captain La Mougere, a French Reform'd Officer, were killed, and Captain Blood an Ingenier shot in the side; Of the Enemy 300 were killed; and four Captains, five Lieutenants, two Ensigns, and a Quartermaster, with about 200 Men taken Prisoners. Our Men shewed in this (as in former Occasions) a very great forwardness to engage the Enemy notwithstanding the inequality of their number, and gave new proofs of their Courage and Bravery, and particularly Major General Kirke's Men. The eight French Officers your Grace sent hither likewise behaved themselves very well.

This day came in an other Express from Colonel Walseley with the following account, written at Belurbar the 14th of this Month.

Since I writ my last a Gentleman is come hither from the County of Wismearth, who tells me he saw after the Fight at Cavan great numbers of Soldiers all without Arms, having thrown them away in their Flight; so that the Road and Ditches were filled with them; That he saw likewise a great many wounded Men, among whom were several Officers; That Brigadier Nugent was mortally wounded; and that the Irish won the Loss of 300 Men and of 14 Commission Officers killed upon the place; He says there is a great quantity of Hay laid up at Enaght, and that all the Horses in the County were pressed to carry the same to Cavan, but that the noise of this Defeat had put a stop to it. We have taken from the Enemy 4000 pound in Brass Money.

Just now Sir John Lanier sends us word, that he marched last Friday night from Newry towards Dundalk, that passing by Bedloe Castle, in which there was an garrison with 34 Men, Colonel Lewisons Dragoons immediately Stormed it, killed 10 of the Rebels, and took the rest Prisoners, and burnt the Castle in which there was a great deal of Provisions; Then they advanced to the back of the Town of Dundalk, Brigadier Steward marching at the same time with the Foot to the other side of the Town, and burnt about 20 Houles; the Garrison keeping close within their Intrenchment; After which they returned to Newry with a Booty of 1000 Cowes and 200 Garones, having had a French Lieutenant killed and four or five Dragoons wounded.

Plimouth, Febr. 25. This day arrived here their Majesties Ship the Portland with several outward bound Merchant Men from Falmouth; which soon after failed again with those that lay here, to join the Fleet under the Command of Admiral Russel in Torbay. Admiral Brakel failed from hence this Afternoon with several small Ships under his Convoy for Holland.

Portsmouth, Febr. 27. The Ships bound for the West-Indies, which failed on Tuesday last, the Wind coming contrary, were this morning forced back again.
