

said parish of Penderyn which are described in the schedule hereunder written, all which portions together with the boundaries thereof are delineated and set forth on the map or plan hereunto annexed, should be united and formed into one consolidated chapelry for the said church of Saint Lleurwg situate at Hirwain as aforesaid and that the same should be named 'The Consolidated Chapelry of Saint Lleurwg Hirwain,' and that such consolidated chapelry should become and be and form part of the said diocese of Llandaff and should be included within and form part of the rural deanery known as Llandaff Upper Rural Deanery (Northern Division) and of the Arch-deaconry of Llandaff within the said lastly-named diocese.

"We therefore humbly pray that Your Majesty will be graciously pleased to take the premises into Your Royal consideration and to make such Order in respect thereto as to Your Majesty in Your Royal wisdom shall seem meet.

"The SCHEDULE to which the foregoing Representation has reference.

"The Consolidated Chapelry of Saint Lleurwg Hirwain, being:—

"All that portion of the parish of Aberdare in the county of Glamorgan and in the diocese of Llandaff, wherein the present incumbent of such parish still possesses the exclusive cure of souls and also all that contiguous portion of the parish of Penderyn in the county of Brecon and in the diocese of Saint Davids which said portions of such parishes are comprised within and are bounded by an imaginary line commencing upon the western boundary of the new parish of Saint Fagan Aberdare in the county of Glamorgan and diocese of Llandaff aforesaid which boundary divides the said new parish from the parish of Aberdare aforesaid at the point where the said western boundary crosses the north-eastern side of the line of the Aman Branch of the Great Western Railway at which point the road leading from Gamlyn into the high road from Aberdare to Neath strikes the said north-eastern side of the said line of railway and extending thence south-westward and in a direct line for a distance of twenty-three and a half chains or thereabouts to the milestone situate upon the south-western side of the said high road leading from Aberdare to Neath and indicating a distance of two miles from Aberdare and of seventeen and a half miles from Neath and continuing thence still south-westward and in a direct line for a distance of two miles and four chains or thereabouts (thereby passing a little to the south of the buildings called or known respectively as New Drift and as Graig Colliery and Brick Works) to the pile of stones situate at the point called or known as Bwlch-y-Lladron upon the boundary which divides the said parish of Aberdare from the parish or parochial chapelry of Ystradyfodwg in the said county of Glamorgan and in the diocese of Llandaff aforesaid and extending thence northward along the last-mentioned boundary for a distance of one mile and three-quarters or thereabouts thereby descending the northern slope of the hill called or known as Cynddau and following the course of the stream called or known as Nant-y-bwlch to the point where the same stream joins the River Cynon and where the said last-mentioned boundary joins the county and diocesan boundary which divides the said parish or parochial chapelry of Ystradyfodwg from the parish of Penderyn aforesaid and extending thence first north-westward and then northward along the last-described boundary for a distance of one quarter of a mile or thereabouts thereby following the course of the River Cynon aforesaid to the centre of the bridge which carries the line of the Vale of Neath section of the said Great Western Railway over the same river and extending thence eastward along the middle of the said line of railway for a distance of one mile and a half or thereabouts to a point at the centre of the bridge which carries the same line of railway over the stream called or known as Nanthir upon the county and diocesan boundary which divides the said parish of Penderyn from the parish of Aberdare aforesaid and extending thence first southward then eastward and then again southward along the last-mentioned boundary for a distance of twenty-five chains or thereabouts thereby following the course of the last-named stream to its junction with the River Cynon aforesaid and extending thence first eastward and then south-eastward along the middle of the said river for a distance of half a mile or thereabouts to the said western boundary of the new parish of Saint Fagan Aberdare aforesaid which boundary divides the said new parish from the parish of Aberdare aforesaid and extending thence south-westward along the last-mentioned boundary for a distance of fifteen chains or thereabouts to the first-described point where the same boundary crosses the north-eastern side of the Aman Branch of the Great Western Railway aforesaid at which point the said imaginary line commenced."

And whereas the said representation has been approved by Her Majesty in Council; now, therefore, Her Majesty, by and with the advice of Her said Council, is pleased hereby to ratify the said representation, and to order and direct that the same and every part thereof shall be effectual in law immediately from and after the time when this Order shall have been duly published in the London Gazette pursuant to the said Acts; and Her Majesty, by and with the like advice, is pleased hereby to direct that this Order be forthwith registered by the Registrar of the said diocese of Llandaff and by the Registrar of the said diocese of Saint Davids respectively.
