

cure of souls which said portions of such parishes are comprised within and are bounded by an imaginary line commencing upon the boundary which divides the said parish of Gwersyllt from the parish of Wrexham aforesaid at a point in the middle of the main road leading from Mold to Wrexham opposite to the milestone situate upon the south-western side of the said road and indicating a distance of ten miles from Mold and of one mile from Wrexham and extending thence that is from the said boundary south-eastward along the middle of the said main road for a distance of forty-four and a half chains or thereabouts to the centre of the bridge at the Wrexham Railway Station which bridge carries the same main road over the line of the Great Western Railway and extending thence north-eastward and in a direct line for a distance of twenty-one chains or thereabouts to the point where Rhosddu-road is joined by Lorne-street and extending thence south-eastward along the middle of the said Rhosddu-road for a distance of five chains or thereabouts to its junction with Grove-road and extending thence north-eastward along the middle of the last-named road for a distance of sixteen and a half chains or thereabouts to its junction with Chester-road and extending thence northward along the middle of the last-named road for a distance of fourteen and a half chains or thereabouts to its junction with the road which leads along the southern side of Acton Park to Rhosnesney, and extending thence first eastward then north-eastward and then again eastward along the middle of the last-described road for a distance of fifty-six chains or thereabouts to its junction with the road leading from the Rhosnesney National Schools past the site of the old Pwll-yr-wydd Turnpike Gate towards Wrexham and extending thence first south-westward then westward and then again south-westward along the middle of the last-described road for a distance of thirty-six and a-half chains or thereabouts to its junction at the site of the old Pwll-yr-wydd Turnpike Gate aforesaid with the high road leading from Wrexham aforesaid to Holt, and extending thence north-eastward along the middle of the last-mentioned road for a distance of forty-four chains or thereabouts to its junction with the road leading from Rhosnesney aforesaid, past the houses called or known respectively as Bryn-Estyn and as Clays, to Spring Grove, and extending thence eastward along the middle of the last-described road for a distance of ten and a-half chains or thereabouts to the boundary which divides the township of Erlas from the township of Bieston both which townships are now for ecclesiastical purposes within the parish of Wrexham aforesaid and extending thence first eastward and then south-eastward along the said township boundary for a distance of one mile and sixty-eight chains or thereabouts (thereby at first continuing to follow the course of the said last-described road and then passing to the south of the house called or known as Bryn Estyn aforesaid) to the point where the same township boundary joins the boundary which divides the said parish of Wrexham from the parochial chapelry of Holt in the county and diocese aforesaid and extending thence generally northward along the last-mentioned boundary for a distance of one mile and thirty-five chains or thereabouts to its junction at the south-western angle of Borras Wood, with the boundary which divides the said parish of Gresford from the parochial chapelry of Holt aforesaid and continuing thence still northward along the last-mentioned boundary for a distance of forty-four chains or thereabouts

to its junction with the boundary which divides the township of Borras Riffre from the township of Borras Hovah which townships are now for ecclesiastical purposes within the parish of Gresford aforesaid and extending thence generally westward along the last-mentioned township boundary for a distance of two and a half miles or thereabouts to its junction with the boundary which divides the said parish of Gresford from the parish of Wrexham aforesaid and extending thence first northward and then generally westward along the last-mentioned boundary for a distance of one mile and nineteen chains or thereabouts to its junction at the Chester-road aforesaid with the boundary which divides the said parish of Gresford from the parish of Gwersyllt aforesaid and extending thence first alternately northward and westward and then alternately southward and westward along the last-mentioned boundary for a distance of one mile and twenty-five chains or thereabouts (thereby following in part the course of the said Chester-road and crossing the line of the Great Western Railway aforesaid and finally following the course of the River Alyn) to the point where the same river is joined by the mill stream or tail flowing from Gwersyllt Corn Mill and extending thence south-west and in a direct line for a distance of ten chains or thereabouts to the point where the road leading from Llan Llyn to Plas Acton is joined by the road leading to Rhos Robin and extending thence southward along the middle of the last-described road for a distance of twenty-three and a half chains or thereabouts to the centre of the bridge which carries the same road over the line of the Wheat Sheaf and Ffrwd Branch of the said Great Western Railway and extending thence south-westward and in a direct line for a distance of fifty chains or thereabouts (thereby crossing the line of the Wrexham Mold and Connahs Quay Railway) to the point where the main road leading from Mold to Wrexham as aforesaid is joined by the road which leads past the northern side of the house called or known as Stansty Farm and along the northern side of the park attached to Stansty Hall, to Pool Mouth and Pentre Isaf and continuing thence first south-westward and then generally westward along the middle of the last-described road for a distance of forty-seven and a half chains or thereabouts to a point near Pool Mouth aforesaid upon the boundary which divides the said parish of Gwersyllt from the parish of Wrexham aforesaid and extending thence first south-eastward and then generally north-eastward along the last-mentioned boundary for a distance of one mile and sixteen chains or thereabouts to the first-described point in the middle of the main road leading from Mold to Wrexham as aforesaid opposite to the milestone indicating a distance of ten miles from Mold and of one mile from Wrexham as aforesaid at which point the said imaginary line commenced."

And whereas the said representation has been approved by Her Majesty in Council; now, therefore, Her Majesty, by and with the advice of Her said Council, is pleased hereby to ratify the said representation, and to order and direct that the same and every part thereof shall be effectual in law immediately from and after the time when this Order shall have been duly published in the London Gazette pursuant to the said Acts; and Her Majesty, by and with the like advice, is pleased hereby to direct that this Order be forthwith registered by the Registrar of the said diocese of Saint Asaph

C. L. Peel.